

OMAHA LAD MAKES 50,000-MILE TOUR OF SIGHT-SEEING

Frank L. Foglesong Visits Every State in Union on Year-Long Journey of Adventure.

Fifty thousand miles of sight-seeing and adventure came to an end Saturday morning when Frank L. Foglesong, 16-year-old son of Mrs. John Tipton, Fiftieth and Q streets, stepped from the Oregon limited at the Union Station, Omaha, exactly one year from the day he departed on his long trip, which included every state in the Union.

Before departing young Foglesong had carefully planned his journey, traveling northwest from Omaha to Vancouver, B. C., via Yellowstone Park, returning east by way of the Canadian Rockies, crossing the northern states as far as Maine from where he traveled south along the east coast to the Carolinas, returning through the middle west and then south to Florida. From Florida his trip included many points of interest along the border, bringing him finally to Los Angeles, where he spent several months in the employ of the Universal Film Co.

Impressed by New York. Hiking along the New England coast, cotton picking in Georgia, trout fishing in Idaho, coon hunting in Arkansas, deer hunting in Texas and an overnight trip in a fishing smack on the Pacific were among Foglesong's many adventures.

"New York impressed me as being the busiest city in the country," remarked Foglesong, "and I was particularly interested in the tremendous size of the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. Why even the finger of the statue is large enough for 12 people to stand on," he said. "Yellowstone Park was the most interesting of any of the places I visited and from a scenic view point I believe it is the most wonderful sight in the United States."

Visita Training Camps. "As far as records indicate I have visited every training camp and aviation field in the United States and also saw the German prisoners at the detention camp in Hot Springs, N. C. The splendid care, good food and plenty of reading matter at this camp impressed me very much. The Germans were playing ball the day I visited the camp."

A trip on the Yale, which has since been converted into a U. S. transport, between Frisco and San Diego was also enjoyed. Neither accident or sickness marred Foglesong's journey and he returned to Omaha with an added 30 pounds of voirdupois and a scarlet tinge in his cheeks indicating that considerable of his year's globe trotting was spent in the open. Portland, Ore., was the last city visited before he returned to Omaha. Young Foglesong, who was graduated from the Long public school last year, will attend the Commercial high school.

Shipment of Carload Lots of Poultry Permitted

Between June 1 and September 15 licensees dealing in poultry and eggs will be permitted to make carload shipments of dressed poultry or eggs or mixed cars of butter, eggs and poultry in carlots of not less than 20,000 pounds.

Announcement of this regulation was made yesterday by Gurdon W. Wattles, federal food administrator for Nebraska, upon advice from Washington.

EVERY ON STAND SAYS FACULTY IS SLOW TO CHANGE to go to war instead of the young, as the latter could better perpetuate the race, if they remained at home.

Willing to Do Duty.

Take it all around the chancellor said he believed Dr. Luckey was willing to do what he could to help the country in the war and was willing to do his duty.

Chancellor Avery said in answer to a question, that he disliked to say anything regarding a colleague, but in this case he would answer all questions. Chancellor Avery said that at the time of the arrangements for the semi-centennial of the state Prof. Persinger had objected very strenuously to having Mr. Roosevelt as speaker of the day. That was the only time he had ever talked with Prof. Persinger on patriotic matters and he did not know whether he was disloyal. He said he had heard some comment regarding Prof. Grumann but he had heard the professor say after war was declared that, "Well, we are in it now and there is nothing else to do but see the country through." He had congratulated the professor on his statement and asked him if it would not be well to make the statement public. He had understood that Prof. Grumann had said before war was declared that "as between Germany and its opponents, particularly Russia, he was for Germany."

However Persinger had later stated that if Belgium was invaded without just grounds he was against Germany.

The chancellor said that in conversation with Dr. Luckey, who was one of the executive committee of the university paper, the Nebraskan, he had told him there must be no copperhead stuff in the paper. Dr. Luckey asked if it would not be proper to discuss the financial side of the war and the chancellor told him it would make a difference how it was discussed.

The question was asked the chancellor regarding the loyalty of the faculty under suspicion and he said that he did not believe one of them would help Germany, but they had not been able to adjust themselves to the situation quite as fast as other people had. In answer to another question of how the student body looked at the matter, the chancellor stated the students did not take the faculty as seriously as people on the outside did.

The chancellor closed his testimony by saying there was not an educational institution in the country with a more creditable record on the war than the university of Nebraska.

Prof. Fogg, head of the four-minute men service, said that he did not know positively of his own knowledge of any professor who really was disloyal.

Two more who had charges filed against them were given their dismissal on motion of the State Council of Defense, and the matter was left "the same as if charges had not been made." These were Miss Mary Fossler and Prof. Andrew D. Schrag.

Ten Years for Rose Stokes.
