

BALL AND CHAIN USED ON GIRLS AT GENEVA SCHOOL

Testimony in McMahon Hearing at Lincoln Shows How Discipline Was Enforced Among Inmates.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, April 18.—(Special.)—Gambling on the green and wrestling under the spreading branches of the old elm on the grassy lawn, indulged in by a man and woman, would be considered immoral in Omaha, according to the evidence of William Short of Omaha, former employe of the Girls' Industrial school at Geneva, although he saw nothing immoral take place when he witnessed a like act at Geneva between Prof. Fagan, the much discussed band master of the school, and one of the women employes.

This admission on the part of Mr. Short caused much amusement to the large crowd present during the continuance of the hearing before the Board of Control today, covering alleged mismanagement of the institution by Miss McMahon, former superintendent.

Nothing new developed today in sensational lines, indicated by testimony of Mrs. Saues yesterday regarding the man responsible for her condition before marriage.

Objections to introduction of testimony by witnesses for the board made by Mr. Burke, counsel for Miss McMahon, were with one or two exceptions overruled by Mr. Gerdes of the board, while objections raised by the board's attorney to questions which Mr. Burke asked witnesses in cross-examination, were just as universally sustained by Chairman Gerdes.

Used Ball and Chain.

The testimony sought to show conditions at the home under the superintendency of Miss McMahon, the chief witnesses being two colored girls from Omaha, one Bertha Spencer, a maid at the Castle hotel, in that city, who admitted that she did not know the nature of an oath.

The admission cards, when she was sent to the home stated that she was mentally a deficient and for this reason Mr. Burke objected to the witness. The objection was overruled. The girl testified to punishment administered to the inmates, in some cases handcuffs being used and in some instances a ball and chain being attached to the girls in cases where they had threatened to run away.

Miss Turner, who was sent up from Omaha and is still in the school, told of incidents where the ball and chain had been used and where she had seen girls whipped. She admitted before leaving the stand that she was rather sore at Miss McMahon.

Tells of Town Talk.

The third witness of the morning, William Short, testified that the conduct of Professor Fagan was "town and institution talk." He said that one time while directing a job of painting by one of the colored girls, he had seen Fagan and Miss Tennibaum wrestling on the lawn. Fagan finally got her down and held her, but he saw no act that might be really considered immoral, though in response to a question of what he thought about it, said it would be considered immoral in Omaha.

A question by Mr. Gerdes, chairman of the board, as to his knowledge of the use of handcuffs and the ball and chain in evidence, brought the response that he had never known the existence of the ball and chain, that the board had not authorized its purchase and that he knew nothing of it until he saw it on the table in evidence.

Miss McMahon states she bought the ball and chain on orders of the board and that they have had full knowledge of it and the vouchers covering its purchase are on record.

Many Large Real Estate Transactions at Seward

Seward, Neb., April 18.—W. S. Dupin, manager of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, has bought a share of the Hersberger-Malory Clothing company. The company will be incorporated for $25,000 and will occupy a double business block.

M. C. Miller paid $18,000 for the Butler block and will remodel it for his dry goods store.

At the noonday luncheon at the Commercial club yesterday a committee was appointed to arrange for giving pamphlets, telling of Seward's industries and progressiveness, so they may be mailed to advertise Seward.

Lieut. Carl Holtz, United States army, who is stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., was married here Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock to Mary Margaret Norval, youngest daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Richard Norval, by Rev. B. C. Story. The groom is a graduate of the University of Nebraska in the electrical engineering department. He is an instructor in the United States signal corps at Fort Sill. His home is at Wahoo, Neb.

The new garage recently built at an expense of $40,000 by John Zimmerman, is now ready for occupancy.

Lincoln, April 18.—(Special.)—The Farmers State bank of Concord, with a capital of $20,000, has been granted a charter by the State Banking board. Eloy A. Olson, John Carley and C. S. Sherman are the president, vice president and cashier, respectively.

GERMANS SLAUGHTER RUSS VILLAGERS AND BURN TOWN

Moscow, April 18.—Because the peasants in the village of Novoselki, in the government of Mohilev, resisted an armed requisition of money by German troops and killed an officer in the resulting struggle, the Germans burned the village and from machine guns placed around it they fired upon the inhabitants, including women and children, who tried to escape, killing many of them.

A protest against this atrocity has been communicated to the German government by M. Tchitcherine, Russian minister of foreign affairs, who also mentions the fact that the Germans killed an entire family, even the little children, when they were informed that one member had participated in guerrilla warfare against them.

REPUBLICAN MEET FIXED FOR MAY 28

Senator-Elect Lenroot of Wisconsin Able to Be in Lincoln on Date; Possibility of Visit From Heys.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Lincoln, April 18.—(Special.)—On account of inability to obtain the city auditorium for the big republican patriotic state-wide meeting on May 22, because of its use the entire week by the State Dental association, Chairman Beach of the state republican committee has been compelled to cancel that date, but has obtained from Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin assurances that he will be here on Tuesday, May 28, instead.

By using this later date Chairman Beach feels confident that he will also be able to get National Chairman Heys for the same meeting. Mr. Heys is on the coast at the present time and expects to be returning east about that date, and it is possible that he can be present.

In any event the presence of Senator Lenroot gives assurance there will be a big meeting.

Charles Bailey Held Under New Sedition Law at Chappell

(Chappell, Neb., April 18.—(Special Telegram.)—Charles Bailey, living near Big Springs, was arrested on complaint filed by County Attorney L. O. Pfeiffer under the new sedition law. The Council of Defense and the Liberty loan committee called on Bailey on two different occasions and urged him to make a financial statement and buy bonds.

It is alleged, Bailey refused to do either and to have made seditious statements. He will be held in the county jail until his hearing in county court Monday morning.

COURT HOUSE AS MANAGED SCORED BY GRAND JURY

Gambling, Political "Pie Eaters" and Dance Halls Are Among Others Given Unfavorable Mention.

Gambling, at least, in petty forms, prostitution, alleged mismanagement of the court house, political "pie-eaters" in the court house and city hall, and public dance halls are scored by the grand jury in its final report made Thursday to Presiding Judge Redick in district court. The jury was in session one month, to the day.

Judge Redick thanked the individual members of the jury before dismissing them.

Scores Court House.

"Conditions in the management of the county court house are deplorable," the jury found. "Business methods are tabooed and political 'pie' seems to be the main idea in its operation. It found that the court house salary list of charwomen and janitors was almost $10,000 more in one year than either the City National bank building or the Omaha National bank building, both of which buildings have about the same floor space."

It recommended the employment of janitors under the square foot plan and "advocated the abolition of the system of making the payroll a quasi-pension list for the benefit of those who, through some form of favoritism, are able to get in and stay in."

Abolition of the court house garage in the basement of the court house was recommended.

The jurors explain that little definite information of crime was brought before them, and they contended with "unwillingness of witnesses to disclose what information they possessed." The practice of public officials to push all responsibility off on "the other fellow" made their task anything but easy.

Work Is Hampered.

That investigation of offenders taken in the routine of police court work seriously hampers the work of special investigation for which it is called is another statement preliminary to the report. The jury recommended legislation giving the county attorney concurrent jurisdiction during the sessions of the grand jury, and suggested that a bill be prepared and presented to the next legislature granting this power.

"While gambling was not prevalent the investigators found much was going on, 'at least in petty form.'" To produce conclusive evidence, some of the jurors found gambling on a large scale in a prominent locality. The proprietors of a pool hall in this locality were indicted for operating a large "crap" game under the very nose of the police.

"At about the same time the police brought before us a man they had arrested on the front porch of his home for shooting craps, although he showed he was matching pennies."

The jurors found that pool halls and cigar stores, where gambling was permitted, were frequented by minors, "with the result that the evils of gambling were indulged in by many boys who are judged by the length of their pants, instead of their age."

Pool Halls a Menace.

"Pool halls, as now conducted, are a 'Gets-It'—2 Drops—Then to the Dance!"

"Goodnight to Corn Pains—Corns Peel Off With 'Gets-It.'"

"Say, girls, you can laugh at tight shoes, or a lame, corn-suffering member, but bumpy corns, calluses on the soles of your feet, corns between the toes, hard and soft corns."

"It's All Off With This Fierce Corn Now—'Gets-It' is Magic."

If you will just touch the corn or callus with a few drops of 'Gets-It'! What a blessed relief it gives to corn pains! You won't limp any more; you can enjoy the dance every minute. Then to see how that corn or callus has completely disappeared, like a banana peel and without the least pain, is just wonderful. 'Gets-It' is the biggest seller among corn removers in the world today, simply because it is so wonderfully simple and always works. Be sure you get 'Gets-It.' 'Gets-It' is the guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, the only sure way, costs but a trifle at any drug store. M'd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Sold in Omaha and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Sherman & McConnell's Drug Co.'s stores.—Adv.

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW INSTEAD OF DISLOYAL CASE

Mrs. Fred Foster, 3601 Miami street, gray-haired American born woman, accused of pro-Germanism, was discharged after a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Neely in federal court Thursday morning.

Mrs. Nettie Adams, 3608 Ohio street, Mrs. A. E. Blackford, 4017 Ohio street, and Mrs. A. M. Case, 3722 Ohio street, caused the arrest and testified against Mrs. Foster. Commissioner Neely characterized the case as "neighborhood row."

Scores of neighbors testified that the defendant was a hard-working woman and had never given any reason for mistrusting her loyalty. Two witnesses said she praised Uncle Sam's treatment of the soldiers and said she wished she had money for Liberty bonds.

Mrs. Foster wept when she took the witness stand. She said she was born in Illinois and that her parents were born in Virginia. She said she is prejudiced against the Germans and hated them for their cruelty. She is of Scotch-Irish descent. Her husband was born in Germany and was forced to serve in the German army, but escapes as soon as he could and came to America, where he at once took out citizenship.

Major Hanley in Omaha to Inspect Local Army Posts

Major J. L. Hanley of the central war department, Chicago, is in Omaha to inspect both local forts and check up the army personnel in this city. Major Hanley will remain two days at Fort Crook and two days at Fort Omaha, after which he will take up the work of inspecting the quartermaster's depot.

Fourteen Nebraska Daughters Register at Convention Hall

Washington, April 18.—(Special Telegram.)—In addition to Mrs. Aull and Mrs. Edgar Allen of Omaha, Mrs. E. G. Draite and Mrs. Samuel Avery of Lincoln, the following additional daughters of the American Revolution from Nebraska have registered at Convention hall: Mrs. Y. Hinman, Miss Elizabeth Hinman, Miss Helen Ayers, Miss Lathrop, Miss Lyman, Mrs. Crumley, Mrs. Timbaurgh, Miss McCormick, Miss Beatrice Wickersham, Mrs. Max Hostellter.

Cut Out Politics.

The city commissioners about to be elected were urged to do away with many of the petty officers to be appointed by them, many of whose usefulness they could not determine. Civil service examinations for many state, county and city offices, now elective, were advocated in order to divorce the positions from politics.

More power was recommended for the county attorney in the form of an independent working force to suppress crime. Such powers were found necessary in a county of this size.

WASN'T ABLE TO RAISE HIS ARMS UP TO HIS HEAD

Omaha Man's Rheumatism Begins to Disappear When He Takes Tanlac.

"I had rheumatism in both of my arms and the pain was so bad at times I couldn't help but cry," said A. C. Cubley of 7616 North Twenty-ninth street, in a conversation with a Tanlac man at Sherman & McConnell's company's drug store, recently. Mr. Cubley has been a baker in Omaha for the past six years and has a wide acquaintance and many friends.

"I have been in a bad way for two years," he continued, "suffering not only from rheumatism, but my stomach has given me all sorts of trouble, besides. Nothing seemed to agree with me, as what I would eat felt like lead in my stomach and caused me intense pain. My arms all the way down to my fingers were so bad with rheumatism that I couldn't raise my hands to my head without suffering agony. My nerves were all shattered and I would just roll and toss every night for hours, in misery, and I always felt sluggish and tired in the mornings. I dropped down in weight to 132 pounds and kept going down until I began taking Tanlac.

"When I saw Tanlac so highly recommended I decided to see if it would help me like others said it had them, and it's the truth, I commenced to climb after taking my first few doses. My appetite is fine now and my stomach has improved until I can eat most anything I want without any bad effects whatever afterwards. I have only been taking Tanlac about 10 days and have just finished my first bottle, but the results have already been surprising. The rheumatism is so much better that I can raise my arms without difficulty and the pain is much less than it has been for a long time. I drop off to sleep easily now at night and get up in the mornings feeling thoroughly rested and fine. Not only that, I'm so much stronger and better and am beginning to feel like a new man. I'm now regaining my lost weight and am glad to recommend Tanlac for what it has already done, and is still doing, for me."
