Columbian School Pastes Kaiser in Face

For the Red Cross "Paste the kaiser in the face! Only 5 cents to paste him in the face!"

This is the slogan Columbian school pupils have adopted to raise money for the Red Cross. They not only have the slogan, but they put the deed into action.

Ensign Condit of the naval recruiting station started the game in Omaha last week by permitting each recruit to sign his name on a slip of paper and paste it on the kaiser's picture.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS CLASS.

Miss I. Olive Huntley has just finished a class in surgical dressings. The class included Mesdames Douglas Settle, J. Williams, C. Christoferson, M. G. Dakin, W. T. Graham, and Misses Ethel Pepper, Penelope Hamilton, Helen Dolan, Dorothy J. Imock, Kment, Lisetta Smith, Margaret Dolan, June Williams, Helen Weeden, Nell Baumer and Anna Jircus.

DARN FOR SOLDIERS.

Dundee Woman's Patriotic club members have named another "darning day," when the time will be spent mending socks for the soldiers at both posts.

Southern Girls Can Game And Seafood

Large quantities of meat, game, rabbits and sea food that formerly went to waste are now added to the food stocks of the country by southern girls, who are canning them according to methods taught by the Department of Agriculture.

Home canning of meats and fish and other sea foods has been especially emphasized. In the preserving of meats the importance of saving every part of the slaughtered animal for food has been taught.

Connecticut's Junior Food Army

Connecticut's junior food army of the committee of food supply promises to exceed the desired quota, according to the State Council of Defense.

Red Cross Chairman No. 19

MRS. O. W. HENDEE.

An enviable record for Red Cross work is held by Mrs. O. W. Hendee, who has never missed one meeting since her auxiliary, the Clifton Hill unit, was established in the early part of the war.

The workers meet Tuesdays in the parlors of the Clifton Hill church. They are 75 strong and have completed about 10,000 articles.

Inspired by her mother's good example, Miss Rhea Hendee, a student at Nebraska university, is taking a Red Cross course in surgical dressings and hospital garments.

Red Cross Auction and Vaudeville Tonight At the Henshaw

Rivalry is keen among the small groups of Red Cross workers who are staging the various features with which to extract donations, large and small, to bring Nebraska's quota to the required mark.

Women who have worked at the Henshaw hotel booth think they have absolutely the prize offering to give the public this evening.

After these footlight favorites repeat their professional acts and give some patriotic numbers, there will be a grand auction of a whole table full of beautiful gifts, including a hand-crocheted bedspread, a boudoir cap and a gold picture frame.

The usual cover charge of 25 cents a person will be given by the hotel. The workers will be costumed as Red Cross nurses.

Working Mothers Imperil Child Life

Infant mortality is closely related to women in industry, according to opinions of trained investigators, who are preparing to safeguard human life during the period of war-time demands on labor.

Dr. Jessica B. Peixotta, head of the department of child welfare of the woman's committee, Council of National Defense, believes that mothers should be kept in the homes as far as possible. She discourages day nurseries, because of the greater danger of contagion when many children are together and for the reason that nurses are temptingly ready to wean their children in order to enter wage-earning occupations.

"You can not save babies if you can not give mothers' advantages," Dr. Peixotta declared in discussing the conservation of child life at the conference of chairmen of the committee's department of women in industry.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge, who represented Connecticut at the conference, said that the day nursery is "an emergency expedient only justified by the nation's crisis."

Miss Grace Shaw, a comely Indian maid, is the elevator operator in a large office building in Reno, Nev.

Berries Plentiful Here; Big Boxes 25 to 30 Cents

The festive strawberry has reached the apex of its season's goodness as well as of its plentifulness. Now is the time to make it into pies, shortcake and other good things, care being exercised, of course, by all patriotic cooks to use as much near-flour as possible in the crust.

If it is desired to incorporate them into a fruit salad, there are various fruits now plentiful on the Omaha market which can be used. California cherries of the oxheart variety have already arrived. Pineapples, without which no respectable salad can be

The second Red Cross war fund hospital, nearing completion, at the corner of Farnam and Seventeenth streets, will be opened Saturday. Miss Marie Vernon will make sashettes for 25 cents a person.

Americans All

So varied in nationalities and mode of life is the East Side of New York City with its 600,000 inhabitants—Italians, Poles, Chinese, Russians, Greeks and a dozen other nationalities—that for them to have any one thing in common seems inconceivable.

In an article by Chloé Arnold in the Red Cross Magazine for June she has shown these people bound together by their interest in Red Cross work.

"Peasant women, in the gay shawls and gaudy jewelry of their native country, converse among themselves. While the picturesque casks from Serbia gives a strange air to what used to be a placid street in old Dutch Manhattan.

"At a first glance at the spirited life of the street, these people seem to have nothing in common with the rest of the country. But you understand that this is not a separate and alien civilization, when you see the service flags of coarsest bunting (looking somehow very luminous in the morning sunlight), the flags waving from the fire escapes, and the Red Crosses gleaming in the windows."

A course to fit women for tracers in engineers' offices will be given by the University of Michigan this summer.
