

TO DISTRIBUTE CARLOAD GRAPE VINES IN OMAHA

Fruit Growers to Take Majority of Output; Remainder to Be Distributed at Auditorium.

A carload of grape vines ordered last month by Robert Trimble, chairman of the fruit marketing committee of the Chamber of Commerce, has arrived in Omaha and is ready for distribution to growers. This is an effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce to get people to restore their vineyards, which were practically wiped out by the freeze of winter before last.

The Chamber of Commerce believes that by the distribution of over 200,000 grape vines the grape-growing industry will be placed on a better footing than ever before.

The Fruit Growers' association, through its membership, will take about three-fourths of the car, and the remaining 50,000 or 60,000 will be distributed at the Auditorium Saturday, April 13, from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. All who have placed advance orders for vines should call at the Auditorium early to be sure they get their vines. Postal card notices are being sent out by the Chamber of Commerce. Vines on hand and not ordered will be sold to "first come first served."

Two classes of vines were originally ordered, Concord and Moores Early, but the Moores Early supply was cut short, so practically all the vines to be sold Saturday will be Concord.

Firemen Make Run Through Streets to Boost Bond Drive

Firemen stationed in the downtown district rushed up to the Nebraska Clothing company store at noon Thursday and after running ladders to the third floor, hoisted signs reading "Buy a Bond Today," "Fight or Finance" and similar Liberty loan campaign slogans.

A. V. Shottwell and Joe Votava, four-minute speakers, addressed the crowd from the top of big fire trucks on Fifteenth and Farnam streets. From the windows of the third floor signs were lowered boosting the campaign, and firemen on the ladders carried other signs.

The idea was conceived by William M. Holzman of the Nebraska Clothing company, who is an active worker among bond salesmen.

A realistic touch was added to the affair by the actions of the firemen, who raced into the building with their hose lines. People rushed to the scene from neighboring streets and traffic was suspended for a short time while the speakers delivered their messages.

Fifty-Fifty Wheat and Substitutes is New Plea

Before the war average consumption of wheat substitutes was one pound to three of flour. Now the food administration asks that pound for pound be used. There is not much difference between three to one and fifty-fifty, they say. Following are the only wheat substitutes recognized by the food administration: Hominy corn grits, corn meal, corn flour, edible corn starch, barley flour, rolled oats, oatmeal, rice, rice flour, buckwheat flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour, soya bean flour and feterita flour and meals.

Whole wheat and graham flour may be sold or used with 60 per cent of substitutes.

Council Defers Action on Naming of Detective Head

A resolution offered by Chief Demsey of the police department, recommending Sergeant Frank Murphy as head of the detective department, has been deferred by city council for consideration.

The chief proposed to promote Murphy to a captaincy, which is the usual rank of the officer in charge of detectives.

Detective Sergeant Dunn has been acting captain of detective department. "I believe that we should consider length of service and ability of various members of the department before we act on this," suggested Commissioner Butler. Superintendent Kugel has not been in favor of Murphy for the vacancy, but further opposition is not expected.
