The Patriotic League club will meet as usual on Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock. The Business Women's Auxiliary to the Red Cross meets every Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Housekeeper Schools. Every woman in the state is to be given an opportunity to attend a canning school this summer. Last year the extension service of the college of agriculture conducted canning schools in thirty-three towns, with a total attendance of more than 2,000 persons. Only those attended who pledged to teach other people. This year, however, it will be possible to hold at least ten one-day canning schools in every county in the state. In counties where there are home demonstration agents the work will be carried on under their direction. In counties where there are no home demonstration agents, the county or district agricultural agent will have charge. Any community desiring a canning demonstration should notify its agent at once. The Sioux Indian women of the Standing Rock reservation in North Dakota have organized a Red Cross auxiliary.

Gray is a Favorite Color

By GERTRUDE BERESFORD.

THE fashionable woman is running to gray this summer—gray, with quite a tinge of pink in its depths. Our grandmothers would have called it "ashes of roses." This tunic frock is delightfully developed in gray Georgette crepe, with gray and white bead embroidery around the bust line, skirt border and sleeves. The roll collar is of white georgette crepe. A soft girde confines the straight line tunic at the waist and ends in two tassels. The girde and tunic edges is picot finished. This gown has the advantage of looking well on the young girl or older woman, and will make up effectively in any shade of crepe, from navy blue to the lighter tones of orchid, pink or pale yellow.

DEAR READERS:—The question of frocks and presents for the Sweet Girl Graduate has now been fully settled; almost every June bride's trousseau, which has been the center of interest for so many weeks, is either finished, or nearing completion—and now, as the walrus in Alice in Wonderland says, "The time has come—to talk of many things,"—but we're not going to discuss "cabbages and kings," for the former are too unpoetic a subject for the beautiful month of June, and far be it from Polly to mention that other most unpopular of topics in these shopping columns;—this space is reserved for pleasant things ONLY! And it's "Vacations" this time. Oh! The magic sound of the word!

Do you realize how much your summer enjoyment depends upon the clothes you take with you. I've known vacations which were a dismal failure, because the things packed in the steamer trunk had not been intelligently selected. The stores and shops are overflowing now with lovely vacation togs; things which will certainly occasion joy in the hearts of those who are planning midsummer trips. I am ready and willing to aid and advise you about the beautiful things to make your vacation a happy one.

A very ultra New York shop introduces its new old-time calico frocks by name—the Sally Perkins, the Nancy Hanks, the Janice Meredith and the Abigail Adams. What a charming ideal!

"WHAT'S in a name?" That which we call "organdy" or "organdie," by any other spelling would look just as sweet. This exquisite material will certainly cast a spell over you, when you see the new frocks made of it at F. W. Thorne's. They were just being taken from the packing boxes, when I stepped into this shop at 1812 Farnam last Thursday, and I fairly went into ecstasies over the freshness and coolness of them. One of crispy white organdie trimmed with bands of yellow, "minded me of jonquils and daffodils. It was priced $13.75, and comes in sizes 14 to 18, and also in rose and white. Another model of a luscious shade of apricot daintily trimmed with val lace and numerous cluster tucks, with a flirty sash of the material, is priced $19.75.

Narrow shoulders and tight sleeves are reported to be smart for fall suits—but not so in top toats.

AN effervescent little June bride exclaimed while I was looking over her gifts the other day, "Do observe all this lovely, bubbly glassware! Wasn't it thoughtful of them at Orchard & Wilhelm's to suggest it to so many of my friends, when they went in there to buy wedding gifts for me? Now you see I have my table glassware complete—goblets, tumblers, ice tea glasses, high sherbets and dessert plates. It's the loveliest thing the way everything happens to match so perfectly." Just such instances as this are one of the satisfying things about buying presents in the Gift Shop of this store. The interest taken in each individual customer, and the helpful suggestions given, make gift-buying a pleasure.

Conservative styles, but the best possible materials rule fashion.

HURRAY!—A new triple alliance is formed, and it's a mighty congenial one indeed! Miss Dainty White Blouse and Popular White Wash Skirt, who have always been such constant companions, have invited Sleeveless Jacket of Pique and Gabardine to join them. I saw the three together down at Herzberg's Women's Toggery, and they certainly did look decidedly smart. Sleeveless jackets of these washable fabrics have a regular "wheat" appearance, and are as tailored as can be. If you want one, you'd best get it at once, for they're so good-looking they're bound to go in a hurry. Priced $5.95, $6.95 and $7.95. Lovely white skirts, with many interesting new style features may be seen at The Toggery, 1517 Douglas, for $2.95 to $9.95. New organdy and voile blouses, $2.95 to $9.85.

JUST for the sake of diversion, organdy has decided to appear sometimes in checks. I saw some very charming blouses of checked organdy—blue, pinks and lavenders, at F. W. Thorne's Shop, 1812 Farnam. These are adorned with white organdy collars and cuffs, edged with a wee bit of Irish crochet trimming. There are also blouses of white organdy with the checked fabric as trimming features. These are priced $3.25 and $3.95.

Wrieth gave a party and reception in honor of her mother's birthday Saturday, June 8, at her home in West Poppleton avenue. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thomas, on West Gold street, was brightened Monday by the arrival of a son. Frank Stultz arrived Sunday morning from a business trip to Minneapolis and other points in Minnesota. Frank G. Wilson, wife and daughters, Aileen and Jeannette, who have been so much entertained the past two weeks by relatives in West Side, left Monday evening for their home at Kimberly, Idaho. Miss Helen Wisler, who has been teaching the past year near Harlan, Ia., has closed her school work and returned home Friday.

Let's Go Shopping with Polly

The first bright days Of lovely June Bring forth delightful things, As roses, brides and bathing suits, Chapeaux and wedding rings. And June is full Of songs of joy. Vacation days are here; Crisp organdies and picture hats At Country clubs appear.

Through working hours One costume wears Of khaki or Red Cross. But when one dons an evening dress One's never at a loss. For billowy tulle, Or sheer chiffon Or lovely crepe de chine, Befrilled, buruffled everywhere Bewitchingly are seen.

Remember, I'm always happy to help you out with ideas and to do your shopping. If you want a blouse, a wedding gift, or flowers to send a sick friend—anything, in fact, from a paper of pins to a piano, I'll buy it for you. Be sure to state price, size and as many details as possible when writing to me, and kindly enclose a stamp for reply (not a stamped envelope). Purchases will be sent C. O. D. unless accompanied by check, money order or bank draft. Address POLLY THE SHOPPER, Omaha, Neb.

I MADE a discovery yesterday—the sweetest summery frocks of voile for elderly ladies. One model is that soft, Quakerish gray which is so becoming to faces no longer youthful. It had a vestee of pin tucked organdy, and collar and cuffs of embroidered organdy. Really a remarkable dress for the price—only $9.50! Other models at the same price are in gray and white, blue and white, and lavender and white stripes. The skirts are quite full, and if you are inclined to be stoutheaded, it may please you to know that these dresses come in sizes 43 to 49. Besides these, there were several dainty white frocks of voile and dimity for $5, fine checked gingham with lace edged organdy collars and cuffs for $9.75, plaid gingham and cuffs for $9.75, plaid gingham for $4.50 and dotted blue for $3.50. It will really surprise you to see what remarkable values you can find in pretty summer dresses in Thompson-Belden's basement.

Pastel tints are lovely in summer organdies. Skirts show every indication of being longer this coming season. THE lovely Chapeau du Jour (hat of the day)—is of Georgette! And the most irresistible models you ever saw in this dainty, cool and becoming fabric, may now be seen in the beautiful, new millinery department of The Nebraska Clothing Company. I have been on the qui vive for days awaiting a delayed shipment of these hats, for Mr. Wynan, manager of the store, had told me of their super-loveliness, and I was simply wild to see them, so when I was telephoned of their arrival, I put on my war sailor and scooted down there in a hurry. And such a perfect riot of exquisite color greeted my eye. Pink hats, like the leaves of rose petals, blue hats of that blue, blue of the sky, that turquoise blue of a precious stone, or the poplar navy shades, and gold, orchid, bronze and a few black—all with stylefulness plus. Some are hand-embroidered, others are trimmed with nonchalant fringed sashes, flowers or feathers. Soft crowns of chenille, or silk beaver, facings of straw and panne velvet are interesting features.

Black satin and black taffeta are certainly approved for evening wear and dinners. Though round collars are quite the modish thing, sailor collars are not being deserted. THIS little item is for the 1918 Graduate! You and your classmates have exchanged pictures which you will always treasure among your dearest belongings, for they are all that will be left to bring back the scenes of happy school days after you are scattered to the four corners of the earth. At the A. Hospe Art Store, 1513 Douglas there are a wide assortment of neat, inexpensive, yet artistic frames for class pictures. Have yours framed while they are new and clean.

Nearly every letter requires an answer, so when you write to "Polly" please don't forget to enclose that little 3-cent stamp. Just a final word. My dears: There are the sweetest things in years. In the Shops. I've made so many stops, I know. What they show—and oh! How I long to buy 'em. For you! For you! Now I'm through. Goodby.

Some new organdy frocks have very extravagant hems—observe the width of them, at least 25 inches. OUT of the bewildering maze of Fashion's uncertainty come hats from that master style artist—Cirl-Ley Vey. These exclusive models which are being exhibited at Brandeis' this week, are presentations which carry with them an authority of art. I had the pleasure of viewing these distinctive offerings, and I want to urge you to see them, too, if you're fond of something exceptional in hats. Ask them to show you the Cirl-Ley Vey hats.

SUCH a find—and so appropriate for an inexpensive wedding gift. Tall, urn-shaped incense burners of Egyptian bronze, or old silver. These are made-in-America. They have a little container for the incense, with an underneath ventilator, which makes the tiny flame burn brightly. Priced $1.25 and $1.75, at The Alla Shop, 218 S. Eighteenth street.

visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lester Scroufe. The Minne Ha Ha Kensington of Council Bluffs will be entertained by Miss Lillian Williams at her home. The Misses Mercedes and Angelus Breen entertained at a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening for Miss Marie McGovern, a June bride. Those present were: Misses Willa McCullough, Clare McGovern, Katherine Heafey, Theresa Heman, Lillian Suggre, Katherine Parks, Clare Wrede, Nellie Gillispie, Mamie Dworak, Agnes Beal, Ann Gillispie, Ann Dworak, Minnie Gieson, Rose McGovern, Irene McGovern; Mesdames Corrigan and McGovern. Dr. and Mrs. Iversen entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening at their home for Miss Marie McGovern, a June bride.

Miss Romona McElroy has returned from Wayne, where she was graduated from the state normal school. Miss Dorothy Davis has returned from Lincoln to spend her vacation with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Davis. Miss Davis was graduated from the state university last week. Mrs. Joseph Hann and son, James, have returned from Oklahoma City, Okla., where they visited Mrs. Hann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goddard. Mrs. M. Grieson returned from York, where she spent a few days visiting her father.

APROPOS of the above, I want you to notice in today's advertisement the wonderful bargains which the Brandeis' Stores offer in white and colored wash goods. This thrift event comes early enough to mean substantial savings on your summer wardrobe. I was down in the basement of Brandeis' yesterday morning and saw many of the lovely summery fabrics offered, and I assure you they are quite enticing enough to make you want to buy not only for immediate needs, but to lay in a supply for the future, when it will not be possible to secure them at such prices.

LINEN, which has long been known as the aristocrat of summer fabrics, is shown in some new skirts at F. W. Thorne's 1812 Farnam, which are of stylish appearance, and bound to be rich in service. The large patch pockets, and neat fitting girdeles harness stitched in heavy thread, and trimmed with buttons. These skirts are wonderful values for $4.50. Another very attractive skirt, which is as reasonably priced as $3.75, is of wash tulle, with tailored envelope pockets. Your summer wardrobe is incomplete without a skirt or two like these, which can be so readily laundered.

RUFFLES, ruffles everywhere!—why, there's scarcely a summer frock, but what boasts of a host of rilly fluffly ruffles. And tell me, has there ever been an adornment so characteristically feminine and adorable as the pert little ruffle? The ruffle has a variety of ways of expressing itself—it may be plain, gathered, knitted or exploded, but whatever it may decide to do, we love it for its quaint charm. Mr. Van Mehren of the Ideal Button and Pleating Company let me into the most interesting secret about ruffles where picot edging is used; if you cut your ruffle twice the width it should be when finished, have it stretched through the center, and then cut between perforations, you will obtain two rows of picot edging for the price of one—something worth while knowing surely. Mr. Ver Mehren is not one bit selfish! He figures you are entitled to use twice the number of ruffles you would otherwise. Remember this bit of conservation, the next time you plan a ruffled frock.

FIRST and above all things, my dears, do consider a good corset before having a fitting for your new suit or gown, for upon it depends the price of any garment. Mrs. D. A. Hill, in her little corset shop at 205 Neville building, 16th and Harney, has corsets in the creation of which have been put sincerity, thought and skill. She has both the back and front laced models, as your figure requires. I'm sure you will be pleased with Mrs. Hill's expert and scientific corseting.

Gingham hats are "all the go," but they must match the gingham frock, so save a piece from your new tub frock to have a hat made. AT THIS time of the year we like to get out-of-doors. Some of us play tennis, golf and some just tramp through the fields. But all these things make our feet tender and make them demand special care. The better care you give your feet the better they will serve you. The Franco-American Toilet Requisite Shop, at 772 Brandeis building, has some splendid aids to assist you in caring for your feet in summertime. Pedigree, at $1.00, keeps the feet from having that "drawn" or burning feeling. Cupador, at 25c, is a foot powder, which insures foot comfort. Cutigiene, at 50c, is fine for a foot massage.

A new cotton fabric for white skirts is electric wash satin. It is a dollar a yard and is 34 inches wide.

South Side. Miss Florence Parks has returned from Des Moines, where she has been attending school. Mrs. Frank Howe entertained the Thursday Kensington club at luncheon at her home, Thursday. The Dorcas club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Frank Furnas Friday afternoon. Miss Amelia Ash of Dunlap, Ia., is visiting her sister, Miss Sadie Ash, for a few days. Mrs. E. R. Knight is spending a few days at Weeping Water, Neb. Mrs. G. C. Newton of Beatrice is
