

W. A. PINKERTON, FAMOUS SLEUTH, STOPS IN OMAHA

Celebrated Detective Pays
Gate City Visit on 15,000-
Mile Journey; Inspects Training Camps.

William A. Pinkerton, famous detective, accompanied by his secretary, R. J. Black, arrived in Omaha Friday morning after completing a three months' business trip. Mr. Pinkerton is well past the three score and ten mark, but he still is as active in mind and action as he was 40 years ago when he captured the Molly Maguires.

Mr. Pinkerton spoke of the splendid morale existing among the thousands of men at the different training camps which he has visited recently, and also of the good treatment accorded the German interned prisoners. "Their food is as good and wholesome as any received by our own boys and the general condition of the camps and facilities is first class in every respect," remarked the veteran Sherlock. "At the camp in Georgia which I recently visited the prisoners were playing hand ball, and many of them expressed a desire to remain in custody of Uncle Sam in preference to returning to Germany," he said.

"I believe we are too lenient with the prisoners, in view of our government's motive to create a good moral effect on Germany, in treating American prisoners in Germany as kindly as we treat German prisoners over here. From what I understand our boys are being treated abominably at the hands of the Germans," he said. "Why not put these German prisoners to work the same as prisoners in Germany have to do?"

Only One End to War.
"There is only one end to this war," remarked Mr. Pinkerton, "and that is the allies are bound to win."

Major Allen Pinkerton, a nephew and co-partner of Mr. Pinkerton's, is now in the United States army in France with General Pershing, assigned to special duty. Before his departure he was attached to General Mann's staff with headquarters in New York, where he was directing secret service work in munition plants, ship works and harbors.

Mr. Pinkerton will leave Omaha Saturday night for Kansas City, where he will attend the international convention of chiefs of police of the United States and Canada, of which he is a director. From Kansas City he will return to his home in Chicago, thus completing a 15,000-mile journey. He will hear Roosevelt talk at the Auditorium Saturday night.

Farm Loan Certificates Legal to Pay Income Tax

Holders of federal farm loan bank short-time certificates falling due June 25 are urged to turn them in on payment of income and excess profits taxes, announced Internal Revenue Collector Loomis. These certificates will be accepted in payment of the taxes for their face value plus accrued interest up to and including June 25. The United States Treasury department has made this provision as a short method of cashing the certificates. Liberty bonds and war savings certificates will not be accepted in payment of income taxes, however.

Thousands of dollars of these certificates are held in Omaha. Some firms hold as high as $50,000 worth. They bear 4 per cent interest. Notices of the amount of income tax due are being mailed out by the internal revenue collector's office to all people who have filed returns. Payments are due on or before June 15.

Omaha and South Side Men In "Good Fellowship Meeting"

Fifty automobiles filled with Omaha members of the Chamber of Commerce went to the South Side at noon Friday for a "good fellowship meeting" with the members of the chamber who live in the South Side. Among those who went were President C. C. George, John W. Gamble, chairman of the executive committee, and Commissioner Manley.

The object of the trip was to establish closer friendly relations with the South Side members, most of whom do not often have convenient opportunity to visit the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

The party, with the South Side members, had luncheon at the Stock Exchange building, where a number of impromptu talks were made.

Mrs. Davis was an early resident of Atkinson, Neb., but had recently been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Homan. Mrs. Davis was the widow of John Davis.

"Eclipse Parties" Will Be Popular Saturday Night

"Eclipse parties" promise to be popular Saturday evening. Manawa park, at Lake Manawa, has issued a special invitation to parties to watch the eclipse, which can be clearly seen out over the waters of the lake. Saturday evening crowds, always large at the resort, promise to be even larger this week. The park management has assisted in arranging a number of picnics of "eclipse parties."

Red Cross Pamphlets Are Dropped From Balloon

A small balloon was sent up from Fort Omaha Thursday night. It sailed away over Omaha, across the Missouri river into Iowa. It was laden with Red Cross pamphlets, dropped at intervals on its journey.

Sending up the balloon was an experiment. Military men hope to perfect balloons which may be used "over there" to drop literature to the German people. This work is the outgrowth of President Wilson's plan to "tell the German people the principles of democracy."

The balloon is a small type, not more than 15 feet in diameter. The fine, silken texture of the gas bag reflects the light and shines as though it contained a dozen stars.

Two Fined $100 and Costs For Liquor Possession

Two men, found guilty of charges of illegal possession of liquor, were fined $100 and costs in police court Friday morning. Max Brown, 614 South Fifteenth street, told the court he just "needed a little to stir him up." John Decering, Topeka, Kan., international organizer of labor unions, said he "was not aware that Nebraska was a dry state." He was arrested at the Union station Thursday night while on his way to Sioux City. C. S. Hechtner, farmer, Chariton, Ia., was discharged when he made plain to the court that the contents of the bottle which he had in his possession was a mixture of ginger ale, two ounces of booze, a little of "this" and a little more of "that," etc.

One-Minute Store Talk

Sometimes a man admits that his wife is the wise buyer of the household and brings her along when clothes buying.

One man said to us: "It's not easy to deceive the woman who has the milkman's goat and the butcher's number. My wife has 'em both—she knows values. What she says goes with me in clothes buying."

We invite every man to bring the better half along. The more anybody knows about values, the better for us.
