OMAHA WOMAN GRASPS HAND OF GERMAN KAISER

Appears for Examination as an Alien Enemy and Tells of Making Her Flight from Germany.

"This is the bitterest moment of my life," remarked a very refined type of American woman to Julius Mansfield, of the bureau of identification, as she affixed her signature to a booklet describing her as an alien enemy, and showing her photograph and thumb print.

"I never thought the irony of fate would bring me to this, for I have behind me an absolutely pure American ancestry. One of my ancestors was a signer of the Declaration of In-

There was a quiver to her lips and tears in her eyes as she took the booklet and turned away from the officer to hide her emotions. V'oman an Alien,

The woman spoke the truth a ut her ancestry and her plight was due to the face she had married an alien enemy and therefore had vested in her the citizenship of her husband, rather than that of the land of her birth and family traditions.

Officer Mansfield is the recipient of some intimate revelations on the part of alien women who come to register. They seem impelled to tell him something of their histories,

One prepossessin, woman, about 40 years of age, who came to this country from Germany when a young girl, and who married an American from whom she has since been 'ivorced, appeared to see if she should register as an alien enemy. When told she still had the status of an American she was very much relieved.

Won Notice of Kaiser.

"My father," said she, "was one of the high military officers of Germany. He was one of the country's best tacticians and his work in the big maneuvers at Potsdam, when I was a young girl, won the notice of the kaiser, who was then building his foundation of fame as a war lord.

"The emperor was so pleased that he felt impelled to confer a signal honor on my father. He happened to glance at me, while he was complimenting my parent and the honor he did my father was to command me to be presented at court.

"It was an order and my father and I complied. We were presented to the emperor at the Potsdam palace amid such pomp and ceremony that I was nearly dazed. I remember when was presented to the kaiser that he took my hand, held it long, stroked the hand and my forearm and looked into my eyes with an expression that sent cold chills all over me.

Serpent Eyes.

"I did not dare to withdraw my hand, although it seemed all the time to be in the cold, slimy grasp of a serpent, and there were serpent eyes looking into mine. It distressed me so that I almost fainted. Finally the eror dropped my hand and abruptly left the room. Later my father was commanded to send me to court to be a lady in waiting to the kaiserin. Instead of doing this father sent me to relatives in this country and he was afterward demoted in rank.
"I shudder to think what my life in court would have been after feeling the hofror of the kaiser's caress of my hand and the baleful look of his eyes as was doing it."

Four Hunderd Methodist Parsons in Two States Help Farmers Reap Crops

Four hundred Methodist ministers n Nebraska and Iowa are helping farmers harvest and cultivate their crops. This is equivalent to the work of one man for 16 years, according to the figures of Bishop Stuntz, who is responsible for this farm aid.

The bishop recommended helping with crop work on week days to all the ministers under his jurisdiction and has met with an encouraging re-

Be Careful in Using Soap on Your Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff .- Adv.
