GERMAN LINES BENT BACK AT 4 POINTS

Germans Show But Little of Habitual Fighting Spirit Under Vigorous Blows by Allied Armies. Striking viciously at the enemy at various points along the western battle front...

With the knowledge that the passing of each day brings new American legions to help crush the next German offensive the allies are finding satisfaction in the fact that the Germans have as yet been unable to launch a new blow in the struggle which Berlin had expected to be the decisive one of the war.

The attack by the French near Loere, on the northern side of the Lys salient, and of the Australians before Amiens appear to have been more successful than was at first understood. Near Loere the French have not only taken strongly fortified points, but they have made secure their lines on each side of Hill 44, which they recaptured from the Germans recently.

The French, still seem to be the most active of the forces of the entente nations. They again have engaged in raiding operations near Lassigny, on the flank of the German line as it stands since the advance toward Amiens.

On the American front there has been the usual lively exchange of artillery fire, but no infantry fighting. The same is true of the situation in the Italian theater.

A report from Athens states that Turkish troops in Asia Minor have mutinied and that a force sent to quell the disorder has deserted. It is said that there have been many desertions from the Turkish garrisons in towns along the Asia Minor coast.

MAIL PILOTS BATTLE WITH WIND AND RAIN

Washington, May 21.—Airplane mail pilots today had their first battles against storms. Soon after leaving Belmont field, Long Island, Lieutenant Bonsal ran into an electrical disturbance, wind and rain and was forced to return, the mail being forwarded by train.

OMAHA REACHES $50,000 IN GREAT RED CROSS DRIVE

Nebraska Reports Half Million Dollars in Hand, While Many Counties Are Giving Over Quota.

Omaha and Nebraska are continuing the liberality shown in former drives for war funds in the second Red Cross campaign. No fear is felt by the directors but that the quota assigned will be over-subscribed.

Large cash subscriptions from firms and individuals total more than $50,000, one-fourth of the Omaha quota. The campaign will be carried to every individual in Omaha and as the smaller subscriptions pour in no doubt is expressed for the success of the drive.

Counties in the state already are reporting over-subscriptions, with the drive just starting. Cash subscriptions received at the state headquarters now equal one-half of the state quota of $1,300,000. As the pledges are tabulated the totals will rapidly pass the quota assigned.

Everett Buckingham, chairman of the Red Cross war fund committee for Omaha, late Tuesday night announced a list of the larger contributions of Omaha firms and individuals. "These contributions are only samples of what are yet to come," said Mr. Buckingham. The larger cash contributions for the first two days of the drive are as follows:

GRACE LUSK TO TELL HER STORY TODAY

Woman's Letter, Frankly Relating Her Relations With Dr. Roberts Completes Evidence for State.

Waukesha, Wis., May 21.—Grace Lusk will take the witness stand tomorrow to reveal every detail of her relations with Dr. David Roberts at her trial for slaying his wife. This was announced by attorneys for the defense late today, after the prosecution had completed the presentation of its evidence against Miss Lusk. Her story is expected to be a flat denial of Dr. Roberts' statement that she pursued him with the object of wrecking his home.

Letter by Miss Lusk. "When your husband first came to me, it was for business," the letter read, "at least, that was his excuse. He did all of the pursuing. I thought it was all quite a good joke, and, in fact, it would never have occurred to me to take the situation seriously if one night at the Baptist church affair you had not come up to us when we were talking in the most innocent fashion imaginable and rushed him away. You did not do it in a courteous manner--well, not rather. I vowed thereupon to get even with your discourtesy, and I have. Only I have hurt myself in doing so."

Several other letters found in the little desk, some of them covered with brownish stains, indicating that Miss Lusk had handled them after she had killed Mrs. Roberts and shot herself, also were read. One headed, "Explanation," declared: "Oh, I am so sorry that all this has happened. Yet I had rather have had this experience, painful as it has been, than to have gone through life without knowing what love can mean. I can't honestly believe I have been sinful. The only reason has been in not telling Mrs. R. I always wanted to tell her, but I was afraid. Oh, well, it soon will be over."

Another letter, which was marked, "Open in case of accident only," gave directions for her funeral, which she desired to be without "much fuss." She also directed that she be dressed in the little new gray frock, which she wrote would "be ready for my last party."

Dr. Roberts was recalled to the witness stand for cross-examination by the defense early in the morning session to answer a series of questions regarding the defendant's mental condition. He testified that she appeared normal except when she was angry, when she occasionally lost control of herself.

Former Nebraskan Wires Graphic Description of Battle Where Unseen Guns Roar.

Colonel William Hayward, well known in Nebraska and son of the late Senator M. L. Hayward, formerly residing in Nebraska City, is now in command of the 369th United States infantry "somewhere in France." The following graphic description of American soldier life in the trenches is taken from a letter addressed to his uncle, Major E. B. Hayward of Davenport, Ia., whom Colonel Hayward asked to distribute copies to his friends:

By COLONEL WM. HAYWARD. Headquarters 368th United States Infantry in France, April 12.—"This letter is principally to say that the 'Fighting 15th Heavy Ethiopian Foot' (New 369th United States infantry) is at last in the trenches, and what is more to the point, in the front line trenches, and has had his baptism of fire, at least one battalion of it is and has, and the battalions are successively rotating each other in our tiny sector, when considered as part of the great battle front from Switzerland to the sea, but by no means tiny when the responsibility of holding it is contemplated. Of course, I was under fire a couple of weeks ago with about a hundred of the men up north, but it was long range stuff, and not much to it."

"I put the Brooklyn battalion, commanded by Major Morris, in night before last. I have often told these boys I would never ask them to go anywhere I did not go myself, so I went up to spy out the ground and get our last instructions. This regiment has broken so many records that I hoped we might go into the trenches by sunlight on a clear day and thus prove all the stories told previously of outfits going in the drizzling rain, etc., did not necessarily describe the universal situation. But not at all. We left the regimental camp in the conventional drizzle, the rain being driven in our faces by a very raw north wind, and went sloshing up the road toward the big noises and big flashes. We camped the night before and made final preparations. These consisted of baths and clean clothes for all the men, as well as hair cuts, to make the gas masks fit tighter, and also to deprive Friend 'Toto' (our boys say 'Sean Squirells') as much as possible of any of their favorite roosting (Continued on Page Five, Column One.)

Director General Will Appoint Federal Director for Each Line, Responsible Only to Administration.

Washington, May 21.—Every railroad president was relieved from active duty as executive manager of his road today by Director General McAdoo, who will appoint a federal director for each road, responsible only to the railroad administration. In many cases the president of the railroad may be named federal director. To safeguard the interests of stockholders and maintain the individuality of each railway, federal directors, whenever possible, will be appointed from among the operating officers of the property, the director general announced. This will avoid disrupting any road's working organization unnecessarily.

Creates Two New Districts

As another step in the reorganization of railroad management, the director general ordered the creation of two new operating districts—the Allegheny region, consisting of the principal trunk lines east of Pittsburgh, excluding the New York Central, managed by C. H. Markham, now regional director for the south, and the Pocahontas district, consisting of the east and west trunk lines terminating at Hampton Roads.

Regional directors for the Pocahontas district and for the southern district to succeed Mr. Markham will be appointed soon. A. H. Smith of New York will continue to act as regional director for that part of the east not included in the new Allegheny district, and district directors will be named to serve under him as supervisors of roads in New England, and for the section between Pittsburgh and the Mississippi river, and north of the Ohio river.

Failed to Obey Orders

The first act of the director-general today in executing this new policy was the removal of C. W. Huntington, president of the Virginian railway, as chief operating officer, on the charge that he failed to carry out promptly the railroad administration's instructions regarding the repair and maintenance of his line.

Salaries Will Be Reduced

Consequently their salaries will be paid by the government, and they can receive no pay from the railway corporation. As an indication of what salaries they may expect, it became known tonight that most of Mr. McAdoo's principal assistants of the railroad administration will receive no more than $15,000 a year.

Four Dead and 50 Injured in and Around Boone; Toll of Ten Taken in Kansas.

Des Moines, May 21.—Tornadoes in central Iowa late today caused the death of at least seven persons and injured approximately 65 others, reports received here late tonight showed. Property damage was estimated at $750,000.

The casualty list, incomplete at midnight, gave four dead at Boone and 50 injured; two dead at Newton, and one killed and two injured near Denison.

While the storm area extended from Denison, Crawford county, east about 150 miles through Jasper county, serious damage was reported only in the district near Denison, Boone and Newton counties, although details from some sections were lacking because of crippled wire communication.

PROPERTY LOSS $500,000. Boone was most seriously affected. Property damage in the city is estimated near $225,000, while the loss in the surrounding country will bring the total to $500,000, it is feared. Newton's loss exceeded $100,000, principally born by three washing machine manufacturers there.

Newton, Denison, Emmet Fling was killed when a farm building crumpled upon him and two others were hurt, one seriously. The farm residence of Frank Houlihan was entirely demolished, but a newborn baby and its mother escaped unscathed.
