

VETERINARIANS
DO NOT DISCUSS PROFITEERING

Dove of Peace Apparently Stops Break Between
Doctors and County Agents;
Officers Elected.

Honors went to Omaha at the election of the Missouri Valley Veterinary association Tuesday afternoon, when Dr. C. C. Hall of Omaha was elected president of the association. Dr. J. W. Chenoweth of Albany, Mo., was elected vice president and Dr. R. F. Bourne of Fort Collins, Colo., secretary-treasurer. The following were elected trustees: Dr. L. W. Shipley, Sheldon, Ia.; Dr. P. L. Cady, Arlington, Neb.; Dr. A. T. Kingsley, Kansas City, Mo.; Dr. B. W. Murphy, Topeka, Kan., and Dr. G. H. Glover, Fort Collins, Colo.

Veterinarians Inspect Meats

The afternoon session opened with an interesting paper by Dr. D. M. Campbell of Chicago, who has been making a special study of government veterinary work. Dr. Campbell said that there are 9,000 privates and 1,500 officers of the veterinary corps now in active service, a little over half of the number authorized, and arrangements are being made to call more. These men safeguard the health of the horses and mules and inspect the meat supplies, making had meat scandals an impossibility in this war. He stated that meat is being shipped to Europe now at the rate of 2,000 pounds a minute.

Dr. W. Horace Hoskins of New York City spoke of the patriotic duty of the veterinarians left in civil life and advocated their working without fees in cases where stock raisers refused to take prompt action to save the stock.

Dr. A. W. French, state veterinarian of Wyoming and authority on bovine tuberculosis, delivered a technical paper on tuberculin tests.

Profiteering Discussion Omitted

The reply to the profiteering accusation of county agents recently published was given by Dr. G. H. Glover of Fort Collins, Colo. Dr. Glover advocated cooperation and common sense. He stated that there was no sense in calling names. In Colorado things are peaceful and the county agents, according to Dr. Glover, do not care to make errand boys of themselves, doing everything from bringing home twice for the farmers to doctoring a sick calf. They turn over cases requiring veterinary care to the veterinarian, who is trained for this work. The county agent director who insists on his men doing work they do not understand, Dr. Glover characterized as a quack, but he believes these are a few and would be less if there were a better understanding between parties. Discussion on this paper was put over until morning.

In the evening I. C. Brenner, who has just returned from a six months trip to the cantonments of the country, gave a lantern slide lecture on veterinary conditions in the army camps. Patriotic speeches followed. The banquet was omitted for conservation reasons.

Serum Companies Meet

Associated Serum Companies of America in session at the Rome hotel Monday, named E. M. Bowdington, attorney of Kansas City, Kan., permanent secretary of the association. This position will include that of legal adviser. There are more than 40 companies in the association, 30 of which have delegates at this convention.

"There is more harmony evidenced this year among serum manufacturers than ever before," said Mr. Bowdington. "Shortage of labor and pigs have made it impossible to fill the demand for serum in our busy season, which is at this season of the year. As our plants and all our product must be government inspected, and the government finds it difficult to obtain sufficient inspectors, this is another difficulty serum men have to face."

The Missouri Valley veterinarians, also in session at the Rome hotel, listened to an address Tuesday morning by Dr. A. Eichorn, of New York, formerly government biologist. He spoke on "The Control of Important Infectious Diseases in the Conservation of Our Live Stock," and dwelt especially upon war conditions and the meat industry. "Conservation of Edible and Inedible Fats," by Dr. J. I. Gibson, state veterinarian of Iowa, was another paper read.

The women visitors were taken to Seymour lake for a luncheon at the club.

Horrors! How Could
"Chick" Play Golf
Without a Massage

"Chick" needed a shave and so several golf fans who had gathered at the Happy Hollow club to watch him give the course the double-o were disappointed. With his trio of golfers he arrived about 9:10 this morning and under the wing of W. J. Foye was escorted on a fiery chariot to the Hotel Fontenelle, where he washed the marks of journeying from his person. Going down to the tonorial parlor he ordered his face to be freed from the rapidly growing bristle crop.

Meanwhile, his trio of friends who caused the excitement at the Happy Hollow club this afternoon waited impatiently above and the group of press men and golf-bug infested business men passed the time away brushing the flies from their faces as the clock slowly approached the eleventh hour and the thermometer's mercury soared. When the clock chimed out that the hour before noon had come, wishing the absent players all sorts of luck, the golfers and scribes returned homeward foiled.

Stockmen Report Drouth
Becoming Serious in State
Reports from stockmen from different sections of the country indicate that the effects of the long continued dry weather is being viewed with considerable alarm by farmers and feeders. Many are hesitating to place an order for feeder cattle, owing to the shortage of pasture, and the extremely light hay crops in many parts of the stock raising country. The territory in north central Nebraska is probably in better condition than in any other section of the state, it is said. Several counties have reported that the crops will be far below the average even if the drouth was broken now, while others report that immediate rain in sufficient quantity would insure a fair crop.

Government Improves
Wire Service to Stockmen

South Side stockmen are highly pleased with the change made by the government Monday in regard to the wiring of market reports from Chicago. Beginning Monday, the government will furnish a 9 o'clock wire, which will bring necessary information for early transactions on this market, stockmen say.

The Omaha and Council Bluffs Street Railway company will not be represented at the conference of the war labor board on Omaha traction matters, at Kansas City today.

All other parties to the controversy will have representatives at the meeting which has been called by the federal authorities to thresh out the questions involved in the street railway strike at Kansas City and the impending strike on the Omaha system.

General Manager Smith of the traction company, when asked if the street railway corporation would be represented, said, yesterday:

"So far as we are concerned, we are at a standstill. We have taken no action except that which we have already made public and will have no representative at the meeting at Kansas City, for the reason we are waiting on additional information as to what is expected of us and the methods of procedure."

Doctors Fail to Respond
On Call From Police

It was at least 50 minutes after the police had been notified before a doctor was available for the treatment of Mrs. John Marksbury, 719 South Fifteenth street, who attempted suicide by drinking carboic acid Tuesday night.

Police are under orders to summon only Police Surgeons Manning, Foltz or Tomlinson, on emergency calls. When notified of the attempted suicide, Tuesday night, they tried for 10 minutes in a vain attempt to locate a police surgeon and then the patrol auto made the trip without a doctor.

The woman was rushed to Lister hospital, without treatment, where the nurses did not seem to consider haste in her care was necessary. At the end of half an hour after arriving at the hospital, no doctor had arrived.

A 5-year-old boy, Billy Wandler, 2408 Cass street, run over by an automobile driven by John Murphy, 507 North Forty-first street, brought to the hospital at the same time, was forced to go without medical attention for some time.

At 11 o'clock Mrs. Marksbury was reported not in a dangerous condition, but doing fairly well.

The woman made her attempt to end her life subsequent to a quarrel with her husband.
