ACCOUNT OF SCARCITY OF HELP
I have always sought to sell the other fellow's land instead of my own, but now, on account of the scarcity of help and the troubles I am having trying to farm.
I am offering for sale some of my own places, ranging in acreage from 160 acres up to 1600 acres. I will fit these places places, ranging in acreage from 100 acres up to 1,060 acres. I will fit these places with stock, horses, harness, machinery, etc., etc., ready to stop on and go ahead if desired. I will sell you either on all cash or on terms to suit your convenience, carrying the balance back at 6 per cent. These are excellent farms for wheat, small grain of all kinds, alfaifa and I can show a county average on wheat, small grain of all kinds, alfalfa and I can show a county average on corn of 20 bushels to the acre. Where can you make more money than to come here and raise wheat for Uncle Sam? There is no excuse for you now that I offer my places on easy terms, if you want terms, I realize that it is quite a task to go into a new country and buy a piece of land and then go on and stock up with stock, work horses machinery, etc., and I will sell you a place complete with a certain number of head of stock and a complete line of machinery, sil in one sale so that it will be all ready for you to step into. I have some places that I can even sell you crops and all with the places so that you can step right in and do your own harvesting. Ten solid years in the land bushets here in Dawes county and never foreclosed a mortgage is my record. This certainly should give you confidence and make you feel safe in coming direct to me and letting me fit you out.

General Business Dead in Germany, Fugitive Reports

Toulon, France, June 23 .- Business, in the peace-time sense of the word, virtually is dead in Germany, asserts Sergeant Vuillemet, who, with several comrades, recently escaped from a war prisoner camp in Germany and reached France, and who is on a visit to his father here. According to his story, countless stores in Germany were closed and empty and everything that is being manufactured is for war purposes and for the state. The meat ration, he said, was onehalf pound per week, to which was added one-tenth of a pound of grease or fat. Sugar and coffee were only dimly remembered luxuries. The beer was virtually undrinkable, and the people were living on potatoes and beets. The bread is said to be indigestible. Leather had almost entirely disappeared, and the soldiers at home and many civilians wore woodensoled shoes almost exclusively. Soldiers home on furlough were no longer permitted to spend all their time with their families or friends, but must work part time in the factories. The morale of the civil and military population, Vuillemet says, is maintained by the continual spreading of stories about an alleged "desperate situation in France" and German victories, which are loudly proclaimed by the ringing of bells not yet seized for ammunition purposes.

So effective is the co-operation between surgeons and physicians at the front and those at the hospitals in the rear that an immensely larger proportion of the wounded recover than was the case at the beginning of the war.

Men whose legs or arms have been fractured by shells now are restored to their regiments in a minimum of time. This is due mostly to home. Surprised and delighted the fact that they receive prompt antisceptic treatment and surgical attention which prevents blood-poisoning and the stiffening of articulation. Their recovery is rapid in the hospitals behind the lines where they can be treated under comfortable conditions far from the nerve-wracking off now!" sound of the guns.

Believe in Doctors.

Soldiers have been inspired with confidence in the army surgeons in the great battles around Verdun and in the great German offensive which Promptness in the treatment of wounded men has been obtained by segregating them in classes according to the nature of their wounds. This was not generally done at the beginning of the war. The plan then in vogue was to erect large hospitals as near the fighting lines as possible say 10 or 12 miles from the front, and to send all cases there for treatment. When big battles occurred these hospitals were over-crowded and owing to the delay in operating there were many cases of gangrene, tetanus and other infections that resulted fatally. The enemy did not hesitate to bombard the hospitals either with the artillery or from airplanes. Sometimes a train load of wounded men would arrive only to find all the beds occupied and that they must move on to another hospital.

Divided Into Categories.

Most of this difficulty now has been overcome. When wounded men reach the first dressing station or field ambulance they are divided into cate-Washington, June 23.—(Special gories, rapidly dressed and sent to convaleseach fisherman will be limited to a Telegram.)-The appointment as hos- cent hospitals. ### Bound to Be Hungry if You Do Not Eat Enough

It is impossible to stop eating and not feel the pangs of hunger, occording to Popular Science Monthly. you have been led to believe differently by the stories of men who have undergone fasting tests, listen to the words of Prof. Carlson of the University of Chicago. He found as a result of observation on man during prolonged intentional starvation that the view that hunger mechanism fails early does not hold as a general rule.
