Yerian of Omaha, president of the synod of Nebraska. The pastor of the church, Rev. C. Franklin Koch, conducted the service of laying the stone.

It is of historic interest that the man who made the box for this cornerstone, Joseph Fillion, made and sealed the box for the cornerstone of the first church, in 1886, and at a recent congregational meeting opened the old box. He was present and sealed the new box Sunday in which the usual articles of personal and historic value were placed and on top of them a beautiful American flag was laid.

NONPARTISAN LEAGUE LOYAL, SAYS LA SEUER

National Secretary Takes Stand at Lincoln in Organization's Effort to Restrain Council of Defense.

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Neb., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—Arthur La Seuer, national secretary of the Nonpartisan League, was a witness this afternoon in the proceedings in the district court in which the league is endeavoring to restrain the state council of defense from interfering with the holding of league meetings. The secretary denied the league was unpatriotic or had unpatriotic motives. On the stand he said that at different times its officers had cooperated with the government in carrying out matters the government desired brought before the farmers and with Mr. Townley, its president, he had gone to Washington and conferred with the departments having in charge the war activities that the best results might be brought about. He denied that organizers of the league were seditious in their language, but said that they were especially instructed to be careful and not in any way to use language which might bring any question that the league was not a patriotic organization. Two or three organizers, he said, had been discharged because of their disloyal attitude and one of them had already been indicted under the sedition act.

The league attorneys are assisted by James Mannahan, former well known Nebraskan, but of later years a resident of Minnesota, where he served his district in congress.

Norfolk Stirred by Move to Name Street After Pershing

Norfolk, Neb., July 2.—(Special Telegram.)—An effort by 75 per cent of the property owners on Koenigstein avenue to honor General Pershing by naming that street after the nation's foremost soldier, has met with defeat by action of the city council which defeated a motion to pass the ordinance to first reading, 6 to 2. The street was named years ago after John Koenigstein, a Norfolk pioneer, and his friends declared the changing of the name would cast reflection on an old soldier. Those who want the name changed declare their motive is patriotism only and no offense to the Koenigstein family is intended. They threaten to mandamus the council unless action is taken to abide by the wishes of the majority of the property owners. Col. J. Wrice is leading the campaign to change the name of the street.

RESULTS WERE A BIG SURPRISE TO SPITSEN, HE SAYS

Wouldn't Have Believed Anything Could Do What Tanlac Did.

"I intended giving a testimonial for Tanlac after taking more of it, but the results from this one bottle I have used have been so fine that I am ready right now to tell everybody what a great medicine it is," said Herman Spitsen, shipping clerk for the Burns Baking Company, living at 2217 Burt street, while in a Sherman & McConnell drug store, for his second bottle, recently.

"When a man falls off thirty pounds in a few weeks' time, like I did," he continued, "it's pretty good proof that there's something radically wrong with him and that he needs something to straighten him up. Well, about seven months ago my appetite went back on me. I got to having headache three or four times a week and soon my strength about all left me. Up to that time I had always been hale and hearty, weighed around a hundred and sixty pounds, and hardly knew what it was to take medicine. But I kept dropping off in weight until I lost thirty pounds. It seemed like I was going to shrink up to nothing, so I got alarmed and began to worry about my condition. I couldn't enjoy anything to eat and kept getting weaker all the time. "Finally a friend, who knew about my condition, advised me to try Tanlac and if I had not tried it I never would have believed there was a medicine that could do so much in so short a time. I had only taken a few doses when my appetite picked up and I wasn't long until I was eating like a wolf. I can eat anything now, the headaches have disappeared and now I am regaining my lost weight right along. I have gotten so much stronger and better that I almost feel like I have a new lease on life."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., corner Sixteenth and Dodge streets; Sixteenth and Harney; Owl Drug company, Sixteenth and Farnam streets; Harvard Pharmacy, Twenty-fourth and Farnam streets; northeast corner Nineteenth and Farnam streets and West End Pharmacy, corner Fortyninth and Dodge streets, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Advertisement.

To Acquire Curly Hair In a Single Night

Hair tortured with the hot curling iron, bound to become dry, harsh and brittle, and so many know from sad experience. It's far more sensible to use plain liquid salmerine which can do no harm and which produces a curliness much prettier and more natural in appearance. This has the peculiar property of drying in the most beautiful waves and glossy. A few ounces from the drugist will last for weeks, so it is not at all expensive. Liquid salmerine is not sticky or greasy and it won't stain or streak hair or scap. A convenient way to use it is to pour a little into a saucer and then with a clean tooth brush apply evenly to the hair from root to tip. If it is done before retiring the added glory to one's "crowning glory" will be quite in evidence in the morning. The hair will be nice and fluffy when combed out.—Advertisement.
