IOWA LAD SELLS FAT STEER AT A GOODLY PROFIT

Oliver Hagglund Brings an 1,150-Pounder to South Side Market; Raised Animal Himself.

Oliver Hagglund, one of the Iowa lads in Paige county who entered the Iowa Baby Beef contest this year, was at the South Side market yesterday with the steer which he has been feeding, and sold it for $18.50. It weighed 1,150 pounds, the average gain per day being around 2 1/2 pounds. He purchased the steer from his father, Lenus Hagglund, and had it on feed for nine months. The feed for the nine months cost a little over $100, leaving something like $50 profit.

While it required lots of work, not the least of which was a monthly report to the agricultural college at Ames, he has enjoyed it thoroughly. A younger brother, has been an interested observer of the experiment and declares he is going to enter the contest next year.

Funeral of 2-Year-Old Fire Victim Is Held

Stanislavara Guszak, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Guszak, 4023 O street, was burned to death Monday afternoon.

The child was playing with her brother, 4 years old, and another boy of the same age when they found some matches and started to play house. Evidently they lighted some of the matches. Suddenly the little girl screamed. Her mother, hearing, rushed to where she was and found the child's clothing afire. Mrs. Guszak seized her daughter in her arms, regardless of the fire, and tried to smother the flames with her dress. But the little one was so badly burned that she died Tuesday. The funeral was held yesterday morning at St. Francis church.

Mothers Displeased at Dismissal of Supervisor

Several residents of the Morton Park district are displeased with Superintendent of Recreation Isaacson's dismissal of Miss Hazel Buhmann, the playground supervisor. Mothers in the vicinity were pleased with Miss Buhmann's work and state flat conditions since her dismissal have become bad for small children. She has taught at the Riverview school south of Omaha for six years and intends to return in September, but sought the position as supervisor at Morton Park as a means of helping support her invalid mother during the summer.

Funeral of Mrs. Marie Gilbert to Be Held Today

Mrs. Marie Gilbert, 65, widow of the late James Gilbert, for many years gas inspector of Omaha, died Tuesday evening at her home south of South Omaha. She is survived by her son, Edward, and his family, with whom she made her home since the death of her husband. The funeral will be held at 2 p. m., Thursday at the Brewer chapel. Burial will be in Prospect Hill cemetery.

Cow Causes Considerable Gun Play on South Side

Joe Kajdick, 5025 South Thirty-seventh street, was fined $1 and costs Wednesday morning in the South Side police court for carrying concealed weapons. The charge of trespassing on lots near his house where he has pastured his cow despite a warning to take it away by the owner was dismissed. When dog catchers came to take the cow to the pound Kajdick asked them to leave it and take him to explain. One of the pound men showed his star and drew a revolver. Kajdick then took out his gun and threw it on the grass saying he would accompany them. The officers are alleged to have bound him and struck him, causing two scalp wounds. A charge of assault and battery will be filed against them.

SOLDIER GUESTS HAVE GAY TIME AT BRANDEIS PICNIC

Games of All Kinds, Serious and Silly, Help Pass Time at Krug Park; Then the Dance.

More than 1,200 persons attended the annual picnic for the employees of Brandeis stores at Krug park Wednesday night. It was the largest crowd in the history of the event.

One hundred and five soldier boys from Florence Field, Fort Omaha Ballroom school, were honor guests. They were given royal entertainment with free dance tickets, free rides on the "Cutie Ootie" and a "bully good supper."

The picnic began just as soon as the doors of the big stores closed and pretty shoppers and silver-haired managers crowded on charmed street cars bound for the park where their khaki-clad guests were awaiting them.

They had races and games before supper—all kinds of them, serious and silly—and everybody had lots of fun. The winners were given handsome prizes. There was a special race for the soldiers and the prizes were a safety razor outfit and a comfort kit. Thirteen of the employees also won prizes.

After supper the crowd took possession of the big dance pavilion. "On with the dance, let joy be unconfined," was the prevailing spirit and, hour after hour, the place filled and refilled with gay picnickers. Two girls lost their purses, but Brandeis detectives and the park police were determined that nothing should mar anyone's pleasure, so they instituted a thorough search and both purses were returned in about 10 minutes. The men's committee for the picnic comprised Messrs. Tom Quinn, E. A. Singer, Charles Koethen, Phil Aaron, Jack Cummings, Pat Culin, Don Amsden and Harry Boyd. The women's committee was Mrs. J. Williams and the Misses Moran, Zimmerman, Cammerer and McKenzie.

Exhibit of Trophies of War Front at Burgess-Nash

A German iron cross which was picked up on a battlefield by Private Healey is on exhibition at the Burgess-Nash store this week.

The decoration was worn by a Hun officer whom Healey killed. He gave the cross to Sir William Hickey, general of his command, and he loaned it to the Countess of Kingston who is now in Omaha in charge of an exhibition of German trophies.

A chunk of black bread which was looted by an escaped Irish prisoner who was kept in a German prison for more than a year is a poignant reminder that the war must be won quickly. The bread is as hard as cement and looks as though it were made of gravel and sawdust. It seems unbelievable that it can sustain life.

The Union Jack flag, which was carried by Viscount French during the two years that he commanded the British army, is one of the interesting trophies on exhibition.

A bit of Zeppelin wreckage which entente airmen brought down after it had made a midnight raid over London also is on display. The exhibition is shown on the fourth floor of the Burgess-Nash store this week.

PAST DRAFT AGE, HE THOUGHT, BUT HATES KAISER

Joseph Miller of Tekamah, Charged as Slacker, Proves Verbal Niagara; Released On Own Bond.

Joseph Miller, arrested in Tekamah as a slacker, and brought to Omaha Tuesday night by Deputy United States Marshal Quinley, is no slacker in the use of words, as he amply demonstrated in the hearing held Wednesday afternoon by Commissioner Neale.

Miller was more than voluble. He was a verbal Niagara. The first question of the commissioner broke down the dam and the office of the district attorney, where the hearing was held, was fairly flooded with oratory.

Miller declared with much verbiage that he had always been under the impression that he was 32 years of age, that he desired nothing more than a chance to do his bit in getting the kaiser, and that he was only restrained from rushing to France and smiting Hindenburg by the fact that he was over the draft age.

The accused man among other things that while he has recently been engaged in pitching hay, his real vocation is that of an artist—landscape, picket fence and kalsomine.

That he had been married and had three children, one of them a boy 14 or 15 years old, was divulged in the course of the hearing. Miller claimed Ottumwa as his home. Some telegrams from the local board there seemed to throw doubt on certain parts of Miller's story and the hearing was adjourned to August 19, to give him time to obtain a statement from his mother.

Released on Own Bond. Miller was released on his own bond, after having given his promise to return to the harvest fields and continue his work as a hayfield artist.

Within a half hour after Miller had been released his former wife appeared at the district attorney's office, apparently anxious for an interview with her late husband under the protection of the law. She stated that Miller is 32 years of age, but was greatly disappointed that he had been turned loose. She expressed fear that he might try to molest her.

Thursday Marks the Beginning of Our Fourth Annual August SALE OF FURS

An Event of Unusual Interest, Presenting a Noteworthy Opportunity to Save 25 to 35 Per Cent on the Finest Furs the Market Affords

THE sale this season is of even greater importance than ever before. Furs will be in greater demand than for many years. Our showing is very complete and extremely wide in variety, and we believe our patrons will welcome this unusual opportunity.

The 1918 Fur Situation

The natural demand and extreme popularity of furs, combined with the fact that certain European sources of supply have been cut off from this country for the past three years, have led to a steady price advance.

We anticipated the present high market by making our heaviest purchases months ago. Not only did this enable us to secure our stocks at the lowest figure, but it gave us the choice of the American supply and also allowed us ample time for manufacturing our furs.

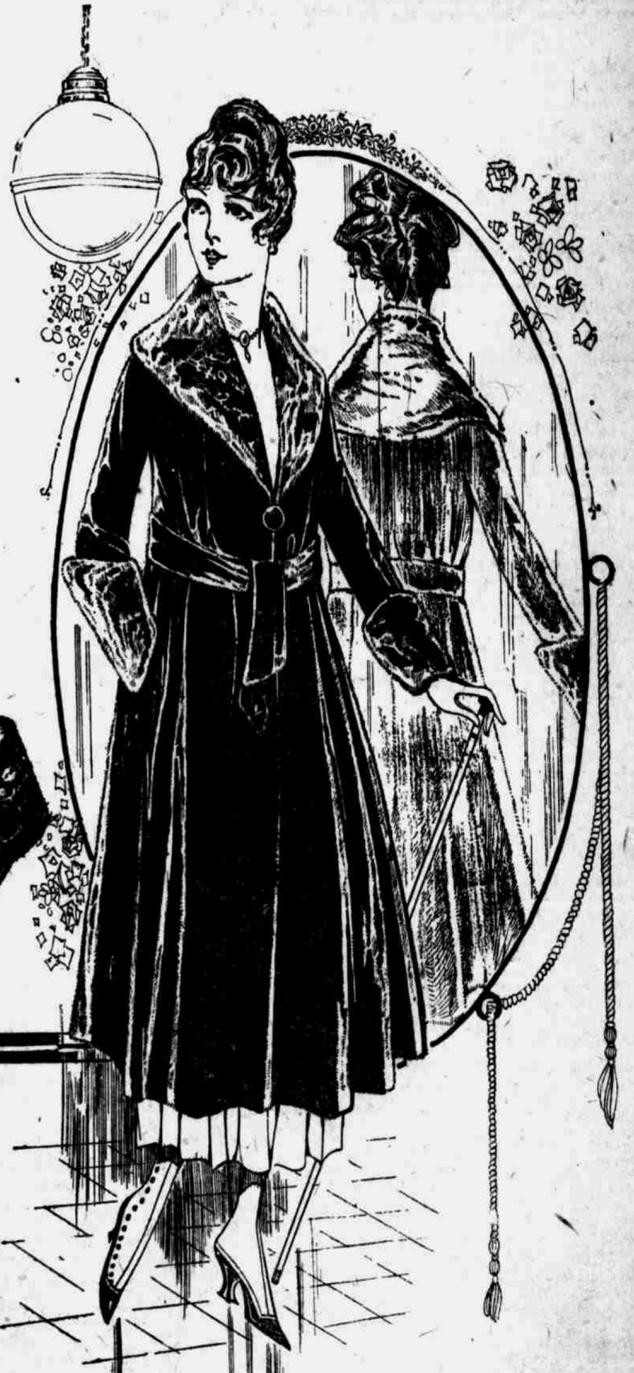

Every piece represented had to be proved worthy of the Burgess-Nash guarantee of quality, to insure the entire satisfaction of every customer. Therefore, you may be sure that every fur piece sold will be exactly as represented, and

Back of Every Piece of Fur Sold is the Burgess-Nash Guarantee of Quality, Authenticity of Style, and Thoroughly Satisfactory Wear

Save 25 to 35% Furs Stored Till Nov. 1

IF YOU will make your purchase during this August sale of furs you can effect a saving of from 25 per cent to 35 per cent under the very low prices which will be in effect after September 1. Therefore, it is not only economy, but the very best sort of investment to buy your furs at this time rather than later on.

SHOULD you desire, you may make your selection and we will carefully store them for you until November 1, upon payment of only 25 per cent of their value. You can thus not only secure first choice from our large stocks, but take advantage of these extraordinarily low prices, without the necessity of making full payment for the furs until they are actually needed.

LADY Fashion has some decided and certainly some very charming ideas about the fur styles for this Fall and Winter—styles that are quite different from those of last season. Here's an idea of how the prices range:

- Fur Scarfs at $12.00 to $450.00
- Fur Muffs at $8.00 to $90.00
- Coatees at $145.00 to $350.00
- Fur Lined Coats $69.50 to $90.00
- Fur Coats at $145.00 to $600.00
