

ROAD BUILDING PLAN DISCUSSED BY COUNTY BOARD

Representatives of Chamber of Commerce, Auto Club and Other Bodies Confer With Officials.

Discussion of the proposed plans for road building in Douglas county was indulged in at some length Friday morning at a meeting of county commissioners and representatives of the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, Automobile club, Rotary club, Manufacturers' association and other commercial bodies.

No definite course of action was decided upon, the final decision being laid over until the regular meeting Saturday morning.

W. B. Cheek, speaking for the commercial organizations conferring with the county commissioners, offered to compromise and consent to the Center street project provided the committee's plan was accepted in its entirety otherwise.

Jake Sass of Sarpy county, advocated the building of Douglas county roads as near the southern border as possible, but the feasibility of Sarpy county connecting with the roads in whatever part of the state they may be located was given as reason enough for there being located in a more central region.

C. E. Childe, manager of the traffic bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, stated that all railroads are going to ask for an increase in local freight rates and that in all probability there will be some legislation soon to eliminate the handling of less than carload lots by the various roads. This, according to Mr. Childe, makes it imperative that the new roads be completed and maintained in a state of good repair to permit the marketing of farm products.

A resolution was offered by Commissioner McDonald proposing the acceptance of the committee's plan with the exception of the Dundee project, but the motion fell through without a second.

Eight Postoffice Inspectors Complete Their Errand Here

Eight postoffice inspectors out of the Kansas City division finished the annual inspection Friday of all departments in the Omaha postal building. Joe P. Johnston, inspector in charge of the Kansas City district, in which the Omaha postoffice is included, was present during the last day's check. The report of these inspectors is made first to the chief inspector of the district, who, in turn, submits the findings to the chief inspector of the United States in Washington. The reports are strictly confidential, not even the local authorities knowing the contents.

OFFICERS IN RAID ON OMAHA I. W. W.

Headquarters of Organization in City Surrounded by Officers and Number of Arrests Made.

Detectives late Friday raided headquarters of the Industrial Workers of the World, 1301 Douglas street, arrested 16 men and seized a quantity of pamphlets and literature as evidence.

Two men, who made their escape when the detectives swarmed into the building, later were captured at Douglas and Fourteenth streets.

The raid came like a bolt from the blue. Chief of Detectives Murphy gave orders at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon for a quiet mobilization of every detective in the police department.

Every Door Guarded,

Every door of the building where the Omaha Industrial Workers of the World hold their meetings was guarded by a plain clothes man before detectives closed in.

Charges of sedition in obstructing the general plans of the government will be placed against the prisoners, Murphy stated.

He had the men booked for investigation after they had attested their membership in the Industrial Workers of the World organization. The men were holding a business meeting when the authorities pounced down upon them.

The local Industrial Workers of the World branch is located in the second story and detectives drove the men to the street in single file.

The same place was raided last September and more than 50 members of the organization were arrested and given jail sentences.

Several Wear Buttons.

Several of those arrested wore buttons indicating membership in the Industrial Workers of the World organization. Upon the face of the buttons is pictured an "Industrial Worker of the World" behind bars.

"We're in for you; you're out for us" is lettered on the badge.

Detectives say a charge of disloyalty will be made against Frank Jewell, Twelfth and Dodge streets, alleged Industrial Worker of the World agitator, who was arrested upon advice from Sergeant R. Trammel of the local recruiting station. Sergeant Trammel declared Jewell attempted to restrain two young men from enlisting in the navy.

Admit Discouraging Youths.

"Sure I tried to keep them from joining the navy," Jewell commented.

According to recruiting officers, Jewell said that he "would serve 10 years in the penitentiary before anyone would force him into the army."

Federal authorities will file charges against Jewell.

Those arrested gave their names as R. E. Massey, Council Bluffs; John Rissman, 612 North Seventeenth street; W. Flogle, Davenport hotel; James Casper, Davenport hotel; J. Hazelwood, Fourteenth and Douglas; L. M. Ward, Council Bluffs; Harry Malloy, Davenport hotel; William An-

3 JUDGES NAMED TO APPRAISE GAS PLANT IN OMAHA

The Nebraska supreme court in Lincoln Friday named the three judges who will appraise the Omaha gas plant to be taken over by the city under special act of the legislature.

The board of appraisers include:

Judge George A. Day, Omaha, Fourth judicial district; Judge W. V. Allen, Madison, Ninth judicial district, and Judge E. E. Good, Wahoo, Fifth judicial district.

The Bee predicted it would be either Judge Day or Judge Troup of the equity bench.

Under the special act, these men will meet and agree what the purchase price of the plant shall be.

Judge Allen formerly was United States senator from Nebraska.

The clerk of the supreme court by mistake yesterday afternoon gave out the name of Judge J. R. Hanna, Eleventh judicial district, instead of Judge Good. The mistake was not discovered until after the Bee had printed the name of Judge Hanna.

The Kountze place churches will hold union prayer services from 8:30 to 9:30 on the morning of Decoration day at First United Presbyterian church, at Twenty-first and Emmett street. Rev. H. G. Langley will lead the service.

Dr. B. Z. Mosinsolm to Lecture At Israel Synagogue Sunday

Dr. Ben Zion Mosinsolm, a renowned writer and lecturer, will make an address at B'nai Israel synagogue, Eighteenth and Chicago streets, next Sunday night. He is touring the country on behalf of the Federation of American Zionists. He will present the attitude of the Jewish people toward Palestine.

Lake View Park Opens Sunday.

Lovers of fun, music and dancing should not miss the opening of Lakeview park, which is scheduled to take place Sunday. Carl Lamp needs no introduction, but it may be interesting to know that his role of leader of the Lakeview jazz band is a happy one and as the director of the dance palace harmonists affords a legitimate and consistent reason for his daily appearance at this mammoth garden.

Mr. Lamp's appearance on the platform is usually the cause of an outburst of applause.
