District Leaders Agree on Final Arrangements at Chamber of Commerce Meeting.

Captains of the various districts in Omaha which will be canvassed for donations to the Red Cross fund in the second big drive, which starts Monday and lasts throughout the week, met at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night to discuss final arrangements for the campaign.

"The more you give, the fewer boys will die!" will be one of the many telling mottoes which the campaigners will use in urging the people of Omaha to give freely, generously and to their limit to the fund. That much is expected of Omaha in this coming drive was forcefully impressed upon those present and each one volunteered the information that as much or more than was expected would be forthcoming.

Talk on Salesmanship. Everett Buckingham, chairman of the Red Cross campaign committee, presided at the meeting. He introduced a number of speakers, among whom was Rufus Harris, sales manager of the Armour Packing company, who delivered a talk on salesmanship and how to obtain donations to the Red Cross.

A meeting of the Douglas county representatives in charge of the Red Cross drive in their various sections of the county will be held today at the Chamber of Commerce.

Hospital at Court House. A part of the program for Red Cross campaign for $200,000 in Omaha contemplates the erection of a hospital building on the court house grounds as a symbol of the purpose of the campaign and as an indication of the progress made.

The hospital will be built on the northeast corner of the court house square and a program will be had on Monday noon for the purpose of laying the cornerstone.

An appropriate address for the laying of this Red Cross cornerstone will be delivered by Congressman Sloan.

ELECT FINDLEY EDITOR OF HIGH SCHOOL PAPER

Thomas Findley won the editorship of the Central High school Register yesterday, when he defeated 259 votes to the 233 of his opponent, Ralph Kharas.

Miss Jean Kennedy was chosen for the position of assistant editor. The 495 votes cast were divided among the candidates as follows: Jean Kennedy, 301; Margaret Parish, 118; Helen Bernstein, 41; LeVaughn Lehnhoff, 34.

The office of business manager will be filled by Raymond Stryker. His assistant will be Robert Jenkins.

The race was hard fought, with the "clubs" backing the winning candidate and the democratic student body behind his opponent. Although the winner announced a platform of economy in advertising at the beginning of the campaign, he had spent much more than his opponent.

The business staff of the Register announced that there would be no annual this year unless the student body helped in obtaining the necessary advertising.

Empress—"Is man's first duty to his family or to his country? That is the question answered in the patriotic drama, 'The Empress,' offered by Lillian Kingsbury, Ned Dano and company, at the Empress, headline the new bill which starts today. The story has to do with the husband's desire to serve his country, the wife making all manner of excuses, the husband's persistence and overcomes until the wife seeing her husband so determined shoots him to incapacitate him for service and then after he recovers gives her consent for him to go and do his duty.

Orpheum—Like Walter Kelly, Will M. Crosby and other vaudeville standard players, Foster Hall is always exploited as a special feature attraction over the big time circuit, and unfailingly he proves an event that finds warm favor. In vaudeville he is confining himself contenting himself with a single character study, that of the old veteran of the civil war. When asked over at the Orpheum one day this week why he did not change characters, Mr. Ball said: "I like the character of the old boy of the days of '61, the audience like the character and expect to see me in it, hence I think it would be a mistake to change while there is such a popular demand for the old soldier character."

In the Silent Drama. The silent drama, 'The Art of the Artist,' starring Elsie Ferguson, and now being exhibited at this theater, presents an unusual story. Just as you are having a sigh of relief at the triumph of Lily Kardos—the role played by Miss Ferguson—in baffling the human wolves who beset the path of the girl, the triumph of a girl and succeeded in winning as a husband a multi-millionaire ex-senator, "the woman scorned" takes a hand and contrives to place the young girl in a compromising position and the jealous and elderly husband casts her off. Then follows a series of sensational incidents in a comedy and Grand Pathe News also shown.

Muse—Alice Brady will be seen today for the last time at the Muse in "At the Mercy of Men." The plot is laid in Russia, where a music teacher insulted by three army officers, is forced into marriage to one of the three men. Tomorrow comes George Walsh in "Brave and Bold."

Sun—Douglas Fairbanks will hold forth at this theater for the final time today in the silent production, "Katrinka." It is a clever comedy-drama story and the star does a number of athletic stunts, which combined with his acting, makes a photoplay that is being well received by those who have attended the past two days' performances. Other good pictures including a comedy are shown on Friday, Saturday and Sunday comes Henry B. Walthall in "Hoops of Steel."

Brandeis—"My Four Years in Germany," meaning James W. Gerard's record of his ambassadorship in Berlin, photoplay of patriotic value and artistic importance is drawing crowds at the Brandeis theater. The photoplay is an adaptation of Mr. Gerard's book of the same title and owing to the elaborate care exercised in casting and production in every detail, the narrative becomes intensely dramatic when acted on the screen.

Empress—Everybody is interested in the land relationship evoked in the present war by the British army adapting the American Caterpillar Tractor to war needs. "Our Allies—The Tanks," an interesting photoplay, showing the tanks in action with the American army, giving a complete demonstration of the uses to which these fearsome engines of war are put at the western front, will be shown at the Empress theater as a special feature for the last three days of the week, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The bill includes a Metro photoplay, "The Landloper," featuring Harold Lockwood and a Harold Lloyd comedy.

Hipp—Lillian West, Henry King and Margaret Nichols will be shown here today in "The Power of Evil." The story is a replete with unusual and sensational moments. Other good pictures including a comedy will also be shown on Friday and Saturday comes Jewel Carmen in a William Fox play "The Bride of Fear."

Apollo—Mary Pickford in "Amarilly of Cloveline Alley" will be offered at this theater today and Friday. Mary is this time a scrubwoman in "Cloveline Alley" and in love with a bartender and a millionaire. The manner in which she makes her choice forms the basis of an interesting photoplay. Saturday comes Ethel Clayton in "The Witch Woman."

Suburban—Ann Pennington in a Paramount picture "Sunshine Nan" will be the attraction at this theater today. It is based on the story of "The Sun" and tells a human interest story. The trouble that is always brewing between the rich children and the poor, is here told and the cast of supporting players all come in for their share of the honors. Friday will be William S. Hart in "The Patriot."

Lothrop—Alice Brady in "The Knife" will be featured at this theater today. It discusses the problem of whether or not criminals should be operated on in the hopes that they will then become decent respectable citizens. Friday and Saturday will be William Farnum in the William Fox super de luxe play "When a Man Sees Red."

Hamilton—The William Fox kiddies will hold forth at this theater today in "Treasure Island." It is a screen adaptation of the famous story by Robert Louis Stevenson and it is said that the producing company spared neither time nor expense in making it a notable production. A Mutt and Jeff comedy will also be on the bill. Friday comes Jack Pickford in a Paramount Arcturay play "Tom and Huck."

Alhambra—William Duncan will be featured at this theater today in "The Sea Panther," a gripping story of the sea, that provides the star, Marguerite Clark in the Friday Matinee picture "The Fortunes of Fifi." Saturday Gladys Brockwell in "The Devil's Wheel," and the Heart-Path picture.

Robb—Mary Miles Minter in "Powers That Prey" will be offered in the picture at this theater today. It is a story of newspaper life, how a young girl uncovered a crooked political gang, led by Edith Good.

Grand—June Caprice will hold forth here today in the William Fox play "The Camouflage King." It is the story of a man who had proposed to a girl and not having had the nerve to kiss her hired a friend to do it for him. The friend, however, was all right until he discovered the camouflage. Friday Marguerite Clark in "Still Waters." Saturday, Olive Tell in "The Girl and the Judge."

Ideal—Jack Pickford and Louise Huff will be offered here today in "The Ghost House," a delightful romance of youth and love. Friday comes Mary Pickford in her Paramount Arcturay picture "Rebecca," of Paramount Park, adapted from the book and stage play of the same name. Saturday, Ewart Overton in "The Best of Both Worlds" and the 15th chapter of "The Fighting Trail."

Hippodrome—Douglas Fairbanks is here today in a Triangle picture "Reggie Mixes."

SPENT MORE THAN $1,100 TRYING TO SECURE RELIEF

Nothing Did Him Any Good Until He Took Tanlac—In Fine Shape Now. "When I started on Tanlac I had rheumatism so bad that it kept me in bed for days at a time," said James A. Cornett, of 3356 Grand avenue, the other day. "The fact is," he continued, "I had not been a well man in fifteen years and not long ago I spent over eleven hundred dollars trying to get well, but never found a thing to relieve me till I got hold of Tanlac. My appetite was all off and my stomach got so weak that for three years I lived on nothing but milk and a light cereal. I was constipated nearly all the time and my head ached constantly. Dizzy spells would come on when I'd get so weak and exhausted I could hardly walk. Rheumatism got its grip on me and my shoulders, hips and knees would ache so at times that I just had to give up and take to my bed. I fell off twenty-five pounds and had so little strength and energy left that I wasn't fit to do a lick of work. "I heard so much about the good Tanlac was doing that I got me a bottle, and actually, before I had used up half of it my appetite picked up and I would get so hungry I could hardly wait for meal time to come. I kept on with Tanlac for some time and my nerves soon quieted down, I am not constipated any more and all those aches and pains that I suffered from for so long completely disappeared and I have begun to take on weight. Tanlac has certainly straightened me out something wonderful and I am now feeling strong enough to go back to work again." Tanlac is sold in Omaha by Sherman & McConnell Drug Company, corner 16th and Dodge streets; Owl Drug Co., 16th and Harney streets; Harvard Pharmacy, 24th and Farnam streets; Northeast corner 19th and Farnam streets, and West End Pharmacy, 49th and Dodge streets, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Adv.
