

CONSERVATION OF GARBAGE IS STRONGLY URGED

Food Administration Points Out Great Wealth of War Material That is Now Entirely Wasted.

A campaign for the utilization of garbage has been inaugurated by the United States food administration, which is advising all state administrators to read garbage utilization propaganda through their territory and urge upon housekeepers the necessity for keeping garbage (kitchen and table refuse) in a separate container from other house refuse.

Figures and statistics issued by the food administration show that in one ton of garbage there is sufficient glycerine to make the explosive charge for 14 75-millimeter shells, enough "fatty acid" to manufacture 75 pounds of soap, fertilizer elements to grow eight bushels of wheat and a score of other valuable materials essential in the manufacture of munitions.

Much Waste.

It is also pointed out that 24 cities of over 100,000 are not utilizing garbage, and that the combined population, which is estimated to be over 5,000,000, is wasting 4,400,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine and 40,000,000 12-ounce cakes of soap, besides 60,000 tons of tankage which contains fertilizer elements sufficient to produce a three-million-bushel wheat crop. The value of this loss of materials is estimated at $5,000,000.

In 29 cities where there are garbage utilization plants the figures show that a combined population of 18,000,000 people are utilizing these products, to the value of over $11,000,000 annually, and that a large percentage of this saving is being directly used by the government in munition-making. Plans are under way in several cities for the manufacture of alcohol on a large scale from garbage, and from experiments it has been shown that the grade of alcohol produced equals a high grade grain product.

But in these 29 cities, or most of them, large amounts of garbage are destroyed by burning or made useless by being mixed with other wastes. This means that around 9,000,000 pounds of glycerine is lost, or sufficient to produce 1,300,000 pounds of nitro-glycerine, which would furnish the powder charge of about 2,000,000 shells of the famous French "seventy-fives." In addition there is a loss of fatty acids sufficient to manufacture 25,000,000 12-ounce cakes of soap.

Fertilizer Waste.

The fertilizer waste amounts to 1,250,000 pounds of nitrogen, 3,500,000 pounds of phosphate of lime and 350,000 pounds of potash, or enough for the replacement of the elements removed from the soil by a million bushels of wheat. In other words, a waste of 22,500 tons of fertilizer.

If in these 29 cities the garbage was "kept clean" or free from bottles, tin cans, crockery and other foreign matter the saving to the government would be many million dollars more. The responsibility devolves upon the shoulders of the housewife, who is urged to see that nothing but garbage goes into the garbage pail. Other house refuse has a value, but its value is lost and the value of the garbage is lost if refuse and garbage are mixed.

The same is true about garbage that is to be used as hog feed. The food administration is also urging that table and kitchen refuse be fed to hogs and is driving home to the housekeeper the fact that one ton of garbage will produce 100 pounds of good, firm, first-quality pork.

Figures from 300 cities of over 10,000 population, which are disposing of their garbage as hog feed, are daily demonstrating this fact. The combined population of these cities is more than 9,000,000, and the estimated yield of pork should be 100,000,000 pounds. But because of poor separation, inedible materials and losses the amount of garbage-fed pork that is actually marketed each year is only 50,000,000 pounds, which has a value of over $8,000,000.

Over 350 American cities of between 10,000 and 100,000 population are not utilizing their garbage. Their combined population would yield 60,000,000 pounds.

It can be plainly seen, therefore, why the food administration is anxious to encourage and help in this great saving measure. While the money loss is a serious one, the material loss is more serious. The housewife can be of very great help in pushing this movement. Her responsibility does not end with keeping her garbage "clean," but it is her duty to see that the kitchen and table refuse from her home is used in the most advantageous way which conditions in her locality will permit.

Chicken Dinner Served

To Autoists at Bellevue

Summer rest advantages in a collegiate atmosphere are being offered for the summer by the management of Bellevue college. The college has opened its gates for the entertainment of guests at chicken dinner parties and tennis and swimming parties.

The large swimming pool in the college gymnasium is being visited more and more by groups of pleasure seekers who journey to the college campus in the afternoon or evening by automobile or street car. The college states that it is now prepared to take care of large parties.

Dinners are served in the college dining room in Fontenelle hall, the woman's building. Reservations for special dinners can be made in advance by telephone. During the sultry weather of the last week many guests had their dinners served on the college campus overlooking the Missouri river and the valley for miles below the college.

Man-Eating Shark Is to Be Utilized For Shoe Leather

A recent article in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry of the American Chemical society, tells of new possibilities for obtaining the much-needed substitutes for shoe leather.

The present scarcity of leather is an obvious and necessary result of the war, for leather is an animal product and is, therefore, affected by the same conditions that have led to the scarcity and high price of meat. In our own country we have not yet been driven to such extremes as in the European countries, but the price of leather and footwear has risen enormously, and we are diligently seeking both leather substitutes and new sources of supply. The skins of aquatic animals offer a practically undeveloped resource, and it is not unlikely that before long we shall be covering our extremities with the skins of the man-eating shark and the sacred codfish.

Recent experiments at Pratt institute, Brooklyn, have demonstrated that a marketable leather can be obtained from this source. The reason we have not heretofore utilized the skins of aquatic animals for leather is not because they are not perfectly well adapted for such use, but only because the skins of land animals have been so plentiful. The shoes made from shark skins cannot be distinguished from those made of other leathers and the wearing qualities seem to be superior.

Since there is no question of the excellence of aquatic leather it is likely there will be a considerable development of this source of supply. The bureau of fisheries has been experimenting with these skins and reports that already several companies are in the market for the raw hides of sharks and porpoises.

Finds His Brother in

The Dark of the Trenches

Two men who are resting in a dug-out to escape the heavy shelling of the enemy for a few minutes cannot see each other in the blackness, but with that spirit of "comradery" so common out there, although they are total strangers, begin to chat. After exchanging the numbers of their battalions, which happen to be both Canadian and in the same brigade, one says:

"But you're not a Johnny Canuck; you talk like an Englishman."

"That may be; I was born in England. But I am a Canadian. I've been out there for 17 years," the other returned, a little proudly.

"Indeed I was in Canada only three years. Where'd you come from in old England?"

"Faversham, Kent."

"Faversham! Well, I'm blowed! That's my home. What the 'ell's yer name?"

"Reggie Roberts."

"Wy, blime me, I'm your brother Bill!"

Affectionate greeting followed, then explanations. The elder brother had gone out to Alberta 17 years before, while the younger was still at school. Correspondence had stopped, as it often does with boys sent out to Ontario. When the war broke out they enlisted in different regiments, and they met after 17 years' separation in the dark entrance to a dugout.

Told by Capt. R. J. Manion, in his book, "A Surgeon in Arms" (Appleton), a story of a medical officer's experiences in the war.

GREAT CROWD OUT FOR CIRCUS WATCHES WRECK SURVIVORS

(By Associated Press.)

Hammond, Ind., June 22.—Instead of the holiday crowds expected, a weeping and banded throng of men and women gathered silently about a red and gilt trimmed ticket wagon on the Hammond circus grounds this afternoon.

They were the begrimed survivors of the Wallace-Hagenback show train wreck and were seeking word of the fate of their friends and fellow players, who were to have given Hammond its first circus of the year today.

From behind the bars of the window of the ticket wagon, Charles Dollmer, manager of the show, who escaped from the wreck after throwing his wife from a window, began registering the survivors and attempting to identify the dead.

Quietly the little line of circus men and women filed past the ticket window giving their names and asking news of friends and relatives. A big crowd had gathered at the grounds to see the circus and remained after hearing of the tragedy to watch the little group of survivors.

One clown, about whose head was wrapped a stained bandage, leaned against a tent pole while he watched the crowd on the edge of the grounds. "There'll be no circus in Hammond tonight," he said. "The kids will get left this time."

Then he fainted.

Other survivors told of wandering, panic-stricken and scantily clad over the countryside in search of help after the wreck. After the crash, they said, there was no water to fight the fire which immediately attacked the wreckage and many were grazed by the cries of their comrades pinned beneath the cars.

The first assistance came from Hammond, which sent two companies of firemen, who were powerless to check the flames because of the lack of water and who at first confined their efforts to the rescue of the injured. Later water was hauled to the scene of the tragedy in tank wagons.

see their daddy," he said. "I wish I could have died with them."

Wild rumors that several lions had escaped from the train to the woods south of the wreck caused residents of that thinly populated district to take precautions. Circus authorities asserted that no wild animals were on the train. They also discredited reports that one circus woman, demitted, had evaded the doctors and raced off into the woods clad only in night clothing.

Engineer and Fireman Arrested.

Kalamazoo, Mich., June 22.—Alonzo K. Sargent, engineer of the train that crashed into the Wallace-Hagenback circus train at Ivanhoe, Ind., this morning, resulting in the death of 61 persons, was arrested here tonight on an order from Gary, Ind., charged with manslaughter.

Sargent was about to board a train for his home in Jackson when arrested. He refused to discuss the details of the wreck, but signed his willingness to return to Gary and face the charge against him without the formality of a requisition.

Michigan City, Ind., June 22.—Emil Klaus, fireman on the empty troop train, was arrested here this afternoon at the request of the coroner of Lake County. He will be held here until Monday, when he will be taken to Gary to testify at the inquest.

Klaus is 24 years old and resides here with his wife and two children. "We were running along at a good rate of speed between Hammond and Gary and I did not see the circus train on the siding until we were nearly on top of it," said Klaus. "I saw that a collision could not be avoided and I grew dizzy and sick in my stomach at the thought of what was certain to happen. I did not notice the engineer and I do not know what he did. I crawled down from my seat in the locomotive cab and dragged myself into the tender where I fell face downward on a pile of coal. That is the last thing I remember. I must have been unconscious when the collision came, as I do not remember feeling it. My mind was a blank for a long time. The next thing I remember I was on a train bound for my home in Michigan City."

DRY NAVIGATION.

Senator Penrose, discussing the Cape May thoroughfare, once told of a conversation he had with a May shipper, Amazeu, at the way they were skimming through the creeks but an inch or two deep, he said: "I suppose, captain, that you think nothing of sailing across the meadows when there has been a heavy fall of dew?" "Right you are," said the captain, "though occasionally we have to send the men ahead with a watering can."—Boston

GIRL SUES RICH MAN FOR $50,000 FOR HEART BALM

Cathryn Cairns of Council Bluffs Alleges Minature, Neb., Banker Promised to Marry Her.

Orville R. Lamb, former president of the State Bank of Minature, Neb., and reputed wealthy member of the real estate firm of Lamb & Carlton, Minature, has been sued for $50,000 damages by Miss Cathryn Cairns, Council Bluffs, who alleges breach of promise. The petition was filed in district court here Saturday morning.

Miss Cairns, who lives with her parents in Council Bluffs, alleges that in July, 1917, Mr. Lamb, after lengthy courtship, promised to marry her in June, 1918. She declared that she has gone to considerable expense during the last year in preparing for the coming marriage.

In March, 1918, Miss Cairns alleges that Lamb informed her he had changed his mind about marrying her and that he did not intend to keep his promise to do so, and that he has since repeatedly refused to live up to his pledge.

Mr. Lamb, who makes his home in Minature, was in Omaha Saturday morning and registered at a local hotel. He was preparing to leave the city for Lincoln when Miss Cairns' attorney and a deputy sheriff served summons on him. He made no effort to evade the summons, but commented that if the sheriff had been five minutes later the summons would not have been served at this time.

Class 1 to Be Exhausted

In Some Iowa Counties

Des Moines, June 22.—(Special Telegram.)—Adjutant General Logan is now working on quotas to be furnished by various counties and cities of state under call to furnish 17,829 men to report July 22. It is probable some counties will not have sufficient number of men in Class 1 to meet their quota. If the former rule is followed, other counties will be drawn on to make up such deficit.

JUST THINK OF CADOMENE

When You Find You Are Losing Out in the Game of Life

Worn-Out, Nervous Men and Weak, Bloodless, Anemic Women Have Found New Strength and Vigor in Taking Cadomene Tablets.

A well-known writer on physical culture says: "You cannot run a high-powered engine with out fuel. You cannot get much speed out of a team. You cannot get up much steam without plenty of coal and a perfectly working furnace (body). Similarly, in your own case, the internal 'works' must be sound and working properly. That tired feeling—do you know what it means? It means that digestion and nutrition are lacking. It means that your blood and nerves are impoverished. It means that slow but sure decline in your vitality will surely ensue and no sickle will overtake you, unless you bestir yourself in overcoming the weakness of the organs responsible. This is not written to frighten. In reality it expresses logical facts. Cadomene Tablets, the favorite prescription of a great physician, are made, and sold by druggists for people who need help for nature's forces, owing to ignorance, neglect or dissipation of one kind or another. Every package is guaranteed to please or money back.—Adv.
