Mrs. Funk of National Liberty Loan Drive In Omaha Wednesday

Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Washington, D. C., will arrive next Wednesday to be the special speaker at the big rally to be held on that day by the woman's division of the third Liberty loan campaign in the Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Funk is second in command to Mrs. William McAdoo in the national woman's Liberty loan workers. She is a prominent suffragist, lawyer and politician. The passing of the suffrage amendment in the Illinois legislature is credited to Mrs. Funk.

This will be Mrs. Funk's second visit to Omaha. She was here in the last suffrage campaign, speaking from the court house steps.

The Nebraska Telephone company, through the First Presbyterian church, bought a $50,000 bond. The total up to noon today for this church was $72,900.

St. Cecilia's Catholic church turned in $60,000, and St. Peter's church purchased $15,000. All Saints' Episcopal church members subscribed $40,000.

Mrs. Charles Offutt is chairman and Mrs. O. T. Eastman treasurer of the church committee.

One of the very most pleased subscribers of Wednesday was Rev. Pacificus Kohonen, pastor of St. Joseph's church. He allowed Mrs. Louis Nash, who sold him his $50 bond, to fasten the button on his Franciscan habit.

Army Man Buys Bond. Workers in the Hotel Pontenelle booth nearly had heart failure when Major Walter Stern of the quartermaster's department very calmly signed his name for a $10,000 bond.

Miss Marie Hermanek is the proud possessor of a $50 bond which she bought because she saved her pennies since she was 5 years old. That was nine years ago. She had accumulated $35, and her father, C. L. Hermanek, has promised to make up the deficit if Marie will work in his grocery store this summer. Mrs. Hermanek is chairman of St. Wenceslas Bohemian Catholic church.

Mrs. Effie Steen Kittleson addressed the Carter Lake Red Cross auxiliary at the meeting in the Scottish Rite cathedral today for the Liberty loan drive. Miss May Mahoney and Mrs. J. M. Mullin addressed the war relief, public shop and Red Cross headquarters in the Masonic temple.

At Liberty Bank. Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm brought in the banner subscription to the Liberty bank Wednesday. It was a $100,000 bond, purchased by the Metropolitan Water board. Mrs. Wilhelm is a member of the board of directors of the National League for Woman's Service, which is operating the bank.

The Liberty bank has to its credit a $50,000 subscription this morning, brought in by Mrs. L. M. Lord, who solicited it from Morris & Co., packing plant. This is one of the first bonds taken by the packers which has come through Omaha, the majority have been credited to the Chicago division.

Big Conservation Meeting. Park school district's conservation meeting Wednesday in the Hanscom Park Methodist Episcopal church was the largest one held in this city. Miss Nellie Farnsworth, federal food agent, reports. More than 250 women attended.

Miss Maud Wilson of Lincoln, emergency home demonstration leader for the state, spoke on "Dietetic Value of Vegetables." Superintendent Beveridge on "Gardening," and Miss Farnsworth, "Conservation." Boy Scouts acted as ushers and an organ recital preceded the meeting. Each member of the graduating class from Park school gave a one-minute conservation talk.

Mrs. Lysie Abbott, district chairman, and Miss Clara Mason, principal of Park school, arranged the meeting. More than 125 houses have been called upon by conservation workers in this district.

Woman's Club Pushes Tanks. Mrs. John R. Hughes, state organizer of the P. E. O. sisterhood, was the speaker at the moving of the big Liberty loan tank on its westward "rush" up Farnam street at noon Thursday, under the auspices of the Omaha Woman's club. M. O. Cunningham and H. L. Mossman, two of the four-minute men, also spoke. Buglers from Fort Omaha sounded the call and members of the board of directors took part in the "pushing" ceremony.

Baby Registration. Babies of Walnut Hill district will be registered Friday morning and those of Clifton Hill Friday afternoon in connection with the baby welfare work sponsored by the Council of Defense. Saturday morning Mrs. C. W. Pollard, who has charge of the local registration, and her staff of school nurses will work in Cass school and in the afternoon at Bancroft.

Saunders and Columbian school district babies were registered today.

Catholic Women Buy Bonds. The women's Catholic Order of Foresters of Omaha and Council Bluffs will hold a joint installation of officers of eleven courts Friday evening in Labor temple, Sixteenth street and Capitol avenue.

Mrs. Rose D. Rittman of Chicago, high chief ranger of the order, will be the installing officer.

The order has been most patriotic in war activities, investing a large amount of the reserve fund in war bonds.

Mother of "$1,000 Liberty Loan Club"

Mrs. Geo. W. Smith

Mrs. George W. Smith is "mother" of the "$1,000 Liberty Loan club," one of the brightest publicity stunts of the Liberty loan campaign women's committee. Mrs. Smith, who is an active worker in the National League for Woman's Service, reported her idea to the bond committee, which accepted it immediately.

Mrs. Smith purchased the first three memberships, one for herself and one for each of her daughters, Sydney Marguerite and Ruth Aline. Mrs. Smith and her daughters are all active in war service. Mrs. Smith gives every Thursday to mending for the Fort Crook soldiers and one of her daughters is instructor in Red Cross auxiliaries in Benson and in the Masonic temple quarters. Miss Sydney gives six days' service each week to the Red Cross service.

Besides the 29 members of the "$1,000 club" reported at its inception, these additional $1,000 memberships are announced today by the women's committee: Mesdames L. M. Lord, J. Sullivan, Joseph M. Metcalf, David Sherman, Charles Levinson, T. R. Kimball, E. S. Westbrook, Ben Baker, David Cole, M. R. Murphy, M. L. Cameron, Charles R. Sherman, Charles F. Weller, Clyde A. Roeder, R. Kulakofsky, Harry A. Wolf, A. B. Alpin, Sarah Zimman, Ernest Meyer, Jennie Bier, H. F. Hamilton.

Mrs. Hamilton bought her $1,000 bond through the Westminster Presbyterian church and expects to divide the amount between her four nephews.

District Clubs Meet in Oakland

The third district convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs opened Tuesday evening in Oakland. Mrs. A. E. Sheldon, state president, gave the main address on "Things That Are Good Enough to Be True," mentioning some of the compensations that have already come to offset the enormous toll of lives and property in the war. She emphasized the need for keeping up the club work in order that community life may be kept strong in these depressing times.

Mrs. Edgar B. Penny of Fullerton, president, Mrs. W. E. Minier gave the address of welcome on behalf of the Oakland club and C. G. Carlton on behalf of the city. Mrs. George B. Christoph of Norfolk responded. Mrs. J. E. Wallace led the singing and the local orchestra furnished music. Prof. Sarka Hrbkova of the state university spoke Wednesday evening, following a concert by the 355th United States infantry band.

Art Study Abandoned For War Gardening

Mrs. L. E. Easterly was elected leader of the art department of the Omaha Woman's club at the meeting Wednesday in the Metropolitan club. Mrs. W. A. George is the retiring leader. Other officers are: Mrs. William Maloney, first assistant; Mrs. J. J. Millick, second assistant; Mrs. Avery Lancaster, secretary and treasurer.

The time of the meeting next year will be 10:30 a. m. Thursday mornings instead of an Wednesday mornings.

Mrs. Halleck Rose, state chairman of art, Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs, addressed the meeting. Her suggestion of sponsoring home furnishing and war gardening in the public schools instead of the study of art was adopted for the club's future program.

Registered at the Hotel McAlpin from Omaha during the past week were Mr. D. J. Hall and Mr. W. L. Carey.

Scoutmaster Does Movie Stunt to Mend Broken Bell Rope

"Ring out wild bells"—no, we can't be poetical in this case, for it was only one bell, and sad to relate, it was rung so hard that the rope broke! The ill-fated bell was none other than the one which peals forth from the Liberty bank when another patriotic citizen registers a protest against Prussian supremacy in the shape of a bond.

It took the combined efforts of a 27-months-old son of Liberty and a husky minion of the law to break the rope Tuesday. You see, the youngster's father had just bought a bond for him and the little fellow was so delighted that he was to have a share in winning the war that the policeman hoisted him up, he grasped the rope in his tiny hands and before you could wink—the rope cracked.

Mrs. William Archibald Smith came to the top of the marble steps and cried: "A boy, a boy, my kingdom for a boy." And who should respond but Scoutmaster English. The next problem that confronted the bankers was just how to get on the roof of the edifice.

A ladder was placed against the back of the bank and up, up, up climbed Mr. English. It was a perilous moment, the papiermache roof was not built for any Douglas Fairbanks stunts, and so inch by inch Mr. English worked his way to the broken bell.

Hal! He arrived, and in a moment the bell was back in its normal position and ready to peal forth merrily for the next bondholder.

Byrne-Carr Nuptials.

Goodly! Good luck! The last flutter of white satin has disappeared, the last goodby has been said, and Lieutenant and Mrs. Walter S. Byrne, nee Miss Betty Carr, are on their way east. But we must tell you about the wedding. The pink roses are dropping their petals and the candles have burned low, for the pretty bride has gone, yet a few hours ago they poked their bright faces everywhere through the leaves of innumerable ferns and palms and the candles shed a soft light over the bright frocks of the young girls.

Miss Mabel Allen sang "Oh, Joy Divine," and then under Miss Grace Slabaugh's skillful fingers the strains of Lohengrin's familiar "here comes the bride" sounded through the rooms. Down the broad stair came Miss Ruth Fitzgerald, all in pink, her dress a lovely rose shade and in her bouquet the pink and lavender of variegated sweet peas.

The bride was in white satin, of course, and very lovely she was in her girlish frock, made with a broad panel front and back. A short tulle veil fell to the bottom of her skirt and in her hands a real April "shower" of white sweet peas and orchids.

Rev. Edwin Harte Jenks read the marriage lines.

Mr. Harry S. Byrne attended his brother as best man and after the wedding a very informal reception was held just for the intimate friends.

After a glimpse of Chicago, Baltimore and Washington, the young couple will go to Troy, N. Y., where Lieutenant Byrne is in the service of the government in the electrical construction department of the Water-viet arsenal.

Launch House-to-House Canvass for Liberty Loan

Here is Mrs. M. D. Cameron, chairman of the house-to-house canvass committee for the Liberty loan drive women's committee, staying out on her big task this morning. Ward and precinct chairmen and a host of assisting women have undertaken this patriotic work of calling at every door in the residence district to reach the stay-at-home women whom the activities of the Liberty loan committees might otherwise not reach.

The women workers will report to Mrs. Cameron in the offices of the Peters Trust company every afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The first act of Mrs. Cameron was to make out a $1,000 subscription card for herself making her a member of the $1,000 club.

Miss Hempel Sings at Charity Ball. Miss Frieda Hempel has consented to sing Thursday at the charity ball for Father Flanagan's boys' home in the municipal auditorium, following her concert for the Tuesday Musical club at the Boyd theater.

The Tuesday Musical club granted permission for Miss Hempel to divide her evening's songs with their membership and those attending the charity ball.

Boy Scout Tableau. Boy Scouts of Omaha will stage a striking tableau in connection with the Liberty bond campaign Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock by the tank on West Farnam, registering the state returns.

Five hundred Scouts will take part in the "pulling" ceremony. This promises to be one of the most spectacular features of the campaign in Omaha.
