Omaha speed enthusiasts were treated to a fancy dish of dirt track automobile racing at the Benson Park speedway yesterday afternoon. More than 5,000 persons saw eight racing events and an exciting contest of automobile polo and pronounced dirt track contests a distinct success. "Butch," in the Washington county Burr Lampkin, driving a Sun Ray metropolis, is "some baby" at horse er. Lampshoe pitching, as he demonstrated Muse-"Missing," a drama of the world war produced by Stuart Blackton, will be the offering again today. It is a strong, virile play with a real touch of war and mystery written into the plot and a play that brings the spirit of the American troops in France right home to the folks here. A charming love story carries along with the story and tense moments are fre-quent in the play. The play, which has been shown before in Omaha, attracted so much attention that the management de-cided that there were hundreds who would wish for another chance to see it.

Lothrop-Theda Bara in "A Fool There Lothrop-Theda Bara in "A Fool There Was" will be shown here today and tomor-row. It is the sensational play in which this star is known better than perhaps anything eise in which she has played. The action of the play is good, and the dra-matic effects achieved by Miss Bara are most excellent.
