JACKIES FACE DEATH CALMLY IN ATTACK ON SUBMARINE BASES

Battle of Zeebrugge Described by Commander of Cruiser Which Landed 500 Men on Mole Who Fought Germans Doggedly While Blocking Ships Were Being Sunk.

(By Associated Press.)

Aboard H. M. S. Vindictive, in Dover Harbor, April 25.—A correspondent of The Associated Press visited the cruiser Vindictive today as the guest of Captain Alfred F. B. Carpenter, who commanded the vessel in the expedition last Tuesday against the German submarine base at Zeebrugge on the Belgian coast.

Captain Carpenter received the correspondent with his arm in a sling from a shell splinter wound. The ship showed innumerable signs of conflict. The commander during the attack was at the end of the bridge in a small steel box or cabin which had been especially constructed to house a flame thrower.

RAN ALONGSIDE MOLE. Captain Carpenter, in his account of the part taken by the Vindictive in the raid, said:

"Our chief purpose in the expedition was to distract the attention of the battery while the block ships ran in, especially the battery of 11-inch guns, which occupied a commanding position at the tip of the mole. Our ship was elaborately prepared for the business of landing soldiers on the mole, which is of stone, 40 feet high and 15 feet above the Vindictive's top deck at the state of the tide when the attack took place.

"We had a special superstructure over the upper deck and three long gangways of 'brows' which were designed to take the men up to the level of the mole as soon as we got alongside. Exactly according to the plan, we ran alongside the mole, approaching it on the port side, where we were equipped with specially built buffers of wood two feet wide.

THREE GANGWAYS SMASHED. "As there was nothing for us to tie up to we merely dropped anchor there, while the Daffodil kept us against the mole with her nose against the opposite side of our ship. In the fairly heavy sea two of our three gangways were smashed, but the third held and 500 men swarmed up this onto the mole. This gangway was two feet wide and 30 feet long.

"The men who went up it included 300 marines and 150 storming seamen from the Vindictive and 50 or so from the Daffodil. They warmed up the steel gangway carrying hand grenades and Lewis guns. No Germans succeeded in approaching the gangway, but a hard hand-to-hand fight took place about 200 yards up the mole toward the shore.

"The Vindictive's bow was pointed toward the shore, so the bridge got the full effect of the enemy fire from the shore batteries. One shell exploded against the pilot house, killing nearly all of its 10 occupants. Another burst in the fighting top, killing a lieutenant and eight men who were doing excellent work with two pompsoms and four machine guns.

"The battery of 11-inch guns at the end of the mole was only 300 yards away and it kept trying to reach us. The shore batteries were diligent. Only a few German shells hit our hull because it was well protected by the wall of the mole but the upper structure, masts, stacks, and ventilators showed above the wall and were riddled. A considerable proportion of our casualties were caused by splinters from these upper works.

"Meanwhile, Daffodil continued to push us against the wall as if no battle was on and if the Daffodil had failed to do this none of the members of the landing party would have been able to return to the ship.

Block Ships Sunk in Channel. "Twenty-five minutes after the Vindictive had reached the wall the first block ship passed in and headed for the canal. Two others followed in leisurely fashion while we kept up the fight on the mole. One of the block ships stranded outside of the canal, but the two others got 200 or 300 yards inside, where they were successfully sunk across the entrance.

"One difficulty we had in preparing this expedition was that we could not have open practice of what we contemplated doing for fear the enemy might get information of the plan.

"All the men were tuned up to a high pitch and it was with very anxious hearts that we waited for a suitable time to strike, knowing that every day we waited there was a greater chance of our secret leaking out.

"Fifteen minutes after the Vindictive arrived alongside the mole, our submarine exploded under the viaduct connecting the mole with the mainland. The Germans had sent a considerable force to this viaduct as soon as the submarine arrived and these men were gathered on the viaduct attacking our submarine with machine guns.

Viaduct Blown Up. "When the explosion occurred the viaduct and the Germans were blown up together. The crew of the submarine, consisting of six men, escaped on board a dingy to a motor launch.

"Early in the fighting a German shell knocked out our howitzer, which had been getting in some good shots on a big German seaplane station on the mole half a mile away. This is the largest seaplane station in Belgium. Unfortunately, our other guns could not be brought to bear effectively upon it.

"The shell which disabled the howitzer killed all the members of the gun crew. Many men also were killed by a German shell which hit the mole.

HOTEL MEN STAND FOR RIGHT NAME LAW

Endorsement Given Proposed Legislation That Will Make False Registration Felony Hereafter.

A set of resolutions endorsing proposed legislation regarding the "right name" law, the "hotel naming and licensing" bill and a bill favoring the use of light wines and beer in hotels, was unanimously adopted by the Omaha Hotel Men's association following the banquet tendered a number of visitors at the Rome hotel last night.

Under the provisions of the "right name" law it will become a felony for a man to register under any other than his right name.

The "hotel naming" law is designed to establish a standard for establishments permitting them to call themselves hotels and a license is proposed to enforce this measure.

Fight Ardent Spirits. Approval of the measure to use only light wines and beer was merely a matter of form in this state, the measure being formulated for use in wet territory by the executive council of the American Hotel Men's association.

It is hoped by the passing of this proposed law to abolish the sale of ardent spirits in hotels over the entire country.

Prominent members of the hotel press and leading hotel proprietors from various sections of the country were the guests of the Omaha hotel proprietors at luncheon at the Blackstone yesterday noon and at dinner at the Hotel Rome last night. The visitors had been at a state meeting at Sioux Falls and were invited to come to Omaha for a short time as guests of the local organization.

Visiting Men. The visitors were: J. K. Blatchford, associate editor of the National Daily Hotel Reporter; E. C. Epley, Martin hotel, Sioux City; John Willy, editor of the Hotel Monthly, Chicago; Ben P. Bramham, editor of the Hotel Bulletin, Chicago; Walter A. Pockock, St. Paul, Minn.; John Faxon, chairman of the national board of governors; R. D. McFadden, president of the Greeters of America; R. W. Johnson, president of the Nebraska State Hotel Men's association; Charles F. Schaff, Lincoln; and E. F. Kenefick, Belle Fourche, S. D.

ODD FELLOWS OBSERVE 99TH ANNIVERSARY. Omaha lodges of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of America held a joint meeting last night in commemoration of the 99th anniversary of the order in the United States. A program was given in the Swedish auditorium followed by a dance.

More than 1,000 Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and friends of the Omaha lodges were present. The meeting was held largely to stimulate interest in the celebration of the 100th anniversary to be held next year. Committees have been set up for three years for the meeting. Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs lodges are to combine.

McKay Says Was Visiting When Frank Rooney Was Shot. Evidence in the trial of Thomas McKay for the murder of Detective Frank Rooney was concluded Thursday. Arguments of counsel will begin this morning.

McKay was the last witness for the defense. He testified to coming to Omaha from Kansas City on the night of the murder. He made inquiries how to reach the home of Burt C. Kirk, 3207 North Fourteenth avenue, with whom he was to discuss business matters, he alleged.

He arrived at the Kirk home about 8 o'clock in the night, he testified, and was escorted by Kirk to the bedroom on the second floor. He was in the act of taking a drink of whiskey when Detective Dolan entered the room.

McKay, together with Burt C. Kirk, Frank Martin, Samuel Stone and Harry Williams are charged with the murder of Detective Frank Rooney on the night of January 30. Williams and Stone have been convicted of second degree murder on this charge.

Jardine Host at Banquet To Bring Tractor Plant Here

W. S. Jardine was host at a banquet to 120 Omaha business men at the Chamber of Commerce last night. The meeting was held to introduce the Square Turn tractor, now being manufactured at Norfolk. Moving pictures of the tractor at work were shown.

The Norfolk factory, it is said, is too small to care for the business and it is planned to install an erecting plant in Omaha. Automobile factories, it is said, can be depended upon to furnish parts in sufficient quantities to care for the demand and an assembling plant will be needed.

Mr. Jardine is a stockholder in the company and is anxious to bring the erecting plant to Omaha. Many at the meeting were interested in the project and undoubtedly plans will be completed to assemble tractors here in the near future.

NEW DRAFT BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

Provides for Registration of Men Who Have Reached Age of Twenty-One Since June 5 Last.

Washington, April 25.—The house today adopted the senate bill for the registration for military service of young men who have reached the age of 21 years since June 5 last. The measure now goes to conference.

An amendment, offered by Representative Hull of Iowa and adopted, 119 to 81, provides that men registered under the bill shall be placed at the bottom of the classes to which they may be assigned.

The house sustained the military committee in striking out a provision of the bill as it passed the senate which would exempt from registration those eligibles who have entered medical or divinity schools since June 5 last.

Representative Kahn of California ranking republican on the military committee, told the house the proposed new registration would place from 500,000 to 700,000 new registrants available for military service. In that connection he recalled that Germany recently called into service its class of 1919, consisting of approximately 550,000 men.

Chairman Dent of the military committee opposed the amendment of Mr. Hull. Mr. Kahn also opposed the amendment and declared there are thousands of young men now under 21 who volunteered at the beginning of the war and who now are serving in France.

Bailey's Precaution Is Your Tooth Protection

Bailey has removed the regrets from dentistry by devoting to each case a preliminary examination that leaves no doubt as to actual conditions of your teeth from the foundation upward; from the root to the crown.

No abscessed or absorbed root, no faulty bone structure, no fractured or misplaced hidden part can escape the "eye" of the X-ray. Any one of these faults is to be expected—if present, no amount of surface work will give you dental satisfaction of a lasting nature.

This X-ray examination is but one precaution in Bailey dentistry, but it is typical of the whole system that is over a generation old but which is better prepared than ever to give your teeth the attention they deserve, and which is preferred by so many people who demand the best in dentistry as in other things.
