LIQUID BAKING POWDER TAKEN OVER BY COURT

Whisky Under Innocent Disguise Is Confiscated and Drayman Is Exonerated in Hearing.

John M. Looney, who was arrested Monday with three barrels of whisky on his express truck, was acquitted yesterday by Judge Holmes of the South Side police court. The whisky was confiscated.

Looney was charged with the transportation of intoxicating liquor and with illegal possession of it. Since it was shown in court that he was unaware of the contents of the barrels marked "baking powder" which he was hauling, he was discharged and his truck returned to him.

The whisky was shipped by "Smith Brothers" of Kansas City to Simon Brothers of Omaha. Looney stated that he received a call in the regular way and was given a bill of lading from a man on the corner of Twenty-fourth and Q streets. He was to deliver the goods in the afternoon after meeting the stranger at 2 o'clock at the same corner.

Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives Briggs received word from the Burlington depot, where the "powder" was received, and arrested Looney and took over the truck and its contents.

Looney, who is well known in the South Side as an honest worker, told his story to Judge Holmes in the police court and was released. He appears to be the "goat" in the case, according to police, for neither the shipper nor the consignee has been located. Simon Brothers, to whom the shipment was consigned, knew nothing of it and were not even in possession of the bill of lading.

About 243 bottles of whisky, some of which lacked revenue stamps, were in the shipment.

Sues for Heavy Damages for Fall Through Trap Door

Suit for $7,500 damages was filed in district court Tuesday by Alfred Berry against Abraham and Herman Marcus, who are accused of negligence which resulted in the permanent injury of Berry.

It is alleged that in his capacity as an employe of John Hart, contractor, Berry went to Marcus' store at Twelfth and Douglas to do some cement work, and that in order to get water for mixing the cement he had passed over a trap door, which an employe of the grocery carelessly left open, causing him to fall downstairs.

The fall resulted, according to the complaint, in a serious shock to his nervous system and in a permanent injury to the third metacarpal of his right hand and various other injuries of a permanent nature.

Missouri Valley Medicos To Hold Meeting in Omaha

Charles Wood Fassett of Kansas City, secretary, announces that the annual meeting of the Medical Society of the Missouri Valley, will be held in Omaha, September 19-20. The meetings will be at the Fontenelle hotel.

Dr. John E. Summers is chairman of the general arrangements committee in Omaha. It is planned to give a patriotic dinner the first day, followed by motion pictures of the war zone, and by addresses by speakers of national reputation.

A large attendance is expected at the meeting. Dr. A. I. McKinnon of St. Joseph is president of the society.

Omaha Women in Chicago Sue to Recover Money

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 6.—(Special Telegram.)—In two suits against M. I. C. Funkhouser, until recently second deputy superintendent of police, filed in the superior court, Caroline Funkhouser of Omaha, Neb., asks for $45,000 damages, and Anna Bishop, also of Omaha, for $3,500.

Major Funkhouser is the only surviving member of the Montgomery Funkhouser insurance company which became financially involved about 10 years ago, according to Henry P. Kennedy, attorney for the plaintiffs. The money sued for was loaned to the company by the two women.

WILL TO WIN HOLDS STRONG OVER THERE

Miss Joy Higgins Tell—Omaha Audience of Her Experiences and Observations in Europe.

By HENRIETTA M. REES.

Miss Joy Higgins gave Omaha another reason to be proud of her last evening by her lecture, "The Will to Victory," which she presented at the Boyd theater for the benefit of the Shamrock Fund for Disabled Irish Soldiers and Sailors, under the auspices of the countess of Kingston, and the Omaha Woman's Press club. Miss Higgins has long been known as a clever writer and for her interest in the Audubon and various other societies where she is a tireless worker. Her subject was well chosen and gave her an opportunity to review briefly many of the interesting experiences which were hers during her recent remarkable journey through the United Kingdom and France with the labor commission, and to mould them together in expressing the very spirit which made these experiences, and in fact the journey itself, possible. Her language was at all times chosen with exquisite care, and expressed with pleasing cadence and telling effect, and the tact and judgment which won her popularity abroad were amply in evidence.

Message to Labor.

Miss Higgins spoke briefly and to the point about the message of American labor to the allies, and called attention to the fact that in all these countries the labor sentiment generally is with the war. She spoke of the peace agitators as little groups of idealists who might well be a little less intellectual and a little more intelligent. She pointed out the fact that the workers in war industries are soldiers, too.

She spoke of the city of Rheims where there is not a home left standing, but curiously enough, but few fireplaces are destroyed, and that "France would again build the homes around the hearth."

The slogan everywhere seemed to be, "I don't mind, it is winning the war that counts," and this courage in the face of heartbreaking calamities had not only made all allies kin, but has made possible their achievements.

Donations Total $186.

Miss Higgins closed her talk with a plea for the fund for which the collection was to be given, and many society girls passed the tin helmets, gathering $186, while Mogy Bernstein added his plea for generosity and auctioned off a real Irish shillalah Arthur Mullen purchasing it for $25. Mr. Mullen and Colonel Banister made short talks, and the war film which followed the collection held much of interest. The Boyd was well filled by an audience that gave Miss Higgins a cordial reception, followed her splendid address attentively, and applauded her remarks frequently as she went along.

Bulldogs Which Bit Priest Were Rabier Victims

A report has been received from the Pasteur institute at Chicago that the two English bulldogs belonging to G. A. Jackson, 2516 Templeton street, were afflicted with rabies when they bit Father Galvin, 2523 Templeton street, last Friday.

Father Galvin was returning from mass at the Holy Angel church when he was attacked by the two dogs. He was bit in several places. The dogs were killed by police and their heads sent to Chicago for examination. Rev. Galvin was taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where he is reported to be suffering no serious effects from the dog bites.
