

SCOUTS REPORT FEW OMAHA HOMES WITHOUT BONDS

"Cleanup" Drive Well Under Way; Total Sales to Date Are $68,850; Average is $100.

"CLEAN-UP" DRIVE.
No. of Bonds.	Amt.
Saturday	176	$37,750
Monday	283	31,100
Totals	459	$68,850

Boy Scouts say they are finding few homes in Omaha which do not own a Liberty bond of the third issue. While they are making numerous sales, the Boy Scouts report that the majority of the bonds are being sold to those who already own third Liberty bonds.

The house-to-house canvass in the interest of the sale of third Liberty loan bonds started Monday afternoon with a large number of Boy Scouts participating. Each troop worked in its home territory, and, in the evening, the boys turned out again after supper and covered the same ground as in the afternoon.

Better results were obtained in the later canvass, as in the majority of cases the man of the house was found at home.

The honor flags were delivered to all homes where a bond was sold by the boys or where one was already owned, and in some cases second sales were made by the youthful salesmen. All homes in which there is not a bond will be listed and the names turned over to the general committee for investigation.

Honor Flags Delivered.

Daily records are not being kept of the sales of the 48 divisions of the Boy Scouts, but after the week's drive is over the amount of bonds sold by each troop will be announced. The present "cleanup" drive is averaging about $100 a sale, although some larger sales are keeping up the average, the usual sale of the Scouts being a $50 bond.

Archbishop Harty has bought $10,300 worth of Liberty bonds for the Catholic Relief association. The archbishop was out of the city several days and on his return made the purchase for this woman's society.

Counties "Over Top."

C. B. Reeve, chairman of the Fillmore county loan committee, reported Tuesday that the county subscribed $436,400. Its quota was $419,700. This county subscribed but 93 per cent of its second loan quota.

Merrick county, with a quota of $290,200, expects to go "over the top" by Wednesday. G. H. Gray, chairman, reports that $278,400 have already been subscribed in the county, which took but 85 per cent of its second loan quota.

"We will easily oversubscribe our quota of $164,800," reported W. F. Mason, chairman of the Sherman county committee. This county took 76 per cent of its second loan quota.

Dawson county expects its subscriptions to run 25 per cent above its quota of $444,100. But 84 per cent of its second loan quota was subscribed.

Plainview Boy Scouts Have Whirlwind "Cleanup Drive"

Charles P. Lang, acting scout master of troop No. 2, Plainview, Neb., in a report to Scout Executive English states that the boys under his charge have in the last few days of the "cleanup drive" sold liberty bonds amounting to $69,675.

In his letter Mr. Lang says: "We hope with the good work we are doing to be able to take our place with the best of them in the contest for the medals and for the troop flag. The public is interested in our work and is assisting in every possible way."

In addition to our regular scout work we drill the boys in maneuvering and in the manual of arms. Eighteen have already taken and passed the written Tenderfoot examination, and it is pretty stiff."

ELIAS RESIGNS JOB AS RESULT OF BAND INCIDENT

Clerk in Office of Treasurer Endres Says Action is Result of Antipathy Toward Him.

Frank Elias, clerk in the office of City and County Treasurer Endres, resigned yesterday.

His action, he declares, is a result of antipathy toward him as a result of a publication in The Bee of a statement by Joseph St. Lucas, leader of the Union Pacific band, that Endres had refused to allow him (Elias), a drummer, to leave his work so that he could accompany the band on a Liberty bond drive over the Union Pacific to Cheyenne.

"Employees of the office," said Mr. Elias, "have made it so unpleasant for me since the publication of that article that I find it impossible to keep my job any longer."

Elias alleges discrimination against him by Endres.

"Following a resignation recently, a position higher up than mine was vacant and I felt that, in point of seniority and worth, I was entitled to the appointment. I applied to Mr. Endres, who informed me that it was a democratic office and that a democrat would get the job."

"It is customary to receive our pay on the last of the month, but, this month, owing, I believe, to the fact that Endres knows I intend to leave, he has deferred payment until today and I will have to make a special trip down town for the money."

Mr. Endres offered the following statement in answer to the resignation of Elias: "So far as I am able to state, there was no feeling between Elias and myself, certainly not on my part. I asked him to remain in the service, because he was an efficient clerk. Whether there was any situation in the office in connection with a recent newspaper article in which Elias' name was mentioned, was a matter of hearsay and I did not go into that. He may have thought that he should have been given a promotion which was not ready for action, because the clerk who is away on sick leave may return."

30,000 BOTTLES OF VINEGAR MAY BE CONFISCATED

More than 30,000 bottles of vinegar and 4,500 gallon cans of tomato pulp are held in Omaha awaiting the action of federal agents who charge that the food is falsely labeled and charge the manufacturers with violation of the food and drug act of June 30, 1906.

About 300 cases, each containing 24 bottles of vinegar labeled "Blue Grass Belle Brand Pure Apple Cider Vinegar" were consigned to the Paxton & Gallagher company, and 1,000 cases were sent to Marsh & Marsh, Omaha. It was shipped by Curd & Blackmore, Louisville, Ky. The tomato pulp was sent by the English Canning and Manufacturing company, English, Ind., to the Norfolk Packing company, Norfolk, Neb.

No liability is attached to the local companies, as only the shippers are held responsible for the goods.

Federal authorities say the vinegar contains acetic acid. If the alleged charges are proven the government will confiscate the goods and the manufacturers face charges of violation of the food act.
