Women Report Large Sums for Red Cross

Among the biggest donations recorded Wednesday by the woman's division for the Red Cross fund drive is the $6,000 donation reported by Mrs. William Hoagland, which came through All Saints church. George Hoagland gave $5,000 of it and the other $1,000 was presented by the Hoagland Lumber company.

Mrs. Tyler Belt realized $1,000 from her booth in the First National bank. From the Red Cross Public shop $1,200 was turned in. St. Francis parish, of which Rev. M. F. Gluba is pastor, gave $1,371 through its chairman, Miss Bernice Wazykiewicz.

Mrs. F. A. Nash, in charge of the booth in Kilpatrick's store, reported a $250 subscription taken by C. W. Hull. Mrs. J. E. Davidson, in charge of the booths in the stores, reported $6,298 on Monday and $5,778 for Tuesday. Miss Daphne Peters made $37 from the vaudeville program given on the street during the noon hour Tuesday.

Subscriptions from business firms are: Loose-Wiles company, $500; Mo-line Flow company, $150; McGraw company, $250.

A man from out of town who is a guest at the Fontenelle gave a pair of child's rubber boots which he asked be sold and the money given to the drive. The porter at the same place presented the workers with a fat green turtle.

Motor Corps of Service League Drives Belgians

Lieutenant (Mrs.) O. S. Goodrich commanded a corps of 14 motor drivers of the National League for Woman's Service who drove the cars for the visiting Belgian soldiers. The service league car headed this section of the parade. The corps included Mrs. H. G. Jordan, Mrs. Samuel Burns, Mrs. Gladys Rhodes, Miss Isabel Shukert, Miss Orra Ambler, Mrs. E. T. Manning, Miss Pauline Green, Miss Ada Riedelberg, Miss Edna Clarke, Mrs. Harry Montgomery, Miss Francis Nieman, Miss Ellen Green and Miss Anna Granbeck.

The National League for Woman's Service will furnish a post band for Fort Omaha. Captain A. A. Wedemeyer will organize the band and the women will furnish the equipment.

At the board meeting Tuesday directors voted to subscribe for six scientific magazines for Fort Omaha. These magazines are Aerial Age, Air Service Journal, Popular Science, Scientific American and Scientific American Supplement and Wireless Age.

GIVES CLUB ROOM.

Through the kindness of Mrs. George A. Joslyn Omaha Campfire Girls will have for their headquarters a room in the Patterson block, which was formerly the Boy Scout headquarters. Mrs. Joslyn has donated the room for an indefinite space of time, the only expense incurred by the girls arising from a few necessary repairs.

The room has been called "Omahaqua," the "Campfire." Mrs. W. T. Moore, chairman of the Guardians' association, will be in charge every Tuesday and Thursday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock and all day on Saturdays.

SELLS BOXES FOR RED CROSS.

Mrs. Lee Huff, chairman for auxiliaries for the Red Cross drive, has an attractive way of raising money for the drive. She is selling boxes for the opening night of the new Rialto, which will take place May 30.

Arthur Rothschild bought the first box for $50. W. L. Reed paid $50 for the second. Mrs. Huff hopes to sell the remaining 20 before the end of the week.

DANCE FOR SOLDIERS.

A little club of girls, who call themselves the "I Will" club, are giving a series of dances at the pavilion in Hanson park and 50 couples attended the party given Tuesday evening at the park. Miss Nell Ryan is sponsor for the dances and the men from the balloon school at Fort Omaha are honor guests.

WORK FOR RED CROSS.

Mrs. Luther Kountze entertained members of the Original Cooking club at luncheon at her home today. The afternoon was spent rolling bandages for the Red Cross.

The state office has received the following telegram from national headquarters:

"Law making it legal for national banks to contribute to Red Cross passed last night. In some states this also will give state institutions similar right. The passing of this law removes any obstacles that might have prevented contributions coming to Red Cross from banks."

President and Mrs. Wilson have given two pounds of wool from the White House sheep to Governor Neville of this state, which wool is to be auctioned for the benefit of Red Cross. Governor Neville will probably announce within a very few days the system he will follow in disposing of this wool for the benefit of Red Cross.

In reply to telegram from Dean Cutter, who is at Crofton, Neb., in response to call sent the state office for assistance on account of the serious tornado, Miss Blanche Fuller sent two additional nurses to Crofton Tuesday.

Mrs. Hazel Smith Eldridge and Miss Madge West played the violin at the impromptu vaudeville presented by Red Cross workers at the corner of Farnam and Sixteenth street at the noon hour. Miss Daphne Peters was in charge of the affair.

Totals for Tuesday for Red Cross donations from the Catholic churches amounted to $8,278.83.

At a dance recently given in De Luxe hall $200 was realized for the Red Cross, which will be given through the Public shop. Burgess-Nash company employees gave $134 after subscribing through the churches.

Mrs. Miriam Patterson Boyce and a number of her friends will be stationed at Getten & Wickham's cigar store Saturday. They will wait on the customers for the smokes and soft drinks and take Red Cross subscriptions.

St. John's auxiliary donation amounted to $14,591.30 at noon. The subscriptions taken in at the theaters and streets on Wednesday evening lacked $2 of reaching the $1,000 mark.

The Red Cross auxiliary at Elkhorn reported to Mrs. Lee Huff that it had $172.33, but had no way to send it in. Mrs. Huff drove to Elkhorn after the subscription. The Happy Hour auxiliary of Valley, Neb., consisting of 40 members, gave $40.

Mrs. Z. T. Lindsey, state director Woman's service, assisted by Mrs. A. L. Reed, have made out quotas covering hospital supplies, comfort kits and garments and refugee garments. These have been forwarded to central division headquarters at Chicago for approval.

A Quicker Victory

The present food problem in a nutshell is a matter of ships. The allies now have to be fed in large measure from across seas. There seem to be several markets from which they could draw: Australia, the east, South America, the United States and Canada.

"Why, then," complain the unthinking, "ask the people of the United States and Canada to upset their eating habits of years, to scrimp and save, if Australia's wharves are loaded with food stores waiting to be transported to the war-ridden territories?"

This is the answer: It takes a ship three times as long to carry food from Australia and twice as long from South American ports, to say nothing of added exposure to the dangers of the submarine. The north Atlantic lane is both safer and shorter.

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX.
Red Hair.

Dear Miss Fairfax, Omaha Bee: Would you kindly tell me of something that will give a bright or a reddish tinge to my hair. It is fluffy and slightly wavy, but the ugliest drab color, and others have often asked me why I didn't wash it in something to give it a reddish color, as it would be becoming. Also, could you tell me of some becoming way to arrange my hair, as my face is slender and my nose rather prominent? I now arrange it rather low on my neck and brought back loosely over my head, but I am so tired of it that way, I am 20.

Please tell me your opinion of a girl marrying a man about to enlist. I am self-supporting and could continue to support myself, so it is not of advantage to me, but he wants to be married and I would like to for his sake, but my folks and my friends have expressed themselves a number of times as thinking a girl is foolish who marries a man in the army. I am quite sure my affection would not change.

Another question: Is there anything that can be taken without dieting to help one gain flesh? I seem to be in good health and have a splendid appetite, but I am very thin. I also get plenty of sleep.

You do give such sensible advice, so I hope you will advise me. Do you think a year's difference in a man and woman's age, when the woman is the older, is any reason why they should not marry? I have a girl friend who hesitates on this account.

Henna will make you hair red, but I would not advise you to apply it yourself. Go to a professional hairdresser and ask her opinion before you attempt to change the color of your hair. A great many people have the hairdresser give the hair a "henna rinse" after a shampoo, as this gives a reddish tinge to the hair, but does not give it that mahogany shade which is so ugly. Have you tried brushing your hair well before retiring? The magic "hundred strokes" with a stiff brush will do much to give your hair more life and color.

Why not arrange your hair in a soft pompadour with one large roll at the back? Or, you might part it on the side with a low knot at the back.

This question of marrying an army man is a grave one. As you are self-supporting it seems that you have much in your favor. To my mind the supreme question is just whether you care enough to be true through the weary months of separation and if your love would stand the test of supporting a man who might be incapacitated.

Plenty of wholesome food is the best way to gain flesh. Drink as much milk as possible, from one to two quarts a day, and I feel sure you will gain in weight if you persist for several months.

I do not think that the difference of a few years in age need make any difference to a man and woman.

Don't Deceive Him.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am in love with a man who I believe reciprocates my feelings. He is wealthy, and is under the impression that I am also. Our family consists of six, my father earning about $65 per week, while I make $16.

I would like to know whether it would be advisable for me to reveal my true station to this man. I fear attempting anything of this nature, for I am quite sure I would lose him if he knew I was poor. M. R.

If you can only win the man's love by deceiving him, and if you feel that his interest in you would cease if he were to know that you are a poor girl, you are pretty uncertain as to the basis of his feelings, and you know in your heart that he is not sincere and that the slightest difficulty would make him cease caring for you.

Norfolk Shirtwaist

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD

A SHIRTWAIST modeled after a Norfolk jacket has a chance to be distinctive in this frock of novelty pique, in thin crossed-barred weave. A yoked skirt repeats the plaits of the waist and is fastened with white pearl buttons. The yoke should be lined if the frock is developed in thin material. Plaid or plain groundingham will furnish an effective material for the construction of this simple but stylish dress.

Just be true to yourself—don't deceive him. Let the man realize that you are simple, honest folk with fine ideals and a beautiful home life, that is infinitely more important than mere money. If he is a man of good caliber and fine principles all this will appeal to him—not repel him. And in any event, from a practical point of view, you probably couldn't deceive him for long anyhow.

In a new million-dollar hotel just opened in Baltimore a woman presides behind the desk to welcome the arriving and speed the departing guest.
