THE OMAHA BEE DAILY (MORNING) - EVENING - SUNDAY

FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROSEWATER VICTOR ROSEWATER, EDITOR

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, PROPRIETOR.

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Associated frees, or which The See to a member, to excluditely entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or one otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local n.ws published berein. All rights of cubbleation of our special dispatches are also reserved.

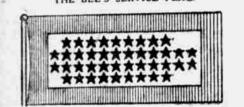

minus—The sice Building.
Suth Omaha—2318 N. St.
Sumcil Birffs—14 N. Main
Bircolos—Little Building.

Chicago—Peopin's Gas Building.
New York—285 Fifth Ave.
St. Louis—New B's of Commarce
Washington—1511 G St.

MAY CIRCULATION Daily 69,841-Sunday 59,602

Average circulation for the month, subscribed and sworn Williams. Circulation Manager.

Subscribers leaving the city should have The Bee mailed to them. Address changed as often as requested. THE BEE'S SERVICE FLAG.

The wires have it at Washington.

Ten-cent tax on gasoline will settle the joyriding problem.

The Ford runabout is not getting under headway in Michigan. Some folks say the engine is "dead."

The food profiteer is a dangerous enemy behind the lines who will have to stop or be put out of business.

Austria respectfully informs Germany it needs soldiers, not generals, having quite epough of the latter already.

To the city commissioners: When you locate that bath house and comfort station, try to get it where it will be of service.

At last the kaiser is sharing the hardship of war with his soldiers. He is sneezing with the grip, just the same as a private.

For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese has nothing on "Bob" as a fee-grabber and legislative lobbyist.

An exhibit of all the German propaganda money distributed by Von Bernstorff to hypheanated newspapers in this country would be highly

The threat of this democratic congress to put a tax on the maintenance of household servants is the last straw. As if it were not hard enough to keep servants now.

Operations in Macedonia, Albania and elsewhere in that region hold some interest for the German high command, and may afford a reason for hesitancy in France.

for him, as well as with the lawyers who helped him spike the anti-fee-grabbing law.

One of the best signs of Omaha's loyalty is the continuous passage of loaded coal wagons among the homes. This shows that the admonition of the fuel administrator is being closely heeded by forehanded citizens.

"Brother Charley" Bryan's platform would indicate that he does not believe Governor Neville has been co-operating with the federal authorities to win the war as earnestly and effectively as he should. A joint debate between "Brother Charley" and the governor might prove informa-

Iowa Republicans in Action.

Iowa republicans are leading off with a pace the party throughout the union may well follow. In his "keynote" address as temporary chairman of the state convention, Governor Harding appealed strongly to the partiotism of his people, that they win the war for the world. His reference to the republican party as "born to fight the battles of the people, to drive out human slavery to establish justice and equity," must have a response in the hearts of all who know the facts and revere the history of the great political organization, whose leaders opposed and overcome democratic efforts to wreck the union, and under whose policies the whole land and all its inhabitants prospered. It must also be remembered, as Governor Harding pointed out, that in this war the republicans in congress have pressed to an issue the great questions involved in the provision of adequate fighting forces, while the democrats hesitated in doubt and indecision. Looking ahead to future problems of peace, the record of the republican party for progressive legislation, for its avoidance of "isms" of all kinds, and its concern for the preservation of all things American, gives the best guaranty of what may be expected when it is returned to power. Iowa republicans are setting a good example for the party nationally.

HURRAH FOR "BOB!"

By appeal to the courts District Clerk "Bob" Smith has again temporarily saved his fee graft by a decision that the law enacted by the last legislature to make him turn in to the treasury all receipts of his office was arregularly passed.

"Bob" went into his office originally on a promise to stop the questionable practices previously prevailing there, but no sooner did this fake reformer land than he immediately began pocketing the insanity and naturalization fees in addition to his liberal salary, just as did his predecessors. "He was compelled to disgorge the insanity fees, but managed on the legal technicality to freeze to the naturalization fees.

To plug this legal loophole, the last legislature endeavored to change the statute and the new anti-fee-grab law was certified to and signed by the governor and appears in the volume of 1917 Session Laws. Instead of accepting the legislative edict, "Bob" continued to hold out the naturalization fees and has now come in and satisfied the court that the bill was manipulated in transit in such a way as to invalidate the legislative action. The manipulation, however, was brought about by "Bob" himself, he being the only one with a financial stake in its defeat, just as he has been the only district clerk of all the ninety odd district clerks in Nebraska, to contest the law and fight for his graft.

The outcome of this suit, if it is not reversed on appeal, must be merely that the next legislature must do over what the last legislature tried to do-pass an anti-fee-grabbing law that will be bombproof against the assaults of "Bob" or any other overgreedy office holder.

German Misapprehension of Peace Ideals.

How completely the German mind has misunderstood the peace aims of America, assented to by our allies, is well illustrated by the utterance credited to Vorwaerts, the great socialist newspaper. This journal has been the most outspoken critic of methods and policies employed by the kaiser's government, and several times has been suspended for articles that have offended the authorities. It is now a clamorous advocate for immediate peace, but rests its demands on "equipoise." In simple words the socialistic philosophers ask the world to admit Germany's military supremacy, and to balance against it the ecnomic power of the nations armed in defense of human liberty. On such a basis a truce could be arranged, which would leave Germany in control of all she holds, with full possession of her unbroken military machine, and free to obtain raw materials for re-establishing ruined commerce, while to its foes would be granted the immeasurable privilege of unrestricted traffic with the Hun. Herr Schiedeman and his amazing associates may scream loud and long for peace in the Reichstag, but until they move to revise their program, they will meet only the stern answer "writ in rows of burnished steel." An entirely new set of political ideas must penetrate the German cranium before peace will be set up again.

New Deal in Russia Coming?

Another crop of stories is coming out from Russia, in which may be some grain of encouraging fact. Most interesting of these is that a new Wonder if "Fee-Grabber Bob" will divide the government has been formed at Vladivostok in ith his office employes who do the work which the bolsheviki has no part. Such a move would be to attack the disorder in Russia from the rear and might be carried out with some chance for early success. With headquarters at Vladivostok, or even further west, Irkutsk, for example, an orderly government could extend its operation into eastern Russia, and in time be serviceable in restoring discipline to the people and eventually assist in bringing them back to efficiency. Such a move to succeed must have the support of the allies, and very likely will get what it needs. The organization of new "republics" in northern and northeastern Russia are significant only of the progress of the German plan for dividing the country into districts, and arraying one against the other. Neither of them can be of any especial service, for neither so far announced is of sufficient force to attract elements of order now seeking a rallying point. Best opinion supports the belief that Russia is to be reorganized, if at all, by the allies co-operating through Siberia.

Saved by Saving. It is a pretty little story, and rather complimentary to Americans, that comes from San Francisco about the despair of the late Viscount Rhondda over the food outlook, and how gallantly we came to the rescue. Through voluntary abstention from the use of wheat we saved enough to avert disaster and prevent the consummation of the kaiser's plans to starve England. We can afford to accept this at its face value, for, in addition to tickling our vanity, it emphasizes the importance of what we have been doing. No one in America has gone hungry; nobody has been in any way deprived of needed food, while the surplus accumulated from what was formerly wasted or consumed unnecessarily has saved the world from German domination. Now that we have acquired the habit, we can go on saving on the same basis indefinitely. Wholesome, palatable substitutes for wheat are plentiful, and their continued use will bring further good to us as a nation. We not only saved England and France, but ourselves by saving and we are better off for having done so.

Thrills of Soldiers Under Fire Views of Men In Active Service at the Front

Eugene L. Harrison in Physical Culture.

I go under fire? Will I run? Will I stay or valorous. and fight? Will I be afraid? Does my condition, but the manner in which he acdoubt indicate that I'm a coward? Does quits himself, that indicates the man's status. courage consist in a lack of fear, or in domasking them. A soldier may try to figure, arithmetically, answer. Only experience can answer his know the rizzon he act so," he prefaced.

experiences and observations may give a lot a poilu put his hands up and ron away. 'That of comfort and solace, may dispel the awful is fonny,' I say to me. thought that one may be a coward. "I ron after him. 'What for you ron?' I any sense at all is afraid when he's being shot laughed.

more afraid of being afraid, or of being seen to be afraid. And it is this greater emotion, which is partly a manifestation of pride, which dominates him and gives him courage. The composite opinion of officers, psy-cowardice. On the contrary, a man may be in addition.

Am I a coward? What will I do when filled with fear and yet be courageous, brave

Though he may be afraid, it is not this A French lieutenant of artillery, Pierre inating the sense of feaf and rising above it? Jandrop, who distinguished himself at the These questions and hundreds like them These questions and hundreds like them rated with le Croix de Guerre for bravery are being asked by soldiers destined for the in rescuing a comrade under fire, told the war. They may ask them ever so secretly, writer of a peculiar case of fear, which aphardly consciously, nevertheless they are parently was cowardice. It proved to be otherwise.

"I have study psychology; I am interes' in just what he will do, but he will not find the the how a man act under fire and I want t' "The shells burst here, there, allwhere; Those who have been under fire cannot there was plenty noise. A shell burst here' answer his questions for him, either, but their (indicating a nearby spot on the floor) "and Sergeant Arthur Guy Empey, author of say. He do not answer. So I pull his hands "Over the Top," in talking with me on this down. His eyes are all white. He don't point in the lobby of the Lyric theater one know me; he afraid all over. What you call afternoon affirmed the belief of others that beem in English? Ah, yes, ze panic. He every man of intelligence is afraid under fire. fraid, yes, but he are not a coward. No, "He's crazy if he isn't." Sergeant Empey he lose heemself in ze noise. He what you hastened to explain. "Any man who's got call in ze fonny papers, 'Nobody Home.'" he

"It is ze noise," Jandrop resumed seriat and he knows it. But that's not cow-ardice. Not at all," he continued convinc-ously. "He ron away from ze noise; not "A coward is one who becomes pan- from ze shell, ze bullets. No, no," he conicky and runs; he's lost all control of him-tinued with an expressive flip of his hands. self; he's given up to fear. But the Amer- One had but half a quota of fingers. "I say. ican boys needn't worry; they don't know 'Come wiz me, we go back.' We go back. how to run—unless it's after Fritz," he said And ze boche, he suddenly stop ze shells. "They'll be afraid all right, but No more noise. But he commence wiz ze they'll do the right thing. You can just bet machin gun. When ze large noise stop, ze on that." We remarked that he ought to man forget to be 'fraid, and he pomp away know, having fought in France, in books and at ze boche wiz his rifle. He laugh and in pictures. Apparently the Many of those returning from the front man was afraid of the noise, not of death; have said that though the soldier facing the for later he couried it, Jandrop said, by exprospects of battle may be afraid, he is still posing himself to attract the fire of the boche, who, when he fired, would be exposed, too.

Lieutenant Jandrop was the only one of nine officers to survive when an enemy shell dropped in the middle of their breakfast ta-He was buried alive, dug out and rushed hologists, war correspondents and others is to a hospital, where he remained for months, that any man with ordinary intelligence is part of the time speechless, sightless and deaf afraid in the face of danger. So fear is not from shell shock; he sustained three wounds

Glorification of the War Lord Potsdam's Royal Poet Gives the Muse a Clout

Giornale d'Italia, Rome, in the world, and in times like the present, as soon as the frontiers are open, to Pisa. place for a "court poet"? And yet there is, the warlike acts of his imperial patron. Of ister fashion, shall be placed the portrait of these poetic manifestations of the royal Wilhelm II. The original work required singer a specimen is published a "rhapsody" of his dauber would thus be reduced to very entitled "Der Herr des Todes," the Lord little, changing the face of death to that of of Death. Is this not a graceful and "sim- the kaiser, all the rest could stand; the bat's patico" title?

are far in the past, as are those of Giovanni picture! Prati and of Tennyson. But much as I have read of modern poetry-and the race of poets seems prolific as rabbits-it has never been my fate to read what the author indishonored as in this so-called rhapsody. Among the many outrages on the integrity and purity of this most noble of the manifestations of the human mind, this outrage most repugnant and shameful.

Let us note in passing that the "glorification of the carnage" is a "motif" which poetry can only use under two conditionseither that the genius of the writer transforms the matter in hand into pure art, or that the events described are so far removed poems of all literary periods are full of debut there is not one in which these two conditions are not realized. Homer and Virgil describe events so far from their own times that even what we may call the most maca- bus? bre passages of their poems arouse in the literary and artistic shudder. Besides, they were Homer, Virgil and Tasso.

On the other hand, this poetaster of the I. R. Teutonic chancellory not only has the bad taste to trust the stench of still unburied corpses under our nose, a stench that is too real and present and not at all literary but he is also guilty of choosing among the events it is his intention to celebrate just those that are the most repugnant to the moral sense of humanity. What, for instance, is the subject of his fine rhapsody, "The Lord of Death?" It is a visit of the kaiser to the monstrous cannon with which the diabolic scientific phantasy of the German engineers has solved the problem of massacring New York Times. children in schools and asylums, women in child-birth in the hospitals and the devout at prayer in the churches of Paris from a distance of several miles. Leaving the moral side out of the question, could there be anything more low-down than this from the point of view of literature and art?

If anyone still has a kindly thought for the German war lord, and all things are possible in this world, they should give him the following advice: Let him leave original art alone; he has had bad luck with his royally commissioned artists, be they sculptors. painters or poets. If he is set on being "The Lord of Death," let him summon the rounding territory.

Who would have believed there was still | least bad of his court painters and send him, There in the old Campo Sarto there is and he is, this poet who bears the title of what is as if made for him. Let him have royal, at the court of Berlin, where he is in made, to be placed in a hall of his palace at daily conversation of an intimate and spirit- Potsdam, a fine, true copy of Orcagua's ual nature with the kaiser. So it is. The "Triumph of Death," only giving orders that German papers exalt Herr Rosner, who has in place of the terrible old woman who domithe official charge of converting into poetry nates the gruesome composition in such sin-wings, the clawed hands and feet, the tightly Now it was to be expected that nothing clutched scythe, all may well be left as the in any way resembling a poem or poetry of glorious old painter drew them, for they are the laureates of other times should issue attributes common to Death and Wilhelm from the bureaucratic muse of Herr Rosner, II, Imperator at Rex. Above all, no change supported by the amiable inspiration of Wil-helm II. The times of Virgil and Ariosto which surround the dominating figure of the

A Columbus of the Air

The proposal of Signor Caproni to furnish tended for poetry on which the noble and for a flight across the Atlantic not only one holy thing that is Poesy is so degraded and of his powerful airplanes, but a pilot and crew has the approval of the Aero Club of America, which suggests that the Italian constructor be officially invited to engage in the enterprise. As an Italian navigator dison the part of the imperial functionary is the covered America, making the first passage of the Atlantic in a caravel, why should not an Italian be the first to fly over the Atlantic

How appropriate it would be for Caproni to go down to posterity as the Columbus of the air! If the voyage through the upper spaces is practicable, the modern Italian, whose big machines New York has seen in point of time as not to arouse sensations rushing at twice railway speed above its of personal horror in the reader. The great streets, would covet the distinction of taking command of the first airship to cross the Atscriptions of battles and of warlike horrors, lantic. Historic sentiment seems to require that the start be made from Spain, not from Newfoundland. Why not the port of Palos. which was the point of departure for Colum-

The route of the discoverer of the New reader only a reflective shudder, so to say, a World might be followed as closely as conditions permitted. The Canary islands, where Columbus made a stay before launching westward into the unknown, are about 700 miles southwest of Cadiz. From the Canary islands to Cuba i a longer distance than separates the Azores from Newfound land, a third greater, approximately. The first descent in America would have to be made in one of the larger West Indian is-lands, and Cuba, which Columbus took for Typangu, was the second island in the New World on which he set foot.

Columbus was 86 days reaching Cuha from Palos. Signor Caproni, with good luck, would sight Cuba in half as many hours .-

People and Events

Brother Jasper was right. "De world do move." Indian women at the Standing Rock agency have organized a Red Cross auxiliary to advance pale face civilization in central

Down in Galveston recently an innocent looking chunk of iron propped a family boiler over the fire for the Monday wash. But there wasn't any washing that day. The prop proved to be a civil war shell, vintage of passed down to posterity worthily, artisti- 1863, and fulfilled its destiny by sending the cally portrayed in the quality and dignity of boiler through the roof and shaking the sur-

Twice Told Tales

A Gentle Hunch. One beautiful summer night, when the crickets were chirping in the grass and the caterpillars were dropping from the trees, John Henry turned to the charming girl who was years ago this month the American sitting on the veranda at his side. "Edith," he said, a trifle timorously, "there comes to me a thought-I might say, a fear."

"Well, what is it?" queried the fair girl, as the other hesitated. "I suppose," responded John Henry, suggestively, hopefully, "that were I to steal a kiss you would have me "Perhaps," was the ready rejoinder, of the girl, "but you could find somebody to pay your fine, couldn't you?"

-Philadelphia Ledger.

A Starter. "This new manager may be all right, but I dunno." "What's worrying you?" asked the senior partner. "I don't like the way he started off.

"Well?"
"I asked him what was the first thing to be done and he said to get a beans for our sailors is taking a mute | red velvet rug for his office."-Louis

The Hitch. "I see congress is all harmonious about the railroads."

"What do you mean?" "I was afraid that the senate and f such thor- the house might not be able to agree creat male- on a time table."-Louisville Courier-

The Bee's

Gibbon, Neb., July 8.-To the Ed-itor of The Bee: Will you kindly al-Will you kindly allow a farmer to use a little space in your paper to express my views in reference to the effort now being made by Norris, Gore and others to raise the price of wheat? I think this effort is entirely uncalled for. The farmers of the state are not de-manding it. We are getting almost three times as much for our wheat now as when the war broke out. patriotic farmer wants to be put in the class of a profiteer. The people I know who are agitating this question are the United States senators, who want to make political capital out of it. We farmers are doing our duty to help win this war. I have a son in France in the trenches and I look upon the efforts of Norris, McCumber, Gore and others as being pure demagogy. Perhaps it may be even more. It may be a deliberate attempt to embarrass and hamper the prosecution of the war. ED COX.

Politics and the War.

Omaha, July 10.—To the Editor of The Bee; The article of Senator Hitchcock in the World-Herald of July 9, purporting to be an answer to Mr. Hays, republican national chairman, would brand the senator as the most prominent ignoramus in the United States. Premising his position on the political conditions existing among the other of the allied nations, he pleads fearfully and tearfully for a democratic majority in both houses of the next congress. If there is any lesson to be learned from the experiences of the allied nations it is that there should be no united party action in the war.

Contrary to the inference, if not to the plain statement, of the senator, all of the ailied countries, with the possible exception of Italy, have changed their political complexion not once, but many times, during the war. To go no further back than Lloyd George: He overthrew the Asquit ministry after a campaign of great virulence, although he was a member of the Asquith cabinet. In France the present premier is at least the fourth person to occupy that position since the war, and the changes there were such as to result in the indictment of a former minister for treason.

Aside from the matter of changes, the fact that the senator overlooksthe most important fact in the entire matter—is that in every cabinet of the allied powers representatives of every political party has a place, a voice and a vote in all political ques-tions, including the conduct of the In France members of the socialist party sit with members of all other parties. In Great Britain members of the labor party, the conservative party, the radical party, the liberals, all go to make up the legal advisors of the king. In no country of the allies, save the United States, does one political party attempt to run the war machinery. Political lines have not been abolished; there is as much contest over seats at by-elections as ever, but no matter how small representation a party may have in Parliament, it has its proportionate representation in the cabinet, a cabinet responsible to the people. If the managers of the democratic party have a patriotism which forgets party when the country is in danger they have not displayed it at this time; especially have they falled to show this in the false, misleading and assinine pronunciamento of the gentleman from Nebraska who has so signally misrepresented the commonwealth in the United States senate. Incidentally, it may be noted that every political change in the governof the allied nations strengthened the force of that nation in the conduct of the war. "Over there" every party is helping to win the war. Over here the senator and his assoclates, apparently, would place the matter on a strictly partisan basis.

LINES TO A SMILE.

"What have you got?" asked the parson of the chauffeur who rang his doorbel "One pair," replied the chauffeur, beck-ening to the eloping couple to come for-

"I see where the kings of Europe think they have to stick together." "Well, I would give all the kings in Europe in this war for one good American ace."—San Francisco Chronicle.

"There's young Buffins who is a promising young man. Why don't you take him in with you on this?"
"Because I doubt the wisdom of taking in a promising young man on a strictly paying enterprise."—Baltimore American. Miss Slim-You have lost considerable veight in the past few months. Are you weight in the past few months. Are you disting?

Mrs. Fatleigh—Oh, no. That's only because of the trouble I have with my cook. Miss Silm—Why don't you discharge her?

Mrs. Fatleigh—I'm going to. As soon as she worries me down to 175 pounds, I shall order her out of the house.—Boston Trans-

TELEPHONE IN WAR TIME. She used to chirrup, "Number, please?
In Gramercy or John,
But now, across the sounding seas.
A bigger board she's on,
And all the ancient buzzing bees

For sterner work are gout Ring! ring! ring!
The wires forever sing.
This is no belie
From Av'noo L
Who calls her sweetheart

It is a Colonel calling,
From where the fee are falling.
Pershing gets "Hello" from Kittle Reilly! Her Gotham calls had little range Outside the town's expanse;
She thought all foreign words were strange
Unless they meant a dance;
But now she's in the great each

Of Yankeeland-in France. Ring! ring! ring! Who is it summoning? Not old Bill Fox Who's won at stocker And phones the tidinan

It is a Yank tactician
Who's won a new position
And Pershing gets "Hellot" from Chile
Relief Relily! Life's little, foolish, trifling things Buzzed in and out her ears;
'Twas seidom tales of buryings
She heard, and sound of tears;
But now mad murders by mad kings
As common talk she hears.

Ring! ring! ring! Sometimes it bears a sting

When news of loss

When news of cose
Breaks sharp across
The laugh she treasures highly.
Oh! far off seems the city
That once was home to Kittle
When Pershing gets "Hello!" from Kittle -JOHN O'KEEFE in N. Y. World.

Marred, Cracked, Chipped, Warped, Picture Frames

all neatly and skillfully repaired so that they'll look like new.

In the case of many of your old pictures it would be advisable to reframe them entirely. You'll be surprised how a frame carefully chosen to match the subject of the picture enhances its beauty.

The frame has much to do with the attractiveness of any picture. We have men here who are experts in choosing frames most suited to every type of picture, You can entrust picture framing to us with the assurance that you'll get the most artistic and pleasing results. Prices reasonable. JUST TRY US!

WELLINGTON INN CAFE Appetizing, Real

HOME COOKING Noon Luncheon 404 Evening Dinner 604 Good Music COME The same of the sa

Don't endure that itching Heal it with

That itching which keeps you awake at night, and forces you to scratch at the most embarrassing times, is almost sure to yield to Resinol Ointment. Usually the discomfort stops and healing begins with the first application, and the distressing eruption quickly disappears, Resinol Ointment is even more effective if aided by Resinol Soap.

used on exposed surfa out attracting undue attention. Contains nothing that could inritate the tenderest skin. Res-inol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all stuggists.
Use Resinol Soap for the bath, shampoo and baby askin.

One Year Ago Today in the War.

rally to nation's aid and put patriotsm above profit. House of representatives passed measure regulating under license sysm all "trading with enemy."
British driven back to Yeer river, near the sea, and from advanced ports

The Day We Celebrate. Rev. M. V. Higbee, former paster of the North Presbyterian church, born

A. J. P. Bertschy, president of the Bertschy, Manufacturing and Engi-neering company, born 1875. George W. Norris, senator from Nebraska, born in Sandusky county, Ohio. 57 years ago. Ohio, 57 years ago.
Rear Admiral Perry Garst, U. S.
N., retired, born at Dayton, O., 70

This Day in History.

1862—Federal troops under General Washburne occupied Helena, Ark.

1863—Drafting of soldiers was begun in New York City.

1893—Colorado silver convention, meeting in Denver, issued an appeal to the people of the United States.

1896—Sir Wilfrid Laurier became premier of Canada, the first French-Canadian to hold the post.

1908—Battleship South Carolina Jaunched at Philadelphia.

totaled 1,500,909.

Just 30 Years Ago Today J. H. Trentman, of the Board of Trade cafe, has gone on a short busi-Almost daily arrests are made of persons who have been guilty of leav ing teams standing untied. . The city council will meet this evening to take up the ordinance pro-viding for a city hall, a jail and a/li-

The figures of the assessors show for the underpinning of American solthat the land in Douglas county plat- diers and sailors. No. 12 is the large ted in city lots is about five-sixths of est size for the army, but trench duty the whole in valuation.

Manager Fitch of Elkhorn road. A Natural Tendency.

F. E. McMullen, late stenographer pose. Judge in the post foodstuffs at camp canter T

Sidelights on the War England is saving $5,000,000 a year out of the refuse of the military Australia has already assumed an annual liability of more than $15,-000,000 for war pensions. A girl of Brighton, England, beasts that since the war began she has been engaged 16 times and has broken every engagement herself. The average daily production of American rifles is up to 10,000, and These tools inincreasing steadily. sure some lively shooting bye-and-bye. M. Clemenceau, premier of France, has fought more duels than almost any other man in Europe and has come out of them with scarcely a scratch.

Prayers are said daily in the British House of Commons, and it is a curious fact that all the members stand during prayers, not kneel, as Eighty-five sizes of footwear, ranging from 5-B to 14-EE, are needed calls for two sizes larger.

The rations of prisoners of war in to Secretary Nattinger, of the Board Great Britain consist of nine ounce of Trade, is now clerk to General of bread, four ounces of broken bis cults, four ounces of meat, daily five days a week. Pickled beef is served on two days and 10 ounces of salt-Patient-Doctor, why does a small cured herring, potatoes, 20 ounces; cavity seem so large to the tongue? tea or coffee, one-half ounce; sugar, Dentist—Just the natural tendency I ounce, besides vegetables in season. of the tengue to exaggerate. I sup- Prisoners may buy limited quantities

Peppery Points

New York Herald: The only autocrat who sees no need of quaking in his boots in these days of a triumphant democracy is old friend King Minneapolis Journal:

was landing in Cuba in command of a fat man and with Teddy the Terrible in full eruption. Baltimore American: votes away $22,000,000,000 in a few hours. It is hard to kiss that much money goodby, but it would be harder still if we did not have it to kiss: Louisville Courier-Journal: "After the war I shall stand no foolishness from America," said the kaiser, Very good, but during the war how will you stand the gaft from America? Minneapolis Tribune: If Austria will only dissolve the partnership and go into voluntary military bankruptcy t may be able to re-establish itself in reputable business at the old stand some day. Brooklyn Eagle: Any Boy Scout who finds a submarine base on our You know the factory is in a muddle."

Coasts will get $1,000 from Secretary "Well?" Daniels. The Boy Scout who stays home with his father and hoes navy and inglorious part, but he is playing ville Court r-Journal. safer shot. New York World: If a nation professing to be civilized is going to sink hospital ships bearing the Re Cross, there may be a certain efficiency in undertaking to leave no crime. We often read trace of the oughness on the part of