

GERMANS GO DOWN IN HEAPS BEFORE FIRE OF BRITISHERS

"You Could Have Shot Them With Your Eyes Shut," Declares Wounded Tommy; "Murderous," Says Scotch Highlander of Terrific Teuton Losses in Picardy.

London, April 12.—"You could have shot them down with your eyes shut," said a wounded machine gunner in describing how the Germans attacked on the western front, according to the correspondent there of the Daily Mail.

"We fired straight into them and they went down in heaps, yet we could not stop them. It was one down and another come on."

TERRIBLE GERMAN LOSSES.

The correspondent quotes other remarks from wounded soldiers which are indicative of the unconquerable spirit of the British defenders and which bear further testimony to the terrible toll the Germans are paying for every foot they advance. The correspondent says wounded soldiers agreed that the Germans outnumbered the defenders at least two to one.

"Aye, we're never far away," a wounded Highlander replied to the remark of the correspondent that the Highlanders seemed to get into all the battles. He proceeded to tell how his regiment was on a canal bank when the Germans tried to cross.

"They advanced on both banks," he said, "coming up on either side in the attempt to get across. We were told to hold our fire and wait until they were well in view. Then, when there were hundreds before us, we let fly. A man, it was murderous."

A Yorkshire man, who was standing nearby broke in:

"That may be, but that was no better than when we saw them along the side of a hedge. They didn't expect us to be so near. We pumped bullets into them with Lewis guns until our bodies ached."

As an illustration of the coolness and confidence of the British troops, the Daily Mail correspondent says some Highlanders told him how they found a quantity of food in trenches which some other troops had been forced to evacuate before heavy German attacks. The Highlanders said the first thing they did was to sit down and eat the food.

Have Fine Feed.

"We fried their eggs and frizzled the bacon. Never miss a chance is our motto. We had a fine feed." In the garden of an improvised hospital where the daffodils toss their golden heads in a light breeze, several men sat on a bench. They did not see the daffodils; they saw nothing. They sat hunched up as they slowly recovered power to breathe freely. They were poisoned gas cases. The correspondent adds:

"Happily, they were not likely to be much worse, the doctor thought. But they were bad enough and it made us feel that for chemists who invented such means of warcraft and generals who were devilish enough to introduce it and for the nation which applauded its employment, no punishment could be too cruel, no torture too refined."

Wireless Machine Makes Nice New $1 Bills--Almost

Through seizure of a wireless outfit, which it is alleged confidence men represented to wealthy "victims" as a money-manufacturing device, and the arrest of two men, giving their names as Robert Lamar and Peter Lukag, Omaha detectives declare they have uncovered a new confidence game for obtaining money under false pretenses.

The object of the "con" men is to sell the machine, which is valued at only $100, for a much larger sum, police charge. Several of the outfits have been sold for $2,000, detectives say.

The men were arrested Thursday night, when Detectives Jolly and Holden raided their rooms at the Paxton hotel and found the outfit.

The alleged confidence men were awaiting the arrival of a prospective victim, according to detectives.

Police say they have information that the two men operated with success in New York, Denver, Kansas

City and Chicago. The wireless set contains a steel plate, slightly larger than a bank note, and upon which is laid a blank sheet of silken paper, in full view of the prospective customer's eyes. Upon the back of the plate, police say, a brand new bank note is previously placed. As a demonstration of the machine, electric current is applied, which causes a red bulb to light with the working of the mechanism of the device.

A continuous sparking sound is created which causes the "victim" to believe that "something scientifically is being done." Suddenly, the steel plate is turned so quickly that it completely deceives the eye, and the new bank note appears in place of the blank sheet, officers declare.

Subsequently the customer believes in the secret operation of the alleged counterfeiting device, and bids a high price for it.

In addition to the wireless set, detectives found a grip containing a small kit, holding vials of various chemicals and inks, which the alleged confidence men are said to have told their buyers were used on the blank sheet to give it the "crisp touch." Lamar gave his occupation as an ink manufacturer.

Detectives have letters from the chief of police at Denver, stating that Lukag and Lamar defaulted bail bonds of $1,500 each for their appearance in district court there on swindling charges. C. B. Conroy of Kansas City is said to have purchased one of the machines for $2,000. Letters found in Lamar's pocket showed that he had been in Kansas City recently.

Information was received that the same two men are wanted in Alliance, Neb., on a charge of swindling a farmer out of $3,000 recently on a horse race plot in Council Bluffs.

Police took Bertillon measurements of the two men. They are booked for investigation, and action will be started against them immediately by authorities of cities where in they are alleged to have operated.

Automobile Men Subscribe $25,000 to Loan in One Day

Briti' Bomb Germans.

London, April 12.—British aviators Thursday dropped more than a ton of bombs on the railway station at Luxemburg.

In reporting on aviation activities on the battle front Wednesday the official statement on aerial operations says that eight enemy airplanes were accounted for and that seven British machines are missing.
