Picnic Porch Dance For Young People Is Walden Wood Party

"Walden Wood" sounds so entrancing and Robin Hood-ish, one has visions of moss-covered oaks, leafy dells and velvety stretches of green and when you picture a cozy summer home, snuggling under its spreading gables, tucked away among the trees, what could be more ideal?

Master William Sears Poppleton was just 13 on Tuesday and Mr. and Mrs. Learned planned a birthday party in honor of their nephew. Motors filled with laughing girls and boys swung around the drive-way just as the evening sun was shedding his last rays over the lawn.

The jazzy notes of the orchestra the boys and girls danced on the broad porch. As the stars came out, gay Japanese lanterns began to twinkle on the lawn, their soft light falling on the dainty frocks of the little girls and the dark suits of the boys as they frolicked.

Small tables were being laid on the porch and when the young guests gathered around them, they found a tiny cake each with a gleaming candle by their plates. Every little girl and boy made a birthday wish for the honor guest and then whiff—out went the candle!

The moon was high in the sky, changing each roadway into a ribbon of silver as the little folk bade their hosts goodnight, and with a final chorus of goodbys they were gone, leaving the echoes of their laughter and the smoking birthday candles the last reminders of the party at Walden Wood.

Silver Wedding of King and Queen of England

London, June 21.—The English people will, on July 6, have the first opportunity since the days of George III to celebrate the 25th wedding anniversary of their king and queen, and are preparing to mark the event to the fullest extent that war necessity and war sentiment will permit.

King George and Queen Mary have decided to accept a personal silver gift from the city of London and the lord mayor of London is raising a sum of money which will be bestowed upon some charity their majesties may select in honor of the anniversary.

Formal ceremonies of the day will be confined to special services at St. Paul's cathedral, from which the king and queen will go to Guildhall to receive the good wishes of the city of London.

King Edward and Queen Alexandra celebrated their silver wedding 30 years ago, when they were the prince and princess of Wales, and the nation joined in the celebration.

Service League Notes.

Women in Wartime

Male Relatives in Service Bars Women

From Canteen Work Such an endless amount of misunderstanding has arisen regarding the rule governing women who wish to go to France, regarding their male relations in the armed forces of the United States, that special instructions have been issued.

These regulations, made by the secretary of war, have been sent to Mrs. C. T. Kountze, in charge of the canteen workers for the Red Cross in Omaha, by Mrs. Joseph Cudahy, director of the bureau of personnel for the central division, of which Nebraska is a part.

The ruling is as follows: "Under no circumstances will the War department approve the issuance of passports to go to Europe for the wives, mothers, sisters or daughters of the following classes of persons: Officers or enlisted men of the United States military forces; male civilians employed with the Red Cross, Young Men's Christian association or other organizations of a similar nature, that may be in Europe; civilians employed or attached to the American expeditionary forces."

"2. Any of the female relatives enumerated in paragraph one, who have recently been to Europe but at present in the United States for any reason whatever are now included in the restriction imposed by paragraph one above. It is quite useless for any one belonging to the restricted classes cited above to request an exception in her case, as no exception will be made."

Women in Other Lands

Rome, June 21.—Woman's labor has doubled in price during the last six months, partly due to the employment given by the government to women in factories directed by the War department or manufacturing materials for it. In order to be sure of employment a woman or girl must have a husband, father, son or brother at the front. Their lowest pay is 7 lire per day, or 2 to 4 lire above men's wages paid before the war. Many earn double this sum by overtime. The wage is not considered unusual because in the same factories skilled men workers earn as much as 100 lire per day, a sum once equivalent to $20 and before the war the average pay per month of a bookkeeper.

Women not working in such government supply factories have lately struck for 50 per cent increases in the dressmaking and clothing establishments, and obtained their demand, now receiving an average of 4 lire per day. Unskilled women and girls also are so highly paid on the farms that servants are difficult to find.

Women's Club Supports French Village

A whole village in France has been supported since the first year of the war by the Washington University Women's club of St. Louis. Miss Julia C. Stimson, of the university, is in charge of the village. The life of the nurse and has been mentioned by General Haig for distinguished service.

The board of the First Baptist church of Clarkburg, W. Va., has engaged Miss Mary E. Deavenport to serve as pastor of the church, while the regular pastor is engaged in war service.

Women are compelled to labor on railroad tracks of the stations at Charleroi and Couillet (Hainaut), according to "Information Belges."

Mothers

By Sara Teasdale. My mother and the mother that was born, And all the mothers who have given me The life I love—women from overseas By English river-meadows, smooth and green, And misty Scottish hills, and from the low Sea-wear dykes of Holland, back and back Down centuries that narrow as they go— Tell me, oh women by whose blood I live, Did each one love as I love? Were the hours As hungry as my hours when he is gone? Oh, what it so with you, such precious pain To have a man's hand touch you? It must be That I love more than you. I bear the weight Of all the love that all my mothers bore Whose lives converge in me. I take your joy; And if I bear your joy, I bear your pain— The sweetest of travail in the night, the weeping When children die—I claim the things you know; Let it not be that I stand back from sorrow, Seeing that it walks soberly with love. Mothers of mine, who gave, each one, her girlhood With frightened joy to be the price of life, Let me love much before I go like you Into the overlying quietness.
