

CASUALTY ROLL MAILED DAILY TO NEWSPAPERS

New Plan Adopted for Nationwide Distribution of Lists; Relatives to Receive Notice by Wire.

Washington, Aug. 18.—With the publication tomorrow of the daily list of casualties among America's forces overseas, the Associated Press and other press associations in co-operation with the War and Postoffice departments put into effect a new arrangement by which complete lists are delivered daily by mail to the newspapers in practically every city in the country.

Since the American army in France has grown to a force of nearly 1,500,000 men transmission of the full honor roll of dead, wounded and missing by telegraph to all the newspapers has become almost an impossibility. For weeks the press associations have been obliged to curtail the volume of their news in order to deliver these lists, so important to the friends and neighbors of the men at the front.

Published Simultaneously Everywhere The Postoffice department, exercising control of the telegraph systems, has undertaken the responsibility of telegraphing the lists across the continent, and of providing printed copies to the press association simultaneously in Washington, Chicago and San Francisco.

GUS POLUS SHOT IN HIS HOME BY MASKED ROBBER

Bandits Enter House Occupied By Greek Laborers and Rob Inmates of Eighty Dollars.

Gus Polus, Greek laborer, employed by the Illinois Central railroad, is in the Edmundson hospital suffering from a bullet wound inflicted by one of four bandits who entered his home at Sixteenth street and Avenue K, Council Bluffs, early Sunday and robbed him and fellow countrymen, obtaining $80, and making their escape.

Polus and his friends were spending the night together and were burning a bright light when the bandits masked, entered the house and commanded the Greeks to show their registration cards. While they were digging into their pockets for their cards, the other three masked, entered with drawn revolvers and ordered the men to turn over their money. Great confusion followed and one of the bandits, without any apparent provocation, shot Polus, the bullet passing through the groin. The bandits then searched the Greeks, obtaining $80 from one of them, Peter Sklovas. They seemed to know that he had the money and left as soon as it was found.

Police officers hurried to the place, but failed to find any trace of the bandits. Some of the officers were inclined to doubt the holdup story and expressed the belief that the shooting might have resulted during a quarrel, but this theory was not sustained by the story told by Polus and Sklovas. It was said at the hospital that Polus has a slight chance of recovery.

The Sun this week when Thomas Jefferson appears there in "A Hoosier Romance." Patrons of the Strand found a number of pleasing changes when the theater was opened after its month of darkness while the entire place was being renovated. Both inside and out there was a refreshing newness and several innovations have been installed to make things handier and nicer for the movie fans.

wanderings in the mountains of Willard, the escaped convict, and the combat of the rival lovers on the cliff are well remembered episodes of the book which make great material for a thrilling photoplay. "The Eyes of the World" is in nine reels and consumes two hours in the showing.

Word reaches us from Camp Dodge that the former editor of the movies for The Omaha Bee is now Corporal Harry B. Watts of the 163d depot brigade.

Police Nab Jack Osborne. Jack Osborne, an alleged police character, was arrested Sunday afternoon and a charge of burglary booked against him. SUN Kitty Gordon in "MERELY PLAYERS" Tuesday—"A Hoosier Romance"

MUSE ALICE BRADY in "THE DEATH DANCE" Coming "Lest We Forget"

LOTHROP 24th and Lothrop NORMA TALMADGE in "THE MOTH"

CLARA Kimball Young makes her "debut" at the Rialto theater during the first half of this week. She is appearing in "The Savage Woman," a story laid amid the wild beauties of the African jungles. The character of "The Savage Woman" is decidedly new to Miss Young, but she portrays it in the usual brilliant manner which she has always shown in her meteoric career. Another installment of the official government war pictures, the Rialto news and a comedy are also on this program.

Redecorated, shining with all the luster of a newly coined dollar, the Strand presents the same attractive appearance as when newly erected several years ago. On the program until Wednesday is Ambassador Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany," a true story of the events leading up to the declaration of war against Germany and which is told in a skillful manner. It is without doubt one of the strongest stories of the kind yet filmed and deserves the high patronage that has marked its appearance everywhere.

In Alice Brady's new play, "The Death Dance," in which she is appearing at the Muse this week, she went to the pains of learning a difficult dance rather than have her part doubled by a dancer in the play.

One of James Whitcomb Riley's best known stories has been put into scenario form and will be presented at

An Adjustment Needed

John Lee Webster. Although the cost of living has increased fifty per cent since the war, most of the Water Board employees still receive their wages on the same old basis. F. M. (full name omitted as a matter of courtesy), whose picture adjoins that of John Lee Webster, receives 40¢ per hour from the Water Board. Jerry Howard states that there are some employees at the Walnut Hill pumping station receiving but 22½¢ per hour. Based on the approximate time that John Lee Webster renders the Water Board, he is paid about $40 per hour. While acknowledging the high standard service rendered by John Lee Webster, I still maintain that there is an absolute inequality practiced by the Water Board in paying its attorneys as against its mechanics and laborers. Its attorneys is as much overpaid as its mechanics and laborers are underpaid. There is much room for adjustment, revising the low wage scale upward and the high salary scale downward.
