IN CONVENTION

Forty Delegates Assemble at Hotel Rome; Report on Appropriation Made by State.

Forty delegates are in Omaha attending the state convention of the Workers for the Blind, at the Hotel Rome. Nearly all of these are blind. Some are entirely blind while others have enough eyesight to distinguish light from darkness.

The convention sessions are filled with brightness. The blind are a cheerful people. At the Wednesday morning session, Lyle A. Harris presided.

N. C. Abbott, superintendent of the state institution for the blind at Nebraska City, made a report of the use made of an appropriation of $3,000 made by the last legislature to assist the blind people in Nebraska.

A survey had been made previously, showing that there are about 500 blind persons in Nebraska nearly all of whom are self-supporting or trying to fit themselves for self-support. The small fund appropriated by the legislature is to be loaned or given to needy blind persons to help them toward self-support. Of this sum, $205 has been given to help deserving cases, and $910 has been loaned. Mrs. E. C. Cook, spoke on "Home Economics," declaring that "blind women can do all kinds of housework as well as those who see, after they become accustomed to the location of things in a house. I know blind women who make the best of bread and the daintiest of desserts."

A vocal solo by Frank Teddalar of Havelock was a feature of the morning session.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the delegates took a street car for Lake Manawa, where they had luncheon and enjoyed the various amusements, boating, bathing, etc.
