"Graustark," Heroine Namesake of Colonel Pickering's Daughter

Can't you remember the days when you sat all curled up in a big chair eagerly turning the pages of that thrilling novel, "Graustark?" What would that dashing American hero do next? Would he win the lovely princess or not? Heavens, they have him in a dungeon while she languishes in the palace, her every movement watched.

The beautiful golden-haired heroine—where, oh where did the versatile author, George Barr McCutcheon, find her? Was she a real girl or just a lady of fiction?

And her name—didn't you love to say it? "Yetteve," it breathed of "days of old when knights were bold," and yet Mellificia will tell you that the real "Yetteve" lived in busy, bustling Chicago, far away from the land where kings and queens loved and lived. She was the childhood friend of Mr. McCutcheon and his brother, John, the famous cartoonist. Her name was Yetteve Pickering, daughter of Colonel Pickering, now commandant at Fort Crook.

Colonel Pickering was stationed at Chicago during the world's fair and the Pickering's were close friends of the McCutcheons and also of George Ade. Mrs. S. C. Mahin, another daughter of Colonel Pickering, who is now living at the fort with her two daughters, Margaret and Anne, also enjoyed the good times with the McCutcheon boys, and the girl who was picked up from her every-day existence and whisked into fiction as the lovely lady in "Graustark" is now living at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where her husband, Colonel Smith, is stationed.

At the colonel's quarters is one book prized above all others, for Mrs. Smith received from the author an autographed copy of the novel in which she starred, the first one off the press.

MILITARY BETHROTHALS.

Mrs. Lottie D. Ley of Denison, Ia., announced the engagement of her daughter, Delia Verne Stocking, to Lieutenant J. Frank Meade at a beautifully appointed luncheon at her home in Denison Monday, May 13. The wedding plans are indefinite.

Miss Stocking is a graduate of the Nebraska university and a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Lieutenant Meade, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Meade of this city, is also a Nebraska university graduate and a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is now stationed at Fort Snelling in the 36th United States Machine Gun company.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Whitmore of Valley announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth, to Lieutenant Willard M. Folsom of Lincoln. The wedding will take place June 15.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

George A. Custer Woman's Relief corps will meet at Thirty-fourth and Farham streets, Sunday at 10:30 o'clock, from there to march in a body to the First Presbyterian church for memorial services.

HONOR BRIDE-ELECT.

Pre-nuptial affairs are filling every day for Miss Ovella Squires, whose engagement to Lieutenant Herbert G. Hoffman was recently announced. Mrs. T. K. Walsh entertained at luncheon at the Blackstone Thursday for Miss Squires, when nine guests were seated about the luncheon table, with its dainty decoration of sweet peas. Mrs. C. H. Cady will give a linen shower for Miss Squires at her home on Monday evening, a luncheon is being planned by Miss Bird Craig for Tuesday, and Wednesday Miss Squires will be showered with silk hose at the home of Mrs. William Madden, who is giving the affair with Miss Genevieve Dennison.

The Misses Lucile Blanche McCreary are entertaining at an afternoon tea at their home Thursday for the bride-to-be.

DANCING CLASSES.

Willard Chambers announces he will conduct classes in ballet work on Saturday mornings all summer at his studio for girls from 9 to 15 years and Saturday afternoons, for those between the ages of 4 and 8 years. A class for women will be held Friday evening and Monday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, regular assemblies.

Personals

Mrs. Charles T. Kountze has returned from a few days' visit in Des Moines.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Stewart 2d are expected home Saturday from Excelsior Springs.

Mrs. O. T. Eastman, returned Thursday evening from Chicago.

Mrs. John Lionberger, who underwent an operation a week or two ago, is able to be out.

My Hat Diary —BY— Carita Herzog

Oh dear! I just hate receptions, but mother coaxed me into going last night and really I'm not sorry, because I got a wonderful idea how to have my new hat made. Letty Green had on the stunningest hat. It was very large and turned down all the way around. The crown was made of striped satin, of black and white, and the brim plain black satin. An adorable little black and white ornament was right in front. Really it was very clever.

War to Teach Reclamation Of Disabled

The reclamation of the energies of all the disabled of the nation may be taught by the exigencies of war, according to Major Harry E. Mock, M. R. C., who in addressing the National League of American Pen women, said:

"There are in the United States 600,000 persons who have been disabled in industries—probably more than the total number of soldiers who will be disabled through this war—yet neither government nor industry has hitherto made thorough effort to reclaim their energy. That is a great lesson this war has taught us, and when we have won it we will find that, through deaths, a cessation of immigration, and other causes, we shall face a great shortage in the labor market. We shall then turn our attention to the reclamation of all the disabled, and thus our country will profit by the labor of all her sons and daughters."

The Indian women of Bolivia are usually superior to their lords in both energy and intelligence.

McGill university, Montreal, has decided to admit women to the study of medicine and dentistry.

Belgian Heroes Rip Off Brass Buttons For Omaha Girls

"Can you read French?" "What did he mean when he said, 'tres jolie?'" With a perfect barrage fire of these questions the French and Belgian heroes of the war had the time of their lives at the depot Thursday evening with a bevy of blue-veiled Red Cross canteen girls hovering around them. When they couldn't talk, they smiled, and many a souvenir did they leave behind. Brass buttons were ripped off uniforms with sturdy jack knives and dropped into the pretty palm of Miss Omaha, who remembered enough of her college French to say, "merci, beaucoup."

Miss Mona Cowell was deeply engaged in conversation with a fierce-looking warrior who proudly wore the skull and crossbones medal given by Kerensky, testifying to the fact that he belongs to the famous Legion of Death. When it was explained to this trenchman that the pretty girl who was standing by his side would sail for France to do canteen work, his face lighted up, and putting out his hand he congratulated her in his best French and complimented her on her willingness to do such a big part "over there."

Miss Gertrude Kountze, in her military cap, was quite the belle of the occasion, and she is the proud possessor of a photograph of one of the men, to say nothing of numbers of addresses and brass buttons galore.

"All aboard!" was heard, and the men and girls realized that "an revoir" time had come. The attractive canteen workers scrambled up on a huge truck standing by the tracks and there they stood, waving goodbye and smiling "God speed" until the train vanished around the curve, bearing its load of smiling, waving soldiers, their hearts gladdened by the wonderful reception tendered them in the Gate City.

Using Tough Ends of Asparagus

If a vote were taken for the favorite spring vegetable, asparagus would easily win the day. It has every good food quality, besides being so delicious. In these days we can't afford to waste the least bit of such a delicacy, so when preparing it for the table cut off at least half of the tougher end. Asparagus must be prepared in the kitchen with care to produce the best results. It should always be cooked in enameled ware, as it darkens upon contact with metal and easily loses its delightful flavor. Place the tips in an enameled ware saucepan, cover with boiling water, and cook them until tender. Save the water in which the asparagus was cooked, add to it the portion of the stalks which were cut off at first and cook these for half an hour. Strain out the stalks, thicken the bouillon with arrowroot or cornstarch (we are trying to save flour), add a little rich milk or cream and there is a delicious asparagus blanc to help out a war luncheon or supper.

The electric light company of Visalia, Cal., has employed women as meter readers.

Young Omahan in First Tank Company Writes Of France in Outlook

Hawthorne Daniel, a former Omaha man, and member of The Bee staff, has written an article on France, which appeared in the Outlook during the last two weeks. In an English class at Wellesley college not long ago this article was recommended to the members of the class as the most authentic description of France yet written.

What a coincidence that an Omaha girl, Miss Eleanor Carpenter, should be in the class when the instructor referred to the article by an Omaha man!

Mr. Daniel, who is the brother of Mrs. John Lionberger and Mr. Herbert Daniel, has been associated editor of "World's Work" for some time and has now enlisted in one of the first American tank companies to be formed. He is in New York awaiting his call.

The young Omahan has spent much time abroad, and was a frequent guest of the Vincent Astors in London. The Astors wrote a number of their prominent friends in New York and on Mr. Daniel's return they literally opened their hearts and homes to him.

Keep your eye on Your Uncle Fuller. We may astonish the natives by and by on this method of foolish merchandising.

WE ARE REJOICED TO FIND HOOVER, THE CHEMISTS AND LEADING FOOD SPECIALISTS IN ACCORD WITH OUR IDEAS ON THE FOOD VALUE OF CANDY.

Food Value Chart No. 13, Page 11, contains these words: "It is a well known fact of common knowledge that Nuts are very high in food value, those used principally in manufacturing confectionery being almonds, filberts, pecans, peanuts and walnuts, averaging approximately 1,500 Calories per pound." Again: "Scientists have demonstrated by careful experiments that during violent exercise or exhausting labor, that the sugar in the blood is heavily drawn on to supply the body with the necessary fuel, hence the longing for "something sweet" which can be readily assimilated." You might think you were listening to an extract from a letter from one of our boys "Over Yon" about "Cobb's"—we have many such in our files. Brigadier General L. W. Waller of the United States Marine Corps, referring to the food value of chocolate, says: "I never went into a campaign without my chocolate. MEN FIGHT LIKE THE DEVIL ON CHOCOLATE. IT IS PARTICULARLY GOOD IN HOT WEATHER." WONDER IF HE WAS REFERRING TO COBB'S? COBB'S CANDY threatens to make Omaha famous. Telephone Douglas 51 if you cannot come down Saturday. Say COBB'S, PLEASE.
