

CHURCH BACKS LUTHERAN HIGH NEAR DESHLER

Correspondence School Established With Post Graduate Course for Teachers and Pastors.

Deshler, Neb., Aug. 20.—(Special).—In today's final session of the convention of the Nebraska district of Lutheran Missouri synod, it was resolved that the synod elect through the respective boards a director for the Lutheran high school at Deshler, and by such appointment evidence willingness to give full moral support to this institution and receive a seat in the board of directors. This school also aims to carry a full normal course for young women, who can accept positions offered by church schools.

A committee on schools approved of the plan to establish a correspondence school with a post-graduate course for teachers and pastors, that they may comply with all requirements of the state and county boards of education and the full prescribed program of studies. This plan was adopted by synod and is in the hands of a committee and the faculty of the normal school at Deshler.

Not Teach German.
The committee further stated: "It is our constant endeavor to bring our schools to a high standard, believing that we owe this to our children, our country and our church. We earnestly endeavor to inculcate loyalty and patriotism, not merely as a sentiment, but as a religious duty which they owe to their country and their God, according to Romans XIII:1-7. Not one of our schools is maintained for the teaching and the propagation of the German language. Our people cannot be brought to maintain schools for this purpose. We maintain our own schools for the same reason that we build our own churches and other religious denominations build theirs—as a matter of conscience. We hold it to be our duty to give our children a thorough religious instruction and training, such as the Sunday school cannot give and the public school very properly does not attempt to give."

Members of this committee were Prof. George Weller and J. T. Link. The mission board reported that the last year's budget for state home missions was $28,000. The same appropriation was made for the next year. The place and time for next year's meeting was not definitely decided upon; it was left to the president, Rev. C. F. Brommer, Hampton, and the conference advisers.

McPheely Says Liberty Bond Deduction Illegal

Lincoln, Aug. 20.—(Special).—The action of the state board of equalization in refusing to permit the deduction of Liberty bonds from their capital stock assessment is backed up by J. L. McPheely, prominent attorney at Minden, in a letter to State Auditor Smith. He says such a deduction is illegal and he has advised the two banks in which he is a stockholder, and also the county board, while acting temporarily as county attorney.

McPheely has discovered a point to substantiate his contention which has not been raised heretofore. He says that national banks were always required under the old financial system to carry a certain amount of government bonds as the basis of their circulation. However, no banks ever claimed or were allowed deduction on that account.

Lincoln Traction Company Applies for Higher Fare

Lincoln, Aug. 20.—(Special).—The Lincoln Traction company Tuesday filed another application with the State Railway commission for authority to increase street car fares. The company contends that the operating expenses have greatly increased due to labor and material. It is pointed out that the gross and net income have decreased to such an extent that not only will the company be unable to pay preferred dividends, but it will not have funds to meet this year's taxes which become due next December, or to pay bond interest at the time it falls due, Jan. 1, 1919.

The commission on June 17 denied the company's application for increased fares and an appeal from this decision is pending before the supreme court.

Lincoln Not Coming This Year to Bow to King Ak

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 20.—(Special).—There will be no Lincoln night at the Ak-Sar-Ben den in Omaha this year. The entertainment committee of the Lincoln Commercial club has reached this decision, believing that it would be best, in view of war conservation and economy, not to make any special effort toward boosting "or a big delegation to make the trip. August 20 had been the date set for the Lincoln program at the annual carnival. The committee agreed that its action should not interfere with its possible boosting for Ak-Sar Ben.

177,000 MEN IN STATE REGISTER UNDER NEW CALL

Preparations Made in Advance to Take Names of Men From 18 to 45 Years Old.

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Aug. 20.—(Special).—Nebraska has 177,000 men within the proposed new draft age limits of 18 to 45, it is estimated at Governor Neville's office. The registration under the new manpower bill is tentatively set for September 5.

The War department is anticipating a September enrollment and has forwarded to Governor Neville 105 mail sacks containing printed blanks, instructions and miscellaneous supplies. The material will be sent out to the local boards.

The new registration, if the bill passes as planned, will call for boys from 18 to 20, inclusive, and men from 32 to 45, inclusive. Revisive estimates place the coming registration at about one and one-half times as great as the first one, in 1917.

Under the initial draft registration, Nebraska enumerated 118,000 men, while another 10,000 names were added to the draft lists on June 5, this year.

Lincoln Athlete Wounded Twice in Seicheprey Battle

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Aug. 20.—(Special).—Second Lt. Harold E. McGlasson of Lincoln was wounded twice during the American offensive which began July 18. He suffered the first wound July 22, and was struck by a Hun shell fire again after he had been removed to a field hospital, which was bombed by the enemy.

He was then taken back to a base hospital. In a letter to his mother, Mrs. C. E. McGlasson, the soldier said he expected to be out of the hospital in three weeks.

The Americans ran into a nest of German machine guns after starting out from a town which the Yanks captured the night before. During the fierce fighting McGlasson was wounded and he was carried back to the village. The Germans began attacking the town and later stormed the ward where the American wounded were quartered.

The woods were cleaned of the Huns by noon of the same day, McGlasson writes. In capturing the town, 200 Germans were taken prisoners.

McGlasson is a former Lincoln high school football star and also attended the University of Nebraska. He has been cited for bravery in the battle of Seicheprey.

SOUTH SIDE MOTHER TAKES THE LAW INTO HER OWN HANDS

Ralston Woman Attempts to Avenge Alleged Attack on Girl by Shooting the Accused Man.

During an altercation between her husband and Joe Reisdorf at Twenty-fourth and N streets at 8 o'clock Monday night, Mrs. Charles Anderson fired two shots from a revolver at Reisdorf. One of the balls grazed his abdomen, making a slight wound and the other passed through the fleshy part of his arm above the elbow. The Andersons were placed under arrest. The woman was held under $500 bond on the charge of intent to do great bodily harm with a deadly weapon. Anderson was booked for disturbing the peace and released on a $15 bond. Reisdorf, the complaining witness, was released on a $50 bond.

Trouble between the three dates back to October, 1917, Mrs. Anderson told the police. She alleges that on the night of Oct. 30, Reisdorf, who was then a motorman on a Papillon car, inveigled Ruth, her 15-year-old daughter, into the motorman's vestibule of the car and attacked her.

The girl, she says, did not tell of the affair until the following July. "I went to see County Attorney Magney," Mrs. Anderson said, and he told me that I could do nothing at law, and that it was merely my girl's story against Reisdorf's. I promised myself right then that I would 'get' Reisdorf and every time I saw him I told him that I would 'get' him one of these days, and I tried to tonight, but I never shot a revolver before and I didn't do a good job of it."

Reisdorf denies the allegation of Mrs. Anderson. The girl, Ruth, is now in the industrial school at Geneva. Reisdorf lives at 5421 Q street, is married and has several children. The Andersons live at Ralston.

SUGAR CARDS FOR 5,826,591 POUNDS ISSUED IN MONTH

Amount Used by Housewives for Canning and Preserving Purposes Causes Excess of State Quota.

Nebraska's sweet tooth drew sugar certificates for 5,826,591 pounds of sugar for the month of August, according to compilations made by the federal food administration for Nebraska. While the amount exceeds the Nebraska allotment for the month, the combined use for July and August is not far from the allotment made for the two months.

The excess is easily accounted for in the amount of sugar used for canning and preserving purposes. For the month, approximately 1,244,000 pounds of sugar were allotted to housewives, a tribute to the patriotic response to can with as little sugar as possible.

Figures made public by A. C. Lau, deputy food administrator for Nebraska, for August show that for general household purposes dealers were given certificates for 4,686,485 pounds, which includes the canning sugar. Less essential manufacturers received 406,066 pounds, while essential manufacturers were given 186,020 pounds.

Hotels and restaurants drew certificates for 159,620 pounds, while bakers and others in this class took certificates aggregating 388,400 pounds.

For the months of July and August, Nebraska has used 11,234,940 pounds of sugar for all purposes. The allotment for the state for September is 5,183,000 pounds, which will have to cover the small excess, which has already been issued.

AT THE THEATERS

A PLAY which does not depend upon the seriousness of any one theme, with no mention of any great political question, no crooks, no triangle or any of the deeper problems of sex, is "The Little Teacher," which will be the attraction at the Brandeis theater, for three days, beginning Thursday, September 12, with a matinee on Saturday. In this play, Harry James Smith, the author, has written a story which has to do with a New York girl who finds her life work and romance as the teacher of a small school in the hills of Vermont. Maude Fealy will be seen as the little teacher.

Eva Tanguay has 'em going at the Orpheum. Her songs are extremely popular, while her vivacity and strikingly individual methods of fun-making make it possible for her to hold her place in vaudeville.

The patriotic scenic transformation offered as the grand finale of "Whoop-Dee-Do" at the Gayety this week strikes the responsive chord with all who witness it. An allegorical group with Uncle Sam with protecting arms outstretched to all completes the picture.

Wilson & Wilson, two dusky-hued laugh producers are at the Empress, and have as clever a line of comedy as one could wish to hear. Real darkey singing and a big variety of dancing steps are introduced.

"The Blue Pearl" is to be produced in London.

Ralph Morgan will have the leading role in "Lightning."

Stuart Walker intends to send his Biblical production, "The Book of Job" on tour.

Wilbur Nesbit's musical play, "The Girl of My Dreams," is to be adapted for the screen.

Among the productions which William A. Brady will make is "I. O. U.," with Mary Nash heading the cast.

Thomas A. Wise has started rehearsals "Mr. Barnum," to be produced under the management of Charles B. Dillingham.

Charles Dillingham's production, "Take It From Me," based on a French libretto, with music by Ivan Caryll, will have as stars Julia Sanderson, Joseph Cawthorn and Clifton Crawford. Doyle and Dixon, the dancers, will also appear.

When Irene Castle will be shown in the last play she made before retiring for at least the duration of the war, "The Girl From Bohemia."

"The Liar" the Virginia Pearson photoplay which has been entertaining crowds for the last three days at the Empress theater, will end its run today. Tomorrow William Farnum will be seen in "The Plunderer."
