

NEW YORK STOCKS

Exchange Confines Dealings to Morning Session, Observing Balance of Day as a Holiday.

New York, April 26.—In deference to the Liberty day demonstration, dealings on the stock exchange today were restricted to the hours of the morning. In that brief period, however, the market manifested strong fundamental conditions, although activity and strength centered chiefly in speculative issues.

General market developments embraced another sharp break in Italian exchanges, with approaching their low record at 8.96. The recurrent weakness in these remittances was ascribed to speculation in bills on Rome.

Fine treacle goods at Sunderlands. WATTLE FIXES FAIR PRICE FOR MEAL PRODUCT

Difficulty in arriving at fair manufacturing costs for cornmeal, under the agreement between the federal food administration for Nebraska and the millers of the state, has resulted in a modification which has been accepted by the millers.

Instead of basing costs on the price of corn used, it has been decided to average the cost of No. 3 corn bought by the mill during the previous week, and to use this average as the basis. One exception is permitted when millers sell in carlot quantities. Then the miller shall take the cost of corn used in the making of the carload lot and use that as the basis.

Under the agreement, as announced by Food Administrator Wattles, No. 3 corn is used as a basis in all cases. Two and one-fourths bushels of corn shall be used in making 100 pounds of cornmeal at the average price of No. 3 corn. To this may be added 40 cents per 100 pounds for manufacturing costs, a profit of 12 1/2 cents per 100 pounds, costs of sacks and 15 cents per 100 pounds for expense when the shipment is less than carload lots. Credit must be given for the corn bran at prevailing market prices, which is agreed to be 24 pounds on every 100 pounds of meal.

Where shipment is made in small lots, freight prepaid, the miller may add 20 cents per hundred.

Military Escort at the Funeral of Sergeant Hatch. The body of Sergeant Kenneth E. Hatch, Omaha boy, who died in the service at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., was brought home Friday morning, accompanied by his mother and Corporal A. Huth.

Colonel Pickering, commanding officer at Fort Crook, has detailed the 41st infantry band, two sergeants to act as pallbearers and a special escort of 16 men to attend the funeral, to be held in the Elks lodge room at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Part of the escort will act as a firing squad at the Elks' rest, Forest Lawn cemetery.

The active pallbearers will be two sergeants from Fort Crook, Corporal A. A. Huth, who brought Sergeant Hatch's body here from Louisville, Ky.; John T. Brice, Roy D. Hart and S. O. Harrison.

The honorary pallbearers will be George Stoops, I. E. Nelson, Harry Schroeder, J. C. Barrett from the Union Pacific shops; S. C. Blair, Avery Lancaster, Oscar Fechner and E. Norgard, Nebraska Division Account bureau.

AT THE THEATERS

Promises of the Press Agents.

Orpheum—Patrons are reminded that the curtain will rise early at the Orpheum to night, 7:15 o'clock sharp. The first two numbers on the program will be Harry Borsford and company and John Hyams and Lella McIntyre. Next week, Will M. Cressy and Blanche Blanche will be the headliners. Mr. Cressy and Miss Dayne will present Mr. Cressy's satire on newspaper life called "The Wyoming Whop."

Gayety—No theatrical season in this village of ours would be complete without the appearance of Lew Kelly and his original line of "nut" chatter. That's what was the trouble with last season—Kelly wasn't here; instead, he was being starred in a gigantic musical revue at the Empire theatre, London, where he was a tremendous success. But he's back again with his first love. The Behman show—and opens a week's engagement at the popular Gayety this afternoon. At every performance he will relate his thrilling experiences during some of the Zeppelet air raids while the Great Lakes metropolis. Tomorrow's matinee starts at 3.

Boyd—That comedy mixture of drawing-room and burlesque is to be particularly cleverly delineated by Frederic and Fanny Hatton. "Upstairs and Down," is to be presented during its coming engagement with the same clever and competent cast of players as has been identified with the play's long record of one year in New York and one month in Philadelphia. Oliver Morosco presents "Upstairs and Down" at the popular Gayety, Sunday night, April 28, for four nights.

Empress—The Mill at the Empress theater for the last half of the week is a very pleasing one, if applause counts for anything. Vera Selbina and company in "A Ballet Rummie in Miniature," a comedy of the best and Adams and Thomas in their comedy "After the Party," are also scoring heavily. George and Paul Hickman offer one of the best and most interesting comedies yet seen this season at the Empress and "Five Fifteen," a mystery farce, completes one of the best programs offered this season at the popular theater. Tomorrow there will be an entire change of program and the bill will be headed by Arthur Huston and company in their spectacular fantasy of modern Arabian nights.

In the Silent Drama. Sun—For the last times today William R. Hart will be at the theater in "The Hand and the Heart." The action is rapid-fire and keeps one in a constant state of suspense as to what will happen next. Robert Edson heads one of the best programs assembled in a photoplay, which consists among others of Rhoda Mitchell, Gladys Brockwell and Herchel. Other good pictures are also shown in connection.

Strand—Today will end the dual bill of Charlie Chaplin and Jack Pickford. Chaplin in his first picture made under the million-dollar arrangement, "A Dog's Life," a clean comedy, but so full of laughs that after being cut down to the exhibiting length it was found that it would require at least eight reels. Jack Pickford, in "Tom and Huck," furnishes further laughs. It is really a continuation of his former Mark Twain story "Tom Sawyer," while the same excellent cast is in the support. Other good pictures are also shown in connection.

Muse—Tom Mix in "Western Blood" will be seen at the Muse today for the last times. The scenic effects are the most beautiful that have ever been shown at the theater. The cowboy action is so realistic that they are longing for their old flannel shirts. The fourth episode of "The Cowboy Boy" will be on the same program for the last times today.

Empress—Everyone who has seen "The Brass Check" the Metro photoplay in which Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are the stars, at the Empress, will be glad to see the two screen stars have featured in "Bushman" the estate of Francis X. Bushman, near Baltimore, was used in other scenes in the picture. Tomorrow Gladys Brockwell will be seen in her latest William Fox photoplay, "Her One Mistake."

Hipp—For the last times today, June Caprice will be the featured player at this theater in a William Fox production, "The Girl in the Red Dress." It is a pleasing comedy drama while the story is somewhat different than any that have been seen on the screen. Other good pictures will also be shown.

Hamilton—Clara Kimball Young is the feature at this theater today in a Select picture, "The Secret of the Storm Country." This picture is a sequel to "Tom of the Country" and is said to be the best where the latter leaves off. Miss Talmadge is said to fit well into the role, and a performance that is decidedly worth while is promised. A comedy will also be on the bill.

Dundee—"The Kaiser—the Beast of Berlin" is announced as showings at this theater today and Sunday. It is one of the film sensations of the season, and presents a glimpse of the atrocities of the German soldiers. There are many dramatic moments, based on fact and fancy, that will hold the interest throughout and will not soon be forgotten.

Boyd—The show that Theda Bara used in the making of the photoplay, "Du Barry," for William Fox, are a marvel of art. Every pair of them was especially designed by Miss Bara to bring out the aid of the costume in French history, who was constantly at her side. Brocades and satins made up the chief part of these slippers and boots and each one of them had an ornament in the front which was distinctly original, although following designs that were used in the fashion of the German emperors. Theda Bara in "Du Barry" at the Boyd, closes today with performances at 1, 2, 5, 7 and 9 p. m.

PETERS SAYS WOULD WELCOME INVESTIGATION. In response to the resolution adopted by the Gage county, Nebraska, Council of Defense, recommending the suppression of the Omaha Daily Tribune, a German language newspaper, Val Peters, editor of the paper, says he will welcome an investigation by the state council.

The Gage County Defense council charged the Tribune with making a "scurrilous" attack on Harry Lauder, who recently appeared before Omaha bodies to urge intense prosecution of the war. Peters statement says: "The Tribune does not need to fear an investigation of its loyalty, and it shares the conviction that upon a verdict, all such unjust accusations as have been raised by the Gage County Defense council and other parties will be silenced. Upon the publication of the Lauder article, the Tribune sent a copy to Washington and called the attention of the government to the same. No complaint whatsoever has been received."

Val Peters makes the charge that the Lauder article was translated in a misleading manner and published in several papers.
