This will be the first load of cattle to be sold on this market for the benefit of the Red Cross. The movement is thought to have originated among cattle men following the immense success by the farmers in raising a fund of over $300,000 for the Red Cross through the sale of hogs on the South Side market since last February.

Stockmen are much interested in the report from Cherry county, which they take to mean will be the starting of another large fund for the Nebraska Red Cross societies.

In the Silent Drama

Sun-Louise Glaum in the Paraita feature "Wedlocked," comes to the Sun this week for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Miss for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Miss Glaum, who obtained recognition as an exceptionally able player of "vamps" and of emotional roles, has here a strong story of married life and love that allows her full play of her artistic abilities in producing sensational climaxes. The play, however, is not entirely devoid of humor and aided by an excellent cast Miss Glaum has brought out an interesting story, well staged and well produced. In addition to the feature there will also be shown "Britain's was the spokesman for the 500 delegation of the scason. ture there will also be shown "Britain's Bulwarks," some of the war pictures of England, this week's issue showing the Canadian regiments in their wonderful work in Flanders. The pictures of the boys from Strand—Mabel Normand appearing in "The Venus Model" has a charming story of the rejuvenation of a dying business by the injection of new ideas in bathing togs into a style book. She is in the part of Kitty O'Brien, who works for the bathing suit concern and will not wear their makes because they are too old fashioned. She designs a striking suit of her own and is prevailed upon by the owner's son, who has come into the plant as a stranger, to show her creation to the buyers then present. It makes a hit and incidentaly Kitty in her regalia makes a hit with the son. The upshot of the story is that Kitty has won a home and when father and mother come home the son has a whirlwind business go-ing and a new wife. The play is full of life and humor and Miss Normand makes of it an exhilarating comedy drama.

Rialto-Madge Kennedy in "The Service Rialto-Madge Kennedy in "The Service Star" has a war story with no battles, but tells in a thrilling and interesting manner the tale of the woman who willingly sends away the man she loves to fight the battles of the world today and waits at home, strong in the belief that it is for the right. It is the story of the millions of service stars in America today and Miss Kennedy tells it in a brilliant manner on the screen. None of the many war pictures of today have been able to get away from the pictures of troops and battles as has this novel story of today's war. story of today's war.

Empress—The Four Seasons, a comedy singing, talking and dancing act which is effered by four charmingly pretty girls at the Empresa is presented in a neat and classy style that is enjoyed from opening until close. Wright and Walker, nifty boys with nifty dances, certainly possess talent in the line of terpsichore. The Lancashire clog, now obsolete, is revived and calls for unbounded applause. Millions could not corrupt this girl which patrons of the Empress rupt this girl which patrons of the Empress theater admired so much yesterday, but she needed a part of those millions not for pleasure, but to further a laudable career, therefore, she steeled herself to the sacrifice demanded by the donor. The result, a pic-ture called "Her Price," which had its first showing in the city at the performances Sunday and continuing until Thursday.

Rohlff-Mitchell Lewis in his new play of the Canadian northwest territory will be here today and Wednesday. In "The Sign Invisible," Lewis portrays the story of a strong man, battling with the elements and with his fellowmen to a successful attain-ment of his desires. There is a mystery worked into the theme that lends interest to the story and through the play runs a leve plot with a pretty finale. Lewis has completed two of these northern plays in the past few months, going right into the snowy country to take them and they are pronuoneed two of the greatest stories of the north that have ever been presented on the screen.

Lothrop-Mabel Normand in "Joan of Plattsburg, is starring in one of the fea-tures of the year, a play with its theme the entrance of America in the world war. It is a thrilling love story and drama with the stirring scenes of America preparing itself for war overseas as a background and be-sides being an interesting love story and a play of merit it has been put on with the aid of many of the units of the soldiers training in this country and gives an ap-preciable idea of the vastness of the work this country is doing. Miss Normand ap-pears to good advantage in the drama and bears to good advantage in the drama and is ably assisted by an excellent cast. In addition to the big feature there is also being run here Fatty Arbuckle in "A Barnyard Romeo," and a Mutt and Jeff comedy Alhambra—Bessie Barriscale in "Madame Who?" will be seen here for the last times today in a drama of mystery so built and acted that it makes a most interesting film. "Madame Who?" is a girl who is in search of the man we has killed her guardian and she goes to Nye in the Latin quarter and among the Apache tribes of Paris in order to be able to find him. The portrayal of the life there is faithful and has been excellently staged, while Miss Barriscale in the plot brings to the story a real charm. A Mutt and Jeff comedy completes the program. On Wednesday will be seen Gladys Hulette in her comedy feature "Pots and Pans Peggy," and there will also be shown the fourth episode of "The House of Hate" with Pearl White in the leading role, while a Lonesome Luke comedy completes the program. Alhambra-Bessie Barriscale in "Madame Luke comedy completes the program.

Grand—Charles Ray in "Playing the Game," seen here for the last time today, presents a real American youth with his high sense of sportsmanship, taking the bad philosophicality and by his pluck and determination bringing things to a successful conclusion in the end. Fatty Arbuckle will also be shown today in one of his comedy effects, this time as a patient undergoing an operation, in "Oh Doctor." On Wednesday will come Pearl White and Antonio Moreno, in the "House of Hate," seventh episode. A Keystone comedy and the Pathe news are also on the program.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap

Soap should be used very carefully, you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every par-
