

COUNCIL BLUFFS GETS ST. FRANCIS ALUMNAE MEET

Fourth Biennial Convention of National Association Sisters of Charity, Convenes August 24.

Mrs. J. M. Mullen of Omaha, general chairman of the arrangements committee, and president of the St. Francis Alumnae Association of Council Bluffs, is in receipt of a letter accepting the invitation extended two years ago to the National Federation of Catholic Alumnae, Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, to hold their fourth biennial convention in Council Bluffs. The convention will be held at St. Francis Academy August 24 to 27. This will bring in the neighborhood of 100 visitors to the city, including 70 delegates with a majority representation coming from Chicago.

A tentative program has been arranged by the local association, and a complete program in detail will be furnished later.

Auto Plunges Over Bank; Man Escapes; Woman Hurt

A big Chandler car plunged over the steep bank of Indian creek half a mile north of Oak street, Council Bluffs, Tuesday morning and turned turtle. The occupants were a well known Omaha business man and a woman. The man escaped entirely without injury and the woman was said to be only slightly hurt. She was taken away a few minutes after the accident and hurried to Omaha in a taxicab. The man gave no name and said the woman was his wife.

In the Silent Drama

Muse—"The Naulahka," adapted from Rudyard Kipling's book and featuring Antonio Moreno and Dervalina, the Spanish dancer, will be presented today and tomorrow. It is a fascinating tale of the east, exciting, and a beautiful story which surprises everyone by its fidelity to life and its superb artistry.

Rialto—The fourth special vehicle in which Madame Olga Petrova is being portrayed at the Rialto, the first half of the week, contains several absolute innovations in the matter of photographic effects, serving as excellent examples of the most approved methods of camera technique. "Tempered Steel," the picture, originally written especially for the great Polish screen star by George Middleton, author of the Broadway play "Polly With a Past," and directed by Ralph Ince, the picture is an exciting melodrama dealing with theatrical life in New York. It contains innumerable "punch" scenes, some of which required an extraordinary display of skill on the part of the cameraman.

Lothrop—"Up the Road With Sallie," with Madame Olga Petrova in the lead, will be seen here for the last times today. The play is a sweet story of a pretty, lowly theme and Miss Sallie there, who is a real American girl who can do most anything. She gets herself into trouble and unaided works her way out and Miss Talmadge is kept at top notch all through the play in showing what she can do with a lively girl. The play itself is an interesting story with plenty of opportunity for dramatic effects.

Muse—A wild and wooly Fairbanks comedy presented in the center of New York City, in District Fairbanks' "Mystic Madman." Leaving town, a woman on a trip to sell horses in the metropolis Doug complains to his friends there that life is too dull. They frame up a plot with a pretty girl as the bait to lure Fairbanks, the third of his life. Miss Count Marhoff at his house and the girl is there, makes strange signs to him. He goes upstairs in search of her, falls through a trap door, is bound and gagged, escapes, and finds himself hunting for Doug and the whole house catches a glimpse of the face of the count's butler through a doorway. Breaking down the doorway, he is confronted by all his New York friends, assembled for a banquet. Doug, the laugh of the day, and he has lost his bet. The New York cannot produce thrills. He turns the tables, however, when he elopes with the girl, his armed cowboy covering his retreat and preventing pursuit.

Empress—"Dynamite," the unscrupulous male who belongs to Happy Harrison's comedy animal circus at the Empress, causes explosions of laughter at every attempt to ride him. Bill Kalama, the Wizard of the Guitars, has won his bet. Miss Moore and White offer singing and dancing with lots of comedy talk. For the last times today, George Walsh will be seen at the Empress in his latest Fox picture, "The Kid is Clever."

Strand—In a little town lives a young man of ambition, whose stock in trade are his smile and serene optimism. He is a newspaper reporter, who gets social, police and political items for his newspaper and takes pleasure in announcing that Theda Bara is coming back to us in a 1918 version of her best vampire production. "A Fool There Was." This play in its new dressing will be shown at the Empress starting tomorrow and for the last three days of the week.
