Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.
Be Proud of Your Race.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I have been going out with a man six years my senior for three years, who is well educated and whom I have learned to love. Also, I am sure it is reciprocated, but with all of his knowledge he has that miserable trait, "bigotry." His prejudice toward the Hebrew race is intolerant. On the other hand, I have not been quite honest with him as regards the religion of my people, my father being a Hebrew and my mother a Christian. I do not know whether this man's intentions are serious, but I am sure the truth will come out sooner or later. Do you think it my duty to explain the situation to him despite the pain it might cause? I shall be very glad to have your views on this point, for my conscience is greatly troubled.

Bigotry is, indeed, the miserable trait you call it. It combines in itself ignorance, intolerance and hatred. A man who judges a race harshly because he has come in contact with poor examples of it is likely in any situation which arises to come to stubborn and unjust conclusions. Here and now is your opportunity to convince him of the injustice of his attitude. Through your father you have racial connections with a people who have given to the world some of its greatest men. Tell him at once—and proudly, too—of the faith of your father. If your lover is so narrow and ignorant as to fall in respect and admiration because of your racial connections, you had better know it now rather than have later to cope with a scorn he would feel for you because of your cowardly deceit. Once some one sneered at President Roosevelt the great English statesman who later became Lord Bessborough because of his religion. His reply is a classic which all Jews and non-Jews would do well to remember: "My ancestors were princes of the house of David when yours were savages in the wilderness," said he. The lower classes of any race are unfit to represent it—but so, too, are those who are ashamed of an ancestry which ought to give them pride.

Study Your Feelings.

Dear Miss Fairfax: Will you kindly advise me as to what I should do in my present predicament?
My mother, who is a widow, is contemplating marrying, and I, a girl of 22, a stenographer making a fairly good salary, do not like the man. Although my mother would not be happy unless she marries him, yet if I were to tell her of my feelings she would only put off her marriage until, perhaps, I married. At the same time I can hardly endure being in the same house with him and would ask you to kindly advise me as to whether I ought to make my home with a married sister, who would be only too glad to have me. There are also two younger sisters at home, one going to business and the other to school.

Of course, you must recognize that your personal prejudices ought not to be permitted to interfere with so vital a question as your mother's happiness. Can you analyze the matter carefully and so reduce your violent dislike for this man to a slight basis where you can conquer, ignore or even smile at it? He may resemble some one you as a child disliked. He may recall some forgotten ugly experience of your youth. It may be what psychology calls on "association memory" that is making you so miserable—or it may even be subconscious jealousy.

ously because your mother is marrying for a second time before you, her child, have won your first love interest. Unless you can conquer your own attitude, or feel sure that your dislike for this man is based on something so important that marrying him will wreck your mother's life, you had better just eliminate yourself and go to live with your sister.

How to Dress Hair.
Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: I am a constant reader of The Bee and seeing your good advice to others, would like to have you give me a little advice.

I will be 18 in August, but am about the size of a 16-year-old girl. I would like to know a nice way to wear my hair, and also the proper length to wear my dress. I am five-feet one-inch in height.

Is it proper to let a young man kiss you when coming and going in the evening? I have been going with a young man up until last September, when he left Omaha. I have been hearing from him regularly, but lately his letters seem cold and I do not hear from him as often as I did.

Now Miss Fairfax I really love this young man, and when he left he told me that he loved me, now do you think that he has met some other girl whom he likes better? I have not answered his last letter yet which has been about a week ago. Should I just quit writing to him or write and ask him about it? I am very troubled to know what to do? Please answer this in the morning Bee, as we do not take the evening Bee.
Thanking you in advance, I remain,
A. B.

Could Not Eat and Talk Above a Whisper. Peruna Restored Me.

Mrs. Leah Cockrell, 209 E. 5th St., Rome, Ga., writes as follows:

"I have been for some time under the advice of the Peruna Medical Department, concerning the treatment of a chronic disease. Under their advice I have been using Peruna, and find it an admirable remedy. I am greatly improved. I am filled with gratitude for the treatment I have received from them. Their many kind and helpful letters, as well as their remedy, have been a source of great assistance to me. I can conscientiously recommend Peruna for ailing women, and the Peruna Medical Department will always stand ready to assist those who are taking Peruna. I have also taken Manalin with excellent results. At one time I was not expected to

Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast a Splendid Habit

Open sluices of the system each morning and wash away the poisonous, stagnant matter.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise; splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, lame back, can, instead, look and feel as fresh as a daisy always by washing the poisons and toxins from the body with phosphated hot water each morning.
We should drink, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to flush from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract before putting more food into the stomach.
The action of limestone phosphate and hot water on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to make anyone who is bothered with biliousness, constipation, stomach trouble or rheumatism a real enthusiast on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

Tolerance That Helps

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Dear Miss Fairfax: Is there anything in this world that looks to you like unforgivable sin? Or do you insist on positing as one of those people who see "good in everything?" I married a woman with a bad record. I forgave her. I tried to help her and I talked to her as a mother might. But what she wanted to do was to stay in her little home and try to learn goodness from me? Not she! Pleasure and worldliness meant so much to her that she had to go chasing back to the bright lights. I had been tolerant and forgiving, but now I see that a man is a fool to trust a woman who has once gone wrong or to think he can show her what is right and good. Now I challenge you to find one word to say for the man who failed in gratitude toward the woman who tried to uplift her.

A COLLEGE MAN.
I accept the challenge!
There are plenty of reasons. Oh, College Man, why your marriage was a foregone conclusion failure. And not many of them are connected with the sad "past" of your wife! Most of them grow right out of your own sad failure to "make allowance"—out of your uncharitable criticism of weakness—out of your trying to force "goodness" upon a girl who was staggering up out of the swamps of evil and who needed the comfort of a gentle helping hand rather than the lash of a stern and preaching tongue.

I don't believe in "uplift." A man who has gone up and down the world for 20 years, a man who has talked to kings and serfs, to generals and to privates, to high dignitaries and to great criminals and who, because of his knowledge of human nature and of the underlying causes that bring about wars and revolutions, is known as our greatest war correspondent, spoke a very pregnant sentence to me recently.

"Holler Than Thou."
Said he: "I don't believe in the snipe holler than their attitude that most people take when they are trying to help others. No one ever faces another man's temptations. Every one tries to belittle the things that lure others to ruin. This business of stooping down to help others is all wrong. What counts is getting under the skin of their problems—being on the level with them, not uplifting them."

Don't you see how true it is, Mr. College Man? You "forgave" your wife, did you? Was there nothing in your record that she might have needed to "forgive"? You preached at her—you let her see that you "tolerated" her; that you considered these things—which are the supreme sins of life.

Even though you forgave her for her past guilt she had still to endure in her own weakened soul many of the consequences of evil-doing. And not by sitting in judgment on her, nor by lecturing her nor by condescending to her were you really able to help her. Love, sympathy, understanding and a belief in the good in her would have helped her to develop that good.

You have failed her as pathetically as she failed the good that was in her poor, twisted weak nature. Recognize that—come to see that not in preaching condescension, but in warm, sympathetic understanding lies real toleration.
For the greatest teacher has said: "Neither do I condemn thee. Go thou and sin no more."

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK Look young! Nobody can tell if you use Grandmother's simple recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost. Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

ARE WEAK NERVES AND LACK OF PHYSICAL STRENGTH HOLDING YOU BACK IN LIFE? You Must Have Plenty of Iron in Your Blood if You Want the Power and Energy to Win, Says Physician When the crushing grip of worry, trials and care saps your vitality and keeps you from the full enjoyment of home, social and business life—take Nuxated Iron and watch its strength-giving, up-building effect—it will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous run-down folks in two weeks' time in many instances. THOUSANDS are held back in life for want of sufficient iron in the blood, says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Dept. of Health, New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, in commenting on the relation of iron to the strength and endurance to the attainment of success and power. "A weak body means a weakened brain; nerve force weakened will power, and like the race horse beaten by a more capable man or woman falls just about of winning because they don't back up their mentality with the physical strength and energy which come from having plenty of iron in the blood. That irritable twitch, that fit of despondency, that dizzy, fearful feeling—these are the sort of signals nature gives to tired, listless folks when the blood-making power is so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. "In my opinion the greatest curse to the health and strength of American people of today is the alarming deficiency of iron in their blood. Iron is absolutely essential to enable your blood to transform the food you eat into muscular tissue and brain. It is through iron that the red coloring matter of the blood that life-sustaining oxygen enters the body. Without iron there is no strength, vitality and endurance to combat stomach or withstand severe strains. Lack of sufficient iron in the blood has ruined many a man's nerves and utterly robbed him of that virile force and stamina which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. "Therefore, I strongly advise those who feel the need of a strength and blood builder to get a physician's prescription for organic iron. Iron is absolutely essential to get out of this trouble. The only Nuxated Iron in its original packages and see that this package bears the name of Dr. James Francis Sullivan (Nuxated Iron) and other iron products and failed to get results, remember that such preparations are an entirely different matter. The Nuxated Iron which has been used and strongly endorsed by many physicians formerly connected with the Hon. William McKinley, the Hon. John Shaw, former President of the Cabinet Office, former United States Senator Charles A. Towne, former members of Congress, distinguished United States Army General (retired), Judge Atkinson of the United States Court of Claims, at Washington, and others. "In regard to the value of Nuxated Iron, Former Health Commissioner of Chicago, William R. Kerr, said: "As Health Commissioner of the City of Chicago, I was impounded many times to recommend different medicines, mineral waters, etc. Never yet have I come on record as favoring any particular remedy. But in the case of Nuxated Iron, I feel an exception should be made to the rule. From my own experience with it, I feel that it is such a valuable remedy that it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician in this country, and if my endorsement shall induce anaemic, nervous, run-down men and women to take Nuxated Iron, and receive the wonderful tonic benefits which I have received, I shall feel greatly gratified that I made an exception to my life-long rule in recommending it." Dr. Schuyler C. Jacques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication, do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy. "No matter what other tonics or iron remedies you have used without success—if you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can walk or how far you can walk without becoming tired; next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Nuxated Iron will increase your strength, power and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. Manufacturers' Note: Nuxated Iron which has been used by so many successful people with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in its secret remedy, contains the older iron product in its formula, and the older iron product is its basis. It is black not red, and the taste has been guaranteed successful and entirely satisfactory results. It is dispensed in this city by Sherman & McConnell drug store and other druggists—Advertisement.
