

DRAFT LOTTERY FIXES ORDER OF MEN IN CLASSES

Secretary Baker Draws First Number, 246; Task of Drawing 1,200 Slips Takes Two Hours.

By Associated Press. Washington, June 27.—Nearly 800,000 young men of 21 who registered for military service last June 5, had their order in the draft classes fixed today by a second national draft lottery held with formal ceremony at the senate office building.

Just 1,200 numbered slips rolled most capsules—enough to cover the list of new registrants in the largest local district in the country—were drawn from a big glass bowl and the numbers recorded in serial order. Under the law all the new registrants go at the bottom of the classes to which they may be assigned and the order in which the number appearing on each man's registration card came from the bowl determines his place in the list of additions.

The task was done in about two hours. After a brief explanatory statement by Provost Marshal General Crowder, Secretary Baker, blindfolded, drew the first number—246. General March, chief of staff, Chairman Chamberlain and Senator Warren, of the senate military committee; Chairman Dent and Representative Kahn, of California, of the house military committee, and several army officers each drew a number. Then "Major Billy" Wellborn, a young woman employed in the provost marshal general's office, donned the blindfold and proceeded to take out capsules.

The dramatic interest that attended the first drawing, which actually determined the original order of service of 10,000,000 registrants, was almost wholly lacking in today's proceedings. Since men placed in Class A are certain to be called to the colors within a few months at most, the order in which new registrants are placed is relatively unimportant.

UNITED STATES KERENSKY'S GOAL IN HIS JOURNEY

Former Russian Premier Hopes to Be Received Here as Spokesman of His Countrymen.

By Associated Press. London, June 27.—"I bear witness that the Russian people never will recognize the Brest-Litovsk treaty, which hurled Russia into the abyss of annihilation," said Alexander F. Kerensky, former premier of Russia, at an address at the labor conference today.

Mr. Kerensky said that Russia was bending under German insults and bleeding at every pore, but still opposed the enemy invasion.

Labor Meeting Startled. How Kerensky escaped from Russia and how his comrades shielded him from the bolshevik remains a secret. At present he is evading all uninvited visitors.

No conjurer pulling a white rabbit from a silk hat ever startled an audience of wild-eyed children more thoroughly than Arthur Henderson surprised the labor conference yesterday in introducing Kerensky. Amusement pervaded the meeting hall, to be followed by cheers as the slight, youthful, dark-haired and smooth-shaven Russian stood up beside Mr. Henderson. Kerensky told the labor delegates that the Russian people, fighting against tyranny now, would soon take part again in the lists against the central powers. The situation in Russia today, he summarized as follows:

"One can break the Russian people, but one cannot subdue it." Kerensky hopes to be received in America as spokesman of his countrymen.

Relief Plans Being Considered. Washington, June 27.—Various plans for extending American aid to Russia in the effort to bring her back into the war are still in the stage of consideration, and before being put into operation will require much consultation between the American government and the allies.

The revival of the plan of sending material aid to the distressed country, such as seeds, agricultural implements and other means of rehabilitating her people and accompanying them with sufficient forces to safeguard these resources from falling into the hands of the Germans hinges upon the approval of the allies and the consent of the Russian people.

It has been suggested the government might take a visit from former Premier Kerensky to the United States as a means of informing itself of intimate details. So far as could be learned today, a visit from the former premier was still an unsettled question. There are some differences of opinion among the friends of Russia in Washington as to whether conferences between American officials and Kerensky would be advisable.

Fifteen Hundred Omaha Boys Called by Draft

Fifteen hundred Omaha boys yesterday were assigned their order numbers in the great national draft army. These 1,500 Omaha boys are those who had become 21 years old since the first big draft one year ago and who registered June 5 this year.

The first Omaha boy drawn proved to be an enemy sline. He is Hans Hayden, 830 South Twenty-first street.

The first number drawn in the lottery was 246. This was Hayden's number. He is the only Omahan drawn on this number as the Fourth district, the one in which Hayden resided, is the only Omaha district in which that many of the 21-year-old youths had registered.

The first number to demand the attention of all five Omaha districts was the eighth capsule drawn from the bowl. This was No. 154. Five Omaha boys held this serial number. They are Harold Thirte, Eighteenth and Maple, in the First district; Aubrey McElroy, general delivery, in the second district; Harry Babendir, 2511 Ward street, in the Third district; William C. Lebbis, 913 South Twenty-first, in the Fourth district, and Harold Murphy, 523 North Twenty-fifth, in the Fifth district.

The first man from Douglas county, inside of Omaha, the Sixth district, Orville L. McReynolds, 7719 North 34th street. His serial number 10 and it was the 13th drawn from the box.

Holders of serial No. 1 were fortunate. This number was not drawn until 1943 had been assigned ahead of it. Only a desultory interest in the lot of the 21-year-olds was exhibited in Omaha. It was vastly different from the huge draft of a year ago in that more than 30,000 Omaha men were assigned their draft numbers in a time less than 5 per cent of that which were affected.

Another Bee Man to Help Win War for the Nation

Russell Phelps, formerly city editor of The Bee, is another member of this newspaper's staff to enter military service. Mr. Phelps enlisted in the balloon school at Fort Omaha last fall but his eyesight disqualified him for that service and he was honorably discharged after a month of service.

He returned to The Bee, where he remained until he was drawn in the June contingent of the selective army. He will leave today for Camp Funston and is anxious to go overseas to get a chance at the Hun.

Phelps was on the staff of The Bee two and one-half years and was in newspaper work in Minneapolis before he came to Omaha. He was married a year ago to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Morrison of 2101 Avenue B, Council Bluffs.

Thursday morning, when the Omaha contingent was put through a few preliminary paces at the high school grounds, Phelps received a promotion then demotion within an hour.

Phelps was placed in charge of a squad bound for Fort Riley. But Phelps was assigned to the Funston contingent and when this was known he was promptly demoted back to "buck private in the rear rank."

A second star will be added to The Bee service flag Friday when C. E. Dougherty of the composing room goes to Funston. Dougherty was in

BIG BLOW EXPECTED SOON ON WEST FRONT

(Continued From Page One.) haste is necessary. This fact apparently is being deeply impressed on the German high command, especially as it daily is witnessing the arrival of increasing numbers of Americans on the battle front and is coming to realize that they are foemen of the highest merit.

Americans Hold Gains. For the moment the Germans seem resigned to their loss to the Americans of the Belleau wood, northwest of Chateau Thierry. No counter attacks have been made in an endeavor to regain the lost ground. The latest account of the Americans' victory shows that the troops from overseas, in addition to killing or wounding many of the enemy, took 311 prisoners, 11 machine guns and 10 automatic rifles and a large quantity of ammunition and other war stores.

All is quiet along the Pieve, where the Italians are secure in the positions from which they drove the Austrians. In the mountain region there has been considerable fighting in which the Italians seem to have had the upper hand.
