To keep out of the cemetery amateur base ball must have the support of the public, not particularly in a financial manner, but by the presence of live wire fans to encourage the exponents of the horsehide game to deliver their best and to mucilage themselves to the game even if they habitually draw the losing number.

Become Real Fans. So you fans that to date have enrolled as slackers, should resign and go out and lamp the local pill hoist-After you see a game or two you will undoubtedly become inoculated with the fever so strong that draft May 28th, today bested Lyons base ball will be the paramount item on your recreation menu.

Ice Creams Melt.

Evidently the sun was a trifle warm for the Graham Ice Creams, for they melted away and by so doing the World-Heralds won their initial argument of the season by a forfeit.

One of the best games jerked off on the local municipal lots was the quarrel for first place between the Dreshers and Daily News. # SCENE CHANGES MAKING OF FOU SECOND BASEMEN

Pratt, Magee, Doyle and Gedeon All Show Improvement After Being Transferred to Other Clubs.

New York, May 12.- Four transplanted second basemen in the big show are playing better ball this season with their new teams than they played before.

The four in question are Derrill Pratt, who came to the Yankees from the Browns; Lee Magee, traded to the Reds by the Browns in a three-cornered deal with New York; Larry Doyle, who came back to McGraw via Boston and Chicago, and Joe Gedeon, formerly with the Yanks and now the regular second sacker of the Brownies.

Pratt's hitting, so far this year, has been an improvement over 1917 while Larry Doyle's great work with the stick has put new life into the Giant infield. Joe Gedeon, who was always an in-and-outer while wearing a Yankee uniform, largely, perhaps, because he was not kept in the lineup continuously, is busting the pill in better form now that he is with St. Louis, and Lee Magee, who was let out by the Yanks because of batting slumps, seems to have caught the slugging spirit since going to the Reds.

Not only are these four players hitting oftener and more timely, but their infielding is snappier. It often works wonders to give a player a change of clubs, for some players grow stale when they are with one team for a few seasons.

Carpentier Unfit.

The war has evidently robbed the fistic world of a wonderful fighter in the person of Georges Carpentier, who has been retired from the flying corps because of the effects of a long illness which left him unfit for flying. Carpentier is now a physical instructor at the Ecole Militaire de Joinville-le-Pont, one of the great French army schools near Paris. The French champion, who was twice decorated for bravery, and whose work with the French airmen was mentioned many times, is said to have suffered partly from a nervous break-down and it is doubtful whether or not he will be fit to battle over the championship route again.

Chase and Maisel Two Big Leaguers Who Lost on Change

In discussing the uncertainty connected with big league stars changing their positions, Matty cites two examples of men who were unsuccessful in their ties at new posts. These were Hal Chase, the well known first baseman, and Fritz Maisel, the speedy third sacker.

When Frank Chance was manager of the New York Yankees, Chase was placed at second, but he proved awkward at the position and soon discovered that first was his natural post, Maisel was tried in the outfield and later at second base, only to go back finally to the hot corner.

ted the Central Furniture Co. City League at Blair. The he game was the hitting and of both teams. There was a nice and the interesting game a doubt up to the ninth inning.

During the game a base ball autographed by Grover Cleveland Alexander was auc-tioned off for the benefit of the soldiers' athletic fund. F. F. Devore got the pill.

By the victories of Saturday and Sunday the Rourkes are within one game of the Boosters. Another victor for Jackson's men today and Omaha will be tied with the Coon creekers for first place. Twice Bashang pulled long drives into deep right near the feul line. Both times Bill Hunter with uncanny intuition was waiting for them. Had Hunter been playing in his regular position, both frives would have been good for doubles.

Callaban and Defate and a gay time around second. Each accepted nine chances, many of which were unusually difficult, in fancy style. Cal made five putouts and four assists and Tony four putouts and five assists. Cal and Tony make about the assists.

Stewart and Murphy were the only Boosters who worried Merz. Stewart, a youngster who ordinarily is a weak hitter, combed three safeties on Otto. About 2,000 fans were out of see game. The weather is still a little sharp, apparently, and the fans prefer stick to the fireside.

Mr. Musser has just returned to the Western league from the Chicago White Sox where he found the company a little too fast. Musser also found Omaha a little too fast.
