Thought for the Day

MOURNING.

Shall I wear mourning for my soldier dead,
—a believer? Give me red.
Or give me royal purple for the King
At whose high court my love is visiting.
Dress me in green for growth, for life made new;
For skies his dear feet march, dress me in blue;
In white for his white soul—robe me in gold
For all the pride that his new rank shall hold.
In earth's dim gardens blooms no hue so bright
To dress me for my love who walks in light!

Omaha Will Be Brightened By Pretty Girl Caddies in Gayest Sport Clothes Next Week

There will be many a golf widow in town next week, for the tournament will be on! But, list, that is not all! Added to the allurements of the rolling green of the links will be the prettiest caddies you have ever seen. For in the Red Cross cause our most attractive girls will be on hand in their gayest sport clothes to assist in making this the most popular tournament ever held in Omaha.

The Red Cross has given a number of these benefits in other cities, the society girls of Minneapolis pledging their services for the week, and, as you can guess, the clubs were crowded with golf enthusiasts when these fascinating young women "caddied." Attractive booths will be a feature of the tournament at the clubs here and our most prominent young women will dispense cooling drinks and smiles.

Golf balls will be sold in a popular way, the proceeds to be poured into the coffers of the Red Cross. Mr. Gould Dietz has charge of the arrangements and he promises many a surprise to those who follow the elusive white ball.

Camp Brewster Entertains Girls.

The business girls of Omaha are invited to attend an informal party at Camp Brewster on the evening of Saturday, July 13.

Some of the special features of the evening will be a general demonstration of swimming and life saving, a match game of volley ball between the K. Q's and the Athletic club. An orchestra will furnish music and other interesting forms of entertainment will be provided. A special feature of this week-end will be a Sunday morning beach breakfast. The breakfast will be cooked on the bank of the river. Returning through the Bird reserve, a stop will be made on one of the hilltops, where Miss Etta Pickering will lead the girls in early morning service.

Forty members of the Student club who held their encampment here this spring will hold a reunion on Saturday afternoon at the camp to exchange kodak pictures, and will also attend the party. Miss Dora Alexander and a number of the Woodmen Circle girls are also planning to attend.

Military Wedding.

One of Omaha's most attractive girls will be the central figure in a pretty military wedding on Sunday, for the marriage of Miss Ruth Arnstein, daughter of Mrs. Theresa Arnstein, to Sergt. Ralph M. Rothschild will take place on that day in Des Moines. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Ve Viers, and the young couple will be unattended.

Miss Arnstein has been in Des Moines for some time, and Mrs. Arnstein left a few days ago. Sergt. Rothschild, who is a son of Mrs. Lee Rothschild of Omaha, is stationed at Camp Dodge, and his bride will remain in Des Moines for the present.

Miss Grace Oddie Will Become Social Secretary At Armour Plant Soon

Miss Grace Oddie, formerly employment secretary at the Young Women's Christian association, has accepted the position of social secretary at the Armour Packing plant. Miss Oddie will take up her new duties the second week in August. She left Wednesday evening for Minneapolis, Lake Minnetonka and other Minnesota points. After a short rest, she expects to visit some of the big business concerns and make a study of industrial conditions in the north.

Mrs. S. A. Garth of Colorado Springs has recently completed a special course in drafting of iron and steel work in the engineering department of Colorado college.

The granting of votes to women graduates is being followed by a movement to admit women to full membership in Cambridge university.

One of First 500 Hour Workers For Omaha Branch Red Cross

MRS. W.E. BOLIN

Mrs. W. E. Bolin is not only among the first Red Cross workers to earn the coveted 500-hour button, but she has worked a lot of extra hours for good measure; in fact, she didn't even add up the time she has spent knitting.

The Public Shop is where the decoration was mostly earned. Every Tuesday and Thursday nights and three or four days during the week Mrs. Bolin devotes to surgical dressings. On Tuesdays she is chairman for the day.

She also acts as supervisor for the Trinity Methodist Episcopal auxiliary, which group of workers has won an enviable reputation for proficiency. They have not only always completed their own quota but have often been enlisted to lend a helping hand to other auxiliaries.

The pin, which is worn on the right side of the apron, is most artistically designed. The red cross of enamel is placed on a background of gold.

Bacteriological Training for Women.

Women are now being prepared for technical positions in hospital laboratories by a course given at the bacteriological laboratory of the department of Philadelphia, according to the statement of Dr. C. Y. Young, chief bacteriologist. The course is open to women between the ages of 18 and 35 with high school educations, though college graduates are preferred; but all women taking the course pledge themselves to accept government positions at salaries offered by the government and to go wherever the government needs technical laboratory work. No charge is made for tuition, the members of the laboratory force having volunteered their services for patriotic reasons, but a deposit of $5 is required for breakage, while books for the course cost about $10.

The complete course, consisting of four divisions, includes the preparation of material for historical work, and bacteriological diagnosis. As a student completes each division, she is given an examination, and, if she obtains an average of 90 per cent, is allowed to proceed to the next course. Those who do not obtain 90 per cent, but whose average is over 70 per cent, are recommended to the government for the work they have satisfactorily completed. The results of examinations will be furnished to the government upon request; but no information regarding students will be given to private enterprises, since the course is intended to meet the needs of the government.

Thirty-two women had been enrolled in the school up to June 24, 1918, and others will be accommodated later.

Y. W. C. A. at Camp Dix.

Gen. H. S. Scott, who is in command of Camp Dix, N. J., pays tribute to the work of the Y. W. C. A. through its soldiers' clubs and hostess house, "which keep the young men in camp under refining influences."

"I am doing everything I can to assist the women," said General Scott. "The women of America have risen to their responsibilities in this war in a very remarkable manner, and I feel sure that they will properly meet any condition that may arise in the future. In case the man power of the nation should be depleted the women will take the places of the men just as in Russia where I have seen women firing locomotives and commanding a battalion; and the women of America are in no manner a whit behind those of any nation."

Miss Edna Geister, recreational secretary of the National War Council of the Young Women's Christian Association, is in Washington, D. C., to establish model recreation centers for government workers. Miss Geister has established such centers at cantonments and cities near which training camps are located. There are now 3,378,998 women registered for service, according to their specialized talents, under the Women's Committee of the Council of National Defense. The majority are registered for industries and agriculture. This census is being taken by the state committees of the council. These figures represent the incomplete registration returns from 25 states.

Four of the passenger vehicles of the depot quartermaster's department at Washington, D. C., are now being driven by women. Two of the motors are interoffice busses running on a schedule. The remainder are kept on call. According to the regulations governing other drivers, the women drivers are not responsible for the upkeep of their cars. They report at 9 o'clock in the morning and are dismissed at 4:30 in the afternoon. They are paid at the same rate as the men drivers, which averages $70 per month.

A frock for evening wear in keeping with war's emergencies is a black satin and gray crepe de chine; a few lines of gold embroidery gives life to the model.
