Johnson Refuses $300 Job in Shipyards for Farm

In spite of an offer of $300 a game to pitch for a Duluth shipyard team Walter Johnson of Washington, says he thinks he will stick to the farm, believing that he can be of more real service to Uncle Same getting in the crops than punching a clock in a shipbuilding plant. There's an honest ring in Walter's statement that is refreshing.

McCarthy Goes to Work. Walter Johnson on August 2 began his 12th year as a pitcher in the American league. Just to show that he is still good he twirled 18 innings at Detroit, as a sort of starter for his new year. The records show Johnson head and shoulders above all other during his leisure. 'Hi Say, Chappie, Some "Snick." Those English sports writers have been having a tough time of it trying to learn American base ball nomenclature. But they have courage. They have already begun helping us out.

Look what they have dubbed a "Texas leaguer?" That name means nothing, absolutely nothing, to them. Indeed, some of them think Texas is still the abode of ferocious savages. But they've gone and called the "Texas leaguer" a "snick."

Maybe Barnum Was Right. An army of major league "spays" are contemplating an invasion of Cuba to combat the h. c. of l. by corraling all of the smooth dimes they can in the island republic. If they succeed in putting the jasho to the islanders the protectorate of the early '90s will seem justified.

By RINGSIDER.

Chicago, Aug. 17 .- Boy, page Mr. Jack Dempsey, the lad they're all talking about!

Even away down in Lawrence, Kan., equal alacrity, the sound of the smash which sent Fred Fulton floorward and out was heard in the land particularly and specifically by Jess Willard-he of the championship yesterday, and now tarmer to His Majesty, the American Will to Win the Jess got down from his cultivator, took off his broad sunshade, mopped his brow and listened for a second thud. When it didn't come he knew that Jack had done what he did, and began to reconsider coming back into the glove war.

About the same time he heard also the sound of Pershing's fighters driving the Germans out of that pocket which now is not, and it put an idea into his head, to-wit:

After the Wra. "I'll take on this Dempsey boy after the war is over-not before. Mayhap too, Jess could see the writing on the wall which became indelibly visible at the financial returns of the Dempsey-Fulton fight, and does not care to lose his farm for the honor of possible defeat at the hands of the new battling hero of the hour.

Friends of Jess who had heard and read of the oft-repeated desire of Dempsey to take him on for a war benefit got in touch with him after that fight, and tried to persuade him that now is the time for all good soldier boys, but Jess turned a stonedeaf ear, and listened with the other one to the waving of the crrn. "What's the use of talking about a big fight at this time?" he asked them. "Didn't we all of us get enough of that put over my match with Fred Fulton? Don't look to me as if the public was match would have been had we been the best net scores returned:

A. W. Frind, handicap 9, 3 up see the situation a week before Miller quit, and advised him to get out from under before spending any more money."

Admires Dempsey.

Then he turned to Dempsey. "Yes, I know all about Dempsey," he said. "Don't you remember some time back that I said I admired him, and since he has made Fulton look so foolish I am more than ever convinced that he is a great man. Still I do not consider his performance against Fulton any better than several of the others because I never considered Fulton'a real fighter. He isn't constituted for the game." So Jess, comfortably intrenched behind glories won, and fixed comfortably on his farm and happy in his hopes of oil, is not thinking of battle -just now. And there are those who say he is not thinking of it any time; for Dempsey, it looks to them, is not going to let Jess Willard or anyone else stand in the way of the championship tag being put on his moniker, and Jess knows it.

One of these voters for eventual Dempsey supremacy is Jim Corbett, undoubtedly the brainiest of the big fighters of yesteryear. "No one can keep him out of the lead," says Jim. "Why? Well, because there is no one good enough." Dempsey, he says, is the real fighting man, and not a freak, as are Fulton and Willard.

Dempsey Has Everything.

"What are Dempsey's assets as a fighter?" asked Jim, rhetorically. "Everything," he answered emphat- tainment of American wounded, "There isn't any question about it-he can do everything that a fighter should do and do it all very well indeed. I never have seen this youngster in a serious battle, but I have seen him box, and have taken the trouble to learn a good deal about him from those in whose judgment I have confidence.

"He is clever in a way, not in a showy way, but in a mighty effective one. That is best proved by the fact that he seldom is hit solidly. Naturally, the first thing to be considered is the question of a man's boxing. consider his hitting. That I would say has been demonstrated satisfactorily on every occasion of this young man's appearance in the ring in the last year.

"There is a question of physical attainments. Look over a good picture of him and figure out his measurements and you will discover that he is endowed amply in this respect. He has sufficient weight for a man of 190 stinct. He likes to fight, which same cannot be said of the majority of heavyweights of today. This indicates to me at the same time that he is game. You know and I know that way when the storm breaks. "Summing up, Jack is a good box-

KLINE TO COACH NEBRASKA UNI FOOT BALL TEAM

Wesleyan Mentor and Paul Schissler Will Replace Dr. Stewart, Now in Army in Italy.

W. G. Kline will preside over the destinies of the Cornhusker foot ball team during the coming season according to reports coming out of the university city. He will succeed Dr. E. J. Stewart who has been granted a leave of absence by the regents of the University of Nebraska in order to engage in war work. He has been assigned to serve on the Italian front and will have charge of all athletic training of the allied armies.

Head Coach Kline is well known and popular with followers of the game in Nebraska. For several years he has coached the Nebraska Wesleyan with success. During his services with this school he has severa! times copped the state championship for his team and has had a faculty of developing exceptionally fast players. Guy Chamberlain, whom Nebraskans allege to be the fastest player who ever donned moleskin at that institution, was developed under Kline's tutelage and later entered the state university. Kline is extremely popular with Omaha fans who have frequently seen his teams in action on local gridirons. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Schissler Will Help. As an assistant Head Coach Kline will have Paul Schissler, who has had several years' experience as coach of smaller college teams. Assistant Coach Schissler played one year on the Nebraska freshman squad after which he was athletic director of the Hastings high school. He later served and St. Viator's colleges. The new coaches are going up against a hard schedule this year and their mettle will be thoroughly tested. Enlistments in the army have made a big dent into the available material for a winning team and many new men will have to be developed.

Nothing to Worry About. The magnates will not have to worry about training camps for their players next spring. Uncle Sam will attend to that.

First District In asking your support for renomination as County Commissioner at the following: During my term in office I have applied business methods to all county affairs When taking office the county was approximately $300,000 in debt for current bills. Today the county is on a cash basis. All bonds which matured during that period have been redeemed by the county, and money is now available for the redemption of $150,000 more, which becomes due January 1, 1919. One of the most important duties of a County Commissioner is the question of equalizing taxation. I have made a special study of taxation and comparative values, and feel that I have given this community intelligent service as a member of the Board of Equalization.

I have given this community intelligent service as a member of the Board of Equalization.

I have always advocated the prompt and proper allowance of all just claims against the county. I have always voted for and sanctioned giving such extra help to the County and State officers as was necessary for the stopping of importation of liquor and boot-legging in this community.

Regarding roads and pavements, wish to state most emphatically that I do not believe in throwing money away repairing old macadam roads or building new macadam roads.

A good brick pavement on a concrete base with a concrete curb, is not only the most durable, but is also the cheapest road in the end. The expense of maintaining this kind of pavement is absolutely nothing.

On the above platform, I ask your support.
