

CANDIDATES FOR JUDICIARY SLOW GETTING IN LINE

But Few Days Remain for Office Seekers to Get Names Placed on State Primary Ballot.

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, July 14.—(Special).—Candidates for places on the primary ballot for judicial positions and also for regents of the State university are going to find themselves up against it if they do not get busy before the end of the week, according to Secretary of State Pool. Their names will not be certified to the soldiers unless their filings reach the office of the secretary in time for him to prepare the pamphlets to be sent out.

Immediately following July 20, Mr. Pool will prepare the pamphlets in which the names of all candidates who have filed up to that time will be printed. One each of these pamphlets will be sent to each soldier now stationed in the United States, so far as their names can be secured, in order that they may have a vote in the primary to be held August 20.

Few Filings Are In. "The nonpartisan law permits candidates to file up to within 10 days of the election," said Secretary Pool in a statement issued last night, "and it would be impossible to certify those names so filed to the soldiers in time to give them an opportunity to vote at the primary."

The secretary holds that all persons filing later than July 20 will be deprived of having their names certified out to the soldiers. Thus far only two candidates for the supreme bench have sent their filings to the secretary of state. They are: Chester J. Aldrich, former governor, and Francis G. Hamer, present member of the supreme court, who filed for re-election. His filing has been received for the office of regent of the state university.

One or more filings have been made for every office on the republican ticket for state places, except that of attorney general, and all places on the democratic ticket are now represented by filings in the office of the secretary of state.

Bar Association Plan. People out in the state who have no interest in the selection of candidates for the supreme bench other than that good men shall be selected on the nonpartisan judicial ballot are watching with a great deal of interest the outcome of the contest between the state bar association, which at its meeting in Lincoln several months ago decided to take a ballot to select candidates, and the stand of Judge Francis G. Hamer, who filed for re-election and Chester H. Aldrich, who are asking for nomination, and who have not been endorsed by the bar association.

The ballot as prepared by the bar association contained the names of George F. Cochran, York; John N. Dryden, Kearney; Ralph W. Hobert, Gering; William H. Kellinger, Auburn; William G. Lambert, Omaha; Charles B. Letton, Lincoln; Grant G. Martin, Lincoln; William M. Morning, Lincoln; E. B. Perry, Cambridge; William B. Rose, Lincoln; Anson A. Welch, Wayne; and W. J. Westover, Rushville. The result of the ballot gave the right of the endorsement to Letton, Rose, Martin, Perry, Dryden and Morning. Judge Morning has withdrawn his name and will seek election for the place he now holds as judge of the district court for Lancaster county.

Outside of the five candidates selected by the bar association who are now in the race, two who did not receive the bar association endorsement, Supreme Judge Hamer and former governor Chester H. Aldrich, have filed for the nomination. Both of these men have the endorsement of a large number of people out in the state as shown by petitions now on file in the office of the secretary of state. Judge Hamer received the endorsement from 44 counties while Governor Aldrich had about the same number, but several more names.

School Land Revaluation Shows $1,596,733 Increase. Lincoln, Neb., July 14.—(Special).—Because of revaluations of school lands, the increase over the old valuation or appraisement is $1,596,733.48 and the annual increase $95,804.01, according to a statement issued by Land Commissioner Grant Shumway on the 32 counties so far reappraised. The reappraisal formerly made the valuation $1,048,917.81, while the new valuation in these counties amounts to $2,645,651.29. The old valuation in Douglas county was $6,717, while the new valuation is $17,354.

"Bill" Haller's Death is Blow to the Homeless Poor

If Judge Lee Estelle is fortunate enough to go to heaven and fails to find W. D. Haller there, the judge wants to turn right around and leave for he will know that there is something wrong with the "management."

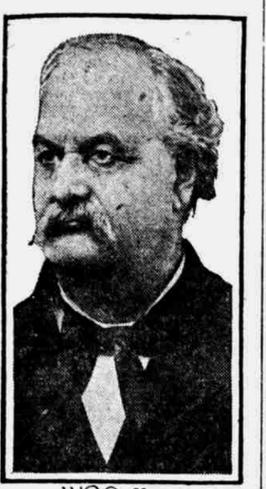

"He was the most red-blooded man I ever knew," said Judge Estelle. In the passing of "Bill" Haller of Blair last week, Nebraska lost one of the biggest and most thoroughly human men who ever blessed the big and generous west with his presence.

Haller was proprietor of a drug store in Blair. The drug store was always open to the poor and needy and even to the "deadbeats" of the town and country. Haller never asked a man for money and never refused to supply the needs of any customer, even when he knew that payment would not be made.

"There are some men," said Herman Aye, "about whom there would be quite a sensation if they met a beggar in the street and took off their shoes to give him. No one would think twice of the occurrence if the man was Haller because acts of this character were every-day happenings with him."

There are some men who could not keep a friend. Haller could not keep an enemy. "If you did a wrong thing," said Bill Haller, "I would come around later in trouble, Bill would be the first man to put out his hand to help you. He never held a grudge. He made political enemies, but even the men who fought him in politics were his personal friends. I hated to do that," said a man once who defeated him for mayor. "Forget it," was the reply.

Mr. Haller was 14 times mayor of Blair. Time and again his home town decided to put someone else in as chief executive, but the honor always came back to Haller the next term. He served several terms in the state senate and house. Had Mr. Haller been more ambitious he might have carried away even higher political

Creamery and Electric Light Plant in O'Neill Destroyed by Fire

O'Neill, Neb., July 14.—(Special Telegram).—The plants of the McGinnis Creamery and Produce company and Electric Light company were destroyed by an early morning fire. The fire is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion. It was discovered in the engine room and soon gained such headway that it could not be controlled. The damage is estimated at $4,000 with $2,000 insurance.

Mr. McGinnis, Fremont, one of the principal owners of the company, says the plant will be rebuilt at once. They have made arrangements to handle their cream business here the same as usual, pending the erection of new plant. In addition to the creamery business they owned the electric light plant. The city is in darkness. They expect to have their plant in operation within 10 days.

Hair Trigger Poll Shows Two Republicans to One Democrat in Nebraska

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, July 14.—(Special).—According to a poll being taken under what is known as the "hair trigger" system, by Charles Q. De France, former well known populist and democrat, there are more than twice as many republicans in Nebraska as there are democrats at the present time.

When Mr. De France began his poll of university alumni, bankers, farmers and newspapermen, it was for the purpose of discovering who was the greatest in the kind of politics as it related to the United States senate, but it has disclosed that as far as gone there are 217 republicans to only 96 democrats and their votes gives Ross L. Hammond the lead in the republican camp and former Gov. John H. Moreshead the lead in the democratic fold.

GOVERNMENT TO COME TO AID OF SCHOOL OFFICIALS

Plans Worked Out for Co-operation in Placing Teachers in Schools of Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., July 14.—(Special).—To aid the schools in securing competent teachers, principals, supervisors and superintendents, the United States Department of Labor is maintaining a federal employment service as a war measure, without cost to either teacher or school board. A plan of co-operation has been arranged whereby this service is carried in conjunction with the University of Nebraska.

Through the Bureau of Professional service, all possible assistance is given school officials requesting aid. Specific recommendations are made, or lists of available candidates and confidential reports are submitted.

Asked to Give Notice. School officers are asked to give notice of vacancies or to request lists of candidates for all types of educational service at any time. When possible two or three names will be suggested. In preparing the list, no distinction is made as to the institutions from which candidates come.

Requests should be specific giving as nearly as possible the exact work to be done, including the list of subjects to be taught. Under present educational standards it is impossible to make recommendations of value without knowing the major subjects of instruction. No teacher can handle all subjects well. One of the main purposes of this service is to aid the school by helping to find the teacher who can do the work needed. Instruction will be improved and failures reduced by this means, says A. A. Reed of the department.

Everything Confidential. It is of the utmost importance that the confidential character of all recommendations carried by candidates be preserved. General recommendations to have little value. The confidential reports of this bureau must be carefully guarded in order that due weight may be given the reports of worthy candidates. Under no circumstances should they be shown to the candidate. They are sent only to school officers, and should be returned in the accompanying envelope as soon as the case is closed.

Address all inquiries to Department of Labor, United States Employment Service in Co-operation with the Bureau of Professional Service, University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb.

Miss Edith A. Dorsey, who is to receive a degree from the University of Nebraska this week, has returned from a trip to Chicago, made at the invitation of the board of directors of the Young Women's Christian Association of Columbus, O.

Miss Dorsey's home is in Denver. She has been a student at the University of Nebraska for two years and had previously made an enviable record as high school principal in Colorado, because of qualities of leadership shown in her work with girls. It was her intention to continue in the field of education and she shaped her work in the teachers' college with that end in view.

Vocational Education To Fore in Missouri

Columbia, Mo., July 14.—One of the questions arising out of the war receiving the attention of prominent educators throughout the country is that of vocational training. The University of Missouri, to help fill the large demand for teachers of vocational agriculture, home economics, and trades and industries created by the Smith-Hughes act, which provides federal aid for secondary schools giving approved courses, has made special provision for training teachers in these lines. A four-year curriculum has been prepared for the training of teachers of vocational agriculture, and of home economics also.

These courses in vocational training will probably be made permanent. It is regarded as significant that even in industries which have heretofore been purely cultural in their educational policies vocational courses have been adopted. This is true even of institutions that are devoted exclusively to the education of women. Several of the state institutions have taken up vocational or technical training on a large scale.

Are Creating Positions For Soldier Dependents

Unfortunately it is often the case that when a young man enlists for military service he leaves some dependent who is compelled to earn a living. Boyles college is sending out a special invitation to such dependents to come there and "polish up" in office branches in which they may have been employed before entering domestic duties. This is a genuine encouragement to these dependents for it enables them to earn better pay and work under desirable conditions, they say.

Benefits thereby accrue to the business man as well in these times, when office help is quitting to fight, for it supplies new help that he must have if his business is to continue.

SUMMER COURSE FOR TEACHERS VERY POPULAR

Hundred and Thirty Have Registered for Session in University of Omaha and More Expected.

The University of Omaha summer session has proved very popular with the local teachers and college students. One hundred and thirty are now registered for summer work and at least 160 are expected after the beginning of the second term, which begins Monday, July 10.

The following courses will be given for four weeks starting July 10: Primary method, general method, method in history, method in geography, kindergarten, general psychology, educational psychology, child psychology, mental tests.

The courses offered by Miss Bland of Columbia university have proven very interesting and many teachers who expected to attend only the first term have registered for the last four weeks also. Her work is a success because it is up-to-date and deals with practical problems of the school room.

The work in mental tests given by Dean Stevenson has proven so popular that an afternoon class will be started Monday for the teachers in the city summer schools who cannot attend in the morning. This class is studying the recent tests for measuring intelligence and practicing by giving them to children from the public schools.

The two weeks course beginning July 29 in supervised study and secondary method will bring many high school teachers to the university. This work will be given by Dr. Alfred Hallquist, author of "Supervised Study," who is now professor of secondary education in the University of Cincinnati and director of Cincinnati high schools. He is a specialist in supervision of study and an educator of national repute.
