400 acres, all in one body, not one foot of waste, located right, only a mile from good little railroad town on main line, with good market, schools and churches. About 35 miles out from Omaha's stock and grain markets, with the advantages of its wonderful department stores, etc. Main automobile drive from house into Omaha. always good, wet or dry. Improvements: Six or seven-room house, poor. One of the best barns in the state of Nebraska; holds 110 sons of the state of Neorasa; notes 10 sons of alfalfa, stanchions for some 30 head of cows, and barracks for 100 head of stockers or fattening cattle; all may be fed by simply pushing the hay into the racks from the great mow. Good silo at door of barn. Abundance of other outbuildings. The crops on this farm right now will speak for themselves, both corn and alfalfs, and its small grain crop shows a record this year not to be ashamed of.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Upward Swing Given Corn Market by Reports of Crop Damage in Iowa.

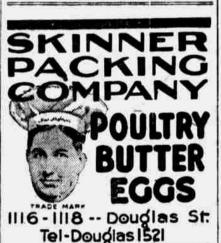

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Increased gravity of crop damage reports, especially regarding lowa, gave an upward slant today to the corn market. Prices unsettled, %c off to 1½c net higher, with September, $1.62 to 1½c net higher, with September, $1.63 to $1.63 to $1.62 k, and October $1.63 to $1.63 k.

Oats gained %@%c to %c. The outcome in provisions varied from 5 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

Although at first the corn market eased down owing to numerous rains, it soon became apparent that sellers had grown wary, and that crop injury was assuming proportions which the trade in general was unprepared for. The Iowa state report alone indicated a yield $2,000,000 bushels less than the latest estimate from Washington, Bulls had an advantage also in the fact that receipts were small. About midday, sentiment was somewhat disturbed by peace gossip, but the effect failed to last. Offerings were small throughout the session.

Talk of liberal sales to army camps put strength into the oats market. On the other hand, Indiana and Ohio were said to the supplying the east, and underselling Chi. D. & R. G. eff. 4% 873 U. S. Garage Man Held for . Failure to Report Car With Defaced Number

Ernest N. Hougteling, one of the proprietors of the Auto Clearing House, Twentieth and Farnam streets, was arraigned in police court Thursday morning, charged with failure to report the purchase of an automobile bearing altered and defaced num-

This is the first case of the kind to come before the county attorney since the 1917 legislature enacted a law making it a misdemeanor for any purchaser of a car bearing altered or defaced numbers to fail to report such purchase to the police department within 24 hours after the purchase. The penalty, upon convic-tion, is a fine of from $100 to $500 or six months in jail.

Hougteling, a dealer in second-hand automobiles, testified that he left the city immediately after purchasing the car, and did not know that the num-bers had been defaced. The case was heard before Attorney Ray Abbott of the county attorney's office. Houg-teling was bound over to the district court on a $2,000 bond.

A Little Information to the Public About the Production of

POTAS

Standard Potash Co. (Incorporated Under the Laws of Nebraska.)

Reduction Works at Lakeside, Neb.

Main Office—Omaha National Bank Building, Rooms 708-712

THE STANDARD POTASH COMPANY owns, by purchase, a 50-year lease on about 20,000 acres of deeded land adjoining the townsite of Lakeside, Neb. On this leased land there are located from thirty to forty lakes. Under the beds of most of these lakes is found the Potash.

Producing Potash is really a mining proposition. You have first got to prospect under the water of these lakes to find the location of the Potash beds. When the Potash is found, it is mined by sinking a large number of well points through the bottom of the lakes to the potash beds. These well points are then all connected together to the pumping system, which carries the Potash brine in solution by a pipe line to the reduction works. The process is then simply a matter of evaporation by the use of immense boiler capacity to make steam to operate the large evaporators. The water is separated from the Potash by this process. The Potash is then run through the driers and from the driers to the grinders, to be put in merchantable condition for the market. The drier capacity of the STANDARD POTASH COMPANY consists of four 450-horsepower Babcock & Wilcox boilers, a unit as large as it takes to operate a street railway company. The evaporator and driers are very large affairs and the plant as a whole has the appearance of a large smelting plant.

After about one year's work on the STANDARD POTASH COMPANY plant it has now about completed its first 50-ton unit, and is expected to be under operation early this coming October, ready to produce potash for the market. The foundation for the second 50-ton unit is now in and, as the boiler capacity is large enough for these two units, it will only take a short time to equip the second unit with evaporator and driers. The STANDARD POTASH COMPANY will then have a complete 100-ton daily capacity plant.

Investors who have held stock in the older, legitimate Potash plants have been paid very large dividends on their investment, and have been pleased to find that the increase in the market value of their stock has doubled a number of times; in fact, it is almost impossible to obtain any stock in these older companies at a price less than from $400 to $800 per share. Investors who want to get into the Potash business now cannot do better than investigate the STANDARD POTASH COMPANY. Up to the present time the stock of the company has been selling at par-$100 per share-but owing to the nearness of the operating of this plant, this stock may soon increase in price, and probably before thirty days there will be none of the stock for sale at less than $200 per share.

There have been no promotion or selling expenses charged against the selling of this stock. Every cent of the proceeds of the stock has been used in the purchase of the lease and the building of the plant. The lease was secured at a very low price, and there is no officer, director or other parties connected with the STANDARD POTASH COMPANY who holds stock who has not paid par value in money for it, consequently investors will get into a company that is ready for business and has absolutely no promotion stock, or "water" as it is called, to absorb the earnings of the plant.

THE STANDARD POTASH COMPANY has not a million dollars in stock for sale, as some of the companies advertise, but has a small amount of unsold stock which is now offered to the public at par.

It is advisable to act quickly if you are interested in the best Potash proposition on the market. Stock not sold in less than five share lots.

For further information you can obtain same by writing, phoning or calling at the Omaha office of the STANDARD POTASH COMPANY, Omaha National Bank Building, where you can obtain the names of a number of prominent business and professional men who hold stock in this company and whom you can confer with as to the truth of the above statements. These gentlemen have no objection to your advising with them, but they do not care to have their names made public in connection with any concern.

FRANK E. CLARK, Secretary.

I vouch for the truth of the above statements.

JOHN G. WOODWARD, Stockholder and Director.
