Improvement in Crop Conditions Helpful to Bears in Corn Market, Chicago, Ili., July 17.—Better crop condi-tions, together with the fact that wheat premiums were almost a thing of past, exercised a bearish-influence today on corn. lower, with August $1.60 to $1.60%, and September, $1.60% to $1.60%. Oats gained half cent to 1 cent and provisions a shade to 45c Good rains over Kansas, Nebraska, South Good rains over Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and parts of Missouri inspired general seiling at the outset in the corn market, and although a strong rally ensued fresh selling pressure developed and carried prices downward again most of the time the rest of the day. The temporary upturn was ascribed to advices indicating that shipments from the country would be sharply was ascribed to advices indicating that ship-ments from the country would be sharply curtailed. On the other hand, much notice was taken of the fact that No. 2 red winter wheat was now selling here at the govern-ment guaranteed minimum, and that millers refused to pay more. In this connection it was said that the southwest, where the wheat harvest has been finished, led the late selling of corn.

Wet weather delays to cutting and threshing gave strength to oats. There were also buillsh crop reports from North Dakota and Canada. Covering by shorts made provisions firm. Offerings were scarce. velopment of War Situation; Sumatra Tobacco Rivals U. S. Steel.

New York, July 17,-The stock market today kept pace with the latest aspect of the war situation. Advices from the west-ern front occasioned moderate selling of long holdings and intermittent bear pressure, but the reaction made relatively little headway Domestic financial developments were dis-tinctly reassuring, the rapid sale of the $50,-000,000 Bethlehem Steel note issue affording vidence of a sound investment inquiry fo high grade securities.

Reduction of the Pittaburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad dividend was not regarded as symptomatic of general rail-road conditions, the cut, according to the di-rectors, resulting from technical rather than actual reasons. Sumatra Tobacco, which rivated U. S. Steel in point of activity, was again one of the noteworthy features of the general list. The stock fluctuated violently within an 8point radius and closed at a loss of 516 points.

U. S. Steel's extreme break of 114 points was half way retrieved later and issues finished for the most part at nomi-nal recessions.

Motors and subsidiaries were in demand 265,000 Motors and substitutes were in toward the end at average gains of 1 point of 302,000 and minor metals, including low-priced mining issues, owed their gains of 1 to 2 points to the activity of pools. Rails were in the background through-out the session, even Reading showing un-usual spathy at a net loss of a large frac-tion and shippings lost part of their recent gains.

AT THE THEATERS

Thomas Tries an Experiment. Manager Thomas of the Rialto is in a quandary as to whether the motion picture going public of Omaha prefer stars or the story itself the more? Only a few weeks ago he presented

"Missing," a story without a single star, but which was faultlessly directed, and as well as a story above the average, with the result that business was more than on several pictures that had big names as the attraction. He is again trying out this experiment the last half of this week presenting David Graham Phillips' well known novel, "Old Wives for New," in which no particular star is featured. This is called a Cecil B. DeMille special production, being made under the personal supervision of this well known director, while the cast includes such screen players as Elliott

Dexter, Theodore Roberts, Tully Marshall, Wanda Hawley, and Flor-ence Vidor. The following Sunday William S. Hart is featured in "Shark Monroe," which will give Manager Thomas a very good opportunity to check star versus story.

In the Silent Drama.

Empress—Billy Knight's 20 roosters, appearing at the Empress, are full fledged actors who do things worth crowing about. He furnishes them with a Ferris wheel, circle swing, a see-saw, a merry-go-round, all of which they work and perform in-rumerable stunts thereon. Harry the king pin of the bunch dressed in full evening pin of the bunch dressed in full evening clothes shows a "fowl" desire to impersonate a drunken human of the club variety. Another tries to expound the system of "courting" enjoyed in roosteriand. "Lend Me Your Name?" is not a leap year marriage proposal at all, but the earl of Gilleigh finds a burglar in his room and both realize that they are the doubles. Both of these men are played by Harold Lockwood in a fascinating acreen play. "Lond Me in a fascinating screen play, "Lend Mo Your Name," which is being shown at the Empress theater for the last half of the Strand—Mae Marsh appearing in "All Woman" will be at the Strand all the rest of this week and next Sunday, after which time the theater will be closed for the greater part of the coming month to be repaired and decorated. In "All Woman" Miss Marsh plays the part of a city girl who leaves for the mountains to claim an inheritance. Arriving there she finds that she has found a very bad time and while there hars found a very bad time and while there hars found a very bad time and while there characterization of the part Miss Marsh appears at her best bringing into the story a charming faminine spirit and a picture of charming feminine spirit and a picture of a real American girl.

Rinito—"Old Wives for New," a remarkable photoplay of David Graham Phillips' novel of the same name will be here the remainder of this week. The story taken up for discussion tells of the lives of a man and woman who marry young in the heat of youthful passion and rue it bitterly later when the wife becomes slovenly while the man gains rather than loses. Another woman enters into the life of the man and the eternal triangle is established. It is an instreating study of a social problem and a clay that has been produced under Cecil Ite Mille's direction in a splendid style.

Sun-Louise Glaum will appear here for he last times today in her new play "Wedlocked," an interesting and well played story of married life and its incidental frombles. Although the play calls upon Miss Glaum for considerable artistic ability in producing the various emotional climaxes possible to it there are lighter moments of. humor written into the script that make it a delightful story for an audience. It is a Paralta production and has been excellently starged and lighted. On Friday and Saturday will be seen Margarita Fischer in "Impossible Susan," a comedy drama with a leagh in every flash. augh in every flash.

Muse-Norma Talmadge will be shown for the last times today in what has proved to the last times today in what has proved to be her most popular production. "The Safety Curtain." The play is one which will ap-peal to every one. Miss Talmadge is seen in the role of a music hall dancer while Eugene O'Brien makes a striking and hand-some captain. The scenes depicting the fire panic in the music hall are realistic and thrilling and the story is told humanly and with plenty of incident.

Lethrop—In "Hoops of Steet." playing here for the last times today Henry Walthall appears in a photodrama whose real power lies in his clever work in depicting the character of the leading man, that of a strong willed man whose force of mind and high regard for what is right carries him ever obstacles and to success. Waithall a assisted by an excellent cast bringing to n over obstacles and to success. Walthur assisted by an excellent cast bringing to is assisted by an excellent cast brings the drama several climaxes produced fine effects. There will also be show day the Pathe news and a comedy.

Alhambra-Pauline Starber, appearing in "The Man Who Woke Up," will be here to-day only in an interesting character delinea-tion written into a clever play. There will also be a Keystone comedy. On Friday Gladys Hulette will show in "Mrs. Slacker," the story of a woman who is brought to realize that a woman has a place in the realize that a woman who is brought to realize that a woman has a place in the world war and who grows to fill it. Jule Carmen in the photodrama "Confession" has an emotional part in which the man she loves is saved from death at the hands of the law at the critical moment through the talk in his innbcence and the untiring efforts of the heroine in his behalf. Pathonews weekly also runs on Saturday.

Apollo-Mae Marsh, starring in "Fields of Honor" will be the feature offering here to-day and Friday. Miss Marsh has a play here that allows her opportunity to demon-strate that she is capable of handling a big strate that she is capable of handling a big story in an artistic manner. It is a plot with life of today as its theme and has been excellently produced in the larger scenes. On Saturday will be seen Carlyle Blackwell and an all star cast in "The Cabaret," a drama of night life and gayety that is refreshing with its lightsome bits of humor and its brilliant action. "A Fight for Millions" with William Duncan in the lead will also be shown here on Saturday.

Rehiff—"In Bad," a comedy drama that is chuck full of action and laughs is the offering here today with William Russell in the leading role. On Friday will be seen Irene Castle in "The Hillcrest Mystery," a theme with a plot that is complicated, calling upon the dramatic talents of Mrs. Castle to untangle there and around the mystery has been built a silring love story. On Saturday comes June Caprice in "Blue Eyed Mary," the daughter of a son who has been extranged from his people for years because of his marriage. When misfortune overtakes her father Blue Eyed Mary takes matters into her own hands and going to the Rohlff-"In Bad," a comedy drama that ters into her own hands and going to the city where the grandmother lives effects a reconciliation.

Grand-Kitty Gordon in the dramatic auccess "The Interloper," will be the feature here today. The play is a stirring story of real life and the dramatic effects story of real life and the dramatic effects and staging have been well produced. On Friday will be seen the Lee Kids, Jane and Katherine, in "American Buds." Not a moment of the action, but these two bunches of mischlef are into something. On Saturday will be seen Nell Shipman and Alfred Whitman in "The Girl from Bayand." fred Whitman in "The Girl from Beyond.
