WOMEN IN WARTIME

School for Women Ticket Sellers.

The United States railroad administration has opened schools in several sections of the country for training women ticket sellers.

The present force of trained men ticket sellers will be retained whenever possible because of the expert character of their work, but it has been found necessary to supplement their activities with women.

When thoroughly trained, women ticket sellers will be paid the same salaries as men doing the same work.

After preliminary training of from one to two months, the women who show aptitude will be given work of actual selling the simpler form of tickets and gradually will be worked into the sale of more complicated forms.

House Girl War Workers.

The woman's committee, Nebraska Council of Defense, is in receipt of a communication from Washington which assures the girls of Nebraska who go to the capital city for war work in the near future a suitable place to stay until they have secured a permanent location.

A transient hotel for girls arriving to do government work will be opened by the Young Women's Christian association at North Capitol and E streets.

Volunteer Student Nurses.

Fifteen young women volunteered for the student nurses' reserve corps Monday in the drive conducted by the woman's committee, Council of Defense.

Mrs. R. S. Moore, wife of Captain Moore, of the engineers' corps, who was called to Washington, D. C., for government work, has taken the civil service examination in the capital.

known in Omaha. Mrs. Moore writes that women ticket sellers in the railroad administration are paid as high as $150 a month.

The hotel will be run on the plan of the Hotel Petrograd, run by the Young Women's Christian association in Paris, which houses all the women war workers who are passing through to their assigned posts.

The building will be a few blocks from the Union station. It will accommodate 150 girls and will be available only for short periods.

Organizations whose representatives have already enlisted with the woman's committee and the Children's bureau by signing this appeal, include: Boy Scouts of America, Camp Fire Girls, American Red Cross bureau of junior membership, Young Women's Christian association, Drama League of America, Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, U. S. Agricultural department—Boys' and Girls' club, community chorus movement, U. S. Bureau of Education—war gardens, etc.

Y. M. C. A. Needs Women in France.

Four times as many women are needed in Y. M. C. A. war work in France as are now in the service, according to Dr. John R. Mott, general secretary of the association.

High-minded, unselfish devotion, and absolute willingness to do the humblest work, combined with ability to rise to any emergency, are necessary for success. Qualifications sent by the women's overseas section, which is recruiting 1,000 women for this work, are outlined as follows:

Candidates between the ages of 19 and 45 years are desirable. Under no circumstances will any woman under the age of 25 be sent. Candidates must be in perfect health. A knowledge of French is very helpful, but not necessary. The Y. M. C. A. will assist with the transportation and living expenses of its workers, but there is always a minimum expense to each candidate of $50 ($20 a month for incidentals and emergency and $10 for the initial equipment).

OMAHA FIRST

See that all your cleaning, dyeing, pressing, altering and repairing is done in Omaha. Ask your cleaner if all his work is done in Omaha and if not, why not? Omaha has the best cleaning plants in the world. We are modest, but the Carey Cleaning Co. is one of them.

By Daddy—THE LAW OF BIRDLAND

CHAPTER IV.

Judge Owl's Spanking Bee. (Peggy, summoned to the trial of the Jays for stealing Miss Purple Swallow, is chosen by Blue Jay as his lawyer, and then is accused by him of being the cause of his crime.)

"Call the jury list!" ordered Judge Owl. Cat Bird, who was acting as clerk of the court, turned to a roll of lily pads he had in front of him.

"The first juror is Mrs. Swallow, formerly Miss Purple Swallow," he announced.

"That's silly! A person who is in a case can't be on the jury," declared Judge Owl.

"It's not silly; it's very sensible. Doesn't Mrs. Swallow know whether Blue Jay and his gang are guilty of stealing her?" hooted Judge Owl.

"Of course she does," answered Peggy. "But she is the one who is complaining against Blue Jay and she hadn't ought to be on the jury trying him."

"Piffle!" hooted Judge Owl impolitely. "She ought to be on the jury if any one is. Then they can't make the mistake of letting these rascals go free. I fine Princess Peggy one spank and one laugh for being foolish."

Before Peggy could protest, Blue Heron gave her a sharp whack with his club. Peggy laughed. That started all the birds laughing and in a moment the whole courtroom was twittering with mirth.

"Silence," hooted Judge Owl. "I sentence every one here one spank for laughing when they hadn't ought to."

Blue Heron, Officer Martin and Kingfisher started in to carry out the sentence, but the task was too big for them, and the birds good-naturedly helped out by spanking each other.

Blue Heron fluttered down to and was himself spanked by Officer Martin. Then Blue Heron climbed up on the Judge's bench and gave Judge Owl a whack that tumbled him over.

"Here! Here! Don't you spank me!" hooted the Judge.

"Orders are orders!" said Blue Heron. "Your sentence was to spank everybody."

"Hee-haw! Hee-haw! Hee-haw!" came a big roar from the Woods. There were Bally Sam, Billy Goat and Johnny Bull, all laughing at Judge Owl. On Bally Sam's back was Billy Belgium. Judge Owl was decidedly vexed.

"I sentence you animals to be soundly spanked," he hooted. Blue Heron fluttered down to carry out the sentence, but when he tried to whack Bally Sam he found only flying heels. The mule whirled around and kicked in a way that showed that he would be a mighty tough customer to spank.

"Hee-haw! Hee-haw!" brayed Bally Sam, "come on with your spanks!" As he uttered the taunt his mouth was wide open. Into it Officer Martin dropped a blade of fairy ring grass. Quick as a wink, Bally Sam shrank from a full-size mule to toy-size, and Billy Belgium, his support taken away from him, found himself sprawling on the grass.

Blue Heron snatched up Bally Sam, and in spite of his frantic kicking gave him a sound thrashing.

Billy Goat and Johnny Bull were laughing uproariously at Bally Sam's plight when they suddenly found themselves made tiny. Officer Martin had dropped blades of grass into their mouths. Officer Martin then held Billy Goat while Blue Heron spanked him and Kingfisher held Johnny Bull, who fairly frothed at the mouth as he tried in vain to stop the spanking and grab the sparker.

"Into the jury box with them," ordered Judge Owl; and Blue Heron promptly plumped the mule, the goat and the dog upon the big stone that served as the jury box.

"Where is Mrs. Swallow?" asked Judge Owl.

"Sailing, sailing, in the sky so high, Making, making love upon the fly." So chanted the Birds in answer. Every one looked up. There were General and Mrs. Swallow, a loving pair of Newlyweds, floating high above. Apparently they had forgotten everything else in the world except themselves.

"I sentence them to be brought into court," hooted Judge Owl, and quickly the honeymooners were brought down.

"I sentence you to sit at opposite ends of the jury box," said Judge Owl severely.

General Swallow scowled blackly at the Judge and then promptly forgot his vexation in the absorbing occupation of throwing kisses at his bride.

"Go on with the jury list," ordered Judge Owl.

Cat Bird read again from the lily-pad roll: "Mr. Purple Swallow, Reddy Woodpecker, Billy Belgium, Brownie Owl, Kingfisher, Princess Peggy!"

"I can't be on the jury if I'm the lawyer for the Jays," interrupted Peggy.

"Yes, you can," screamed Blue Jay. "I want some one on that jury who doesn't want us killed."

"But every one on the jury is a witness," protested Peggy. "I never heard of a jury like that."

"It's a new idea all my own," hooted Judge Owl. "When you get a jury that knows all about the case you can be sure no one can fool it by telling fibs."

"We need one more juror," said Cat Bird. "We have only eleven."

"I'll be the other one," volunteered Blue Jay. "I know more about the case than any one else."

"Sure you do," agreed Judge Owl, "but I want to be on the jury myself."

"That not right," declared Peggy. "A judge is never on a jury."

"Haven't you ever heard your father say that some judge was judge and jury both?"

"Yes," agreed Peggy, "but he didn't mean it really."

"Then he shouldn't have said it," hooted Judge Owl. "I'm going to take him at his word, and I'm going to be judge and jury, too," and down he flopped into the jury box, crowding the others. "Blue Jay, you can't be a juror, but we'll let you be the witness. Tell your story."

"It's a story of romance, adventure and tragedy," spoke up Blue Jay eagerly, and he strutted out in front, just like an actor taking the center of the stage. "Listen to my thrilling tale!"

(Tomorrow will be told Blue Jay's weird story.)
