ROOSEVELT SAYS FIRST DUTY TO PUT THE HUN TO SLEEP

Former President In Address to Cheering Thousands at Auditorium Declares Has No Use for Fifty-fifty Americanism; Germans at War With U. S. Before America Knew It.

SOME ROOSEVELT HOT SHOTS POURED OUT IN HIS ADDRESS AT AUDITORIUM

If a man does not come here to be an American citizen, let him stay away. Don't fight if you can help it, but if you have to fight, then fight. Don't hit if you can help it, but don't hit softly. If you do hit, put him to sleep.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt last night addressed an audience that packed the City Auditorium to the doors, an audience estimated at nearly 8,000 people. His subject was "Winning the War."

He spoke for preparedness against war, for universal service. He declared that if we had begun to prepare when the great war started or if we had entered the war when the Lusitania was sunk the war would be over now.

ESCAPE OF "SIXTH" JEWEL ROBBER IS MYSTERY NO MORE

Leonard, Participant in Malashock Store Plundering Confides to Friend How He Obtained Freedom. Five of the bandits who participated in the Malashock jewelry store hold-up, and the subsequent battle at the plunder house, 3207 North Fourteenth street, in which Detective Frank Rooney received wounds from which he died, the night of January 30, have been brought to the bar of justice and all with the exception of "Big Wally" Martin, have been tried.

TEDDY MAKES IT PLAIN AS DAY

Hundreds of Women Out to Hear Him and They Learn What They Want to Know. WHY AMERICA IS IN THE WAR. By ELLA FLEISHMAN. How to win the war was chaos in the mind of "Most Everywoman" in Omaha before she heard Theodore Roosevelt tell in simple fashion "how to turn the trick" before a packed house in the Auditorium last night.

ALLIES STEADILY GAIN GROUND IN THIERRY SALIENT

American Marines and French Repulse Two Violent Attacks and Continue Advance; Scope of Drive Extends Northward; Bombardments Presage Thrusts by Germans in Montdidier and Verdun Sectors.

In the battlefield of the Marne, where a week ago the Germans were hurling their masses of troops against the western side of the wedge they had driven into the allied lines in the battle that began March 26, the Teutons are now standing virtually on the defensive in the Chateau Thierry sector.

OMAHANS GET FINE VIEW OF SUN ECLIPSE

Celestial Phenomenon Arrives on Schedule Time, at 5:19 P. M.; Scientists Climb High for Photos.

Popular tradition has it that the eagle, proud bird of freedom, can gaze unblinkingly into the eye of the sun. Thousands of Omahans tried this very stunt yesterday afternoon, even when the sun was in partial obscuration because of eclipse, and they found that the feathered emblem of Columbia had it on them a thousand ways.

Only a Penny a Peep

Another enterprising lad, a newsboy, had picked up a piece of photographic plate and offered to rent it to Fifteenth street sky gazers, saying: "It's got dry smoke on it, mister, and it won't dirty your fingers. Only a penny a peep." He did a thriving business among smiling customers.

American Fighters Recognized. For the first time in the war German headquarters on Saturday has used the term "American regiment" in its official report on the operations on the western front.

Bombardments Begin

Reports from the whole battle line in France are that there has been renewed activity on the part of the German artillery in several sectors of the front. Notable among the regions under bombardment is the line between Noyon and Montdidier.

Verdun Again Menaced

At the same time the Woerps sector, just to the southeast of Verdun, is claiming attention. Large movements of enemy troops in the direction of St. Mihiel have been reported by aerial observers and there are indications that the positions of the Americans along this part of the front may be in the storm center of a terrific attack soon.

Loire Hospice Held by French

In the Flanders sector, which has been quiet since the beginning of the attack along the Aisne, the Germans on Wednesday sought to improve their positions by capturing the hospice at Loire, this point would give them a starting point for an attack on the village of Loire, which is considered one of the keys to the allied positions along the hills behind the lines southwest of Ypres.

New Star Discovered in Constellation of Aquila

Washington, June 8.—A new star, the brightest discovered in several centuries, was detected tonight at Leander McCormick observatory at the University of Virginia by C. T. Oliver, professor of astronomy. He described it in a telephone message to The Associated Press as a bright blue star, of magnitude 0.5 degrees, located in the constellation Aquila, a size that makes it nearly the largest and brightest in the sky during the present months. Its location is astronomically described as right ascension 18 hours and 44 minutes, declination plus 0 degrees and 32 minutes north.
