Rousing Sendoff Planned by Chamber of Commerce for Large Contingent to National Army.

Stores along the line of march down Farnam street have been asked to decorate the front of their buildings in the national colors and join the crowd in making the farewells reception to the draft contingent leaving Friday afternoon an event that the departing National army men will carry with them to the battlefields of France with pleasure as the farewell tribute of their "home town."

Camouflage is not desired by the committee in charge who ask but a demonstration of the feelings of business men toward the embryo soldiers who are going to fight their country's battles. Five hundred men will answer their country's call on that day and an elaborate entertainment program has been arranged. A rousing sendoff can only come by individual effort of citizens along the line of march.

The August contingent will be divided between Camp Funston and Camp Dodge. Camp Funston will receive the major portion, 450 men, and 50 men are assigned to Camp Dodge. Each will be provided with a comfort kit at the station by the Chamber of Commerce committee and the Red Cross.

Men from the second, fourth, fifth and sixth districts will be guests at a luncheon at 12:15 at the Rome hotel. Edward M. Wellman will speak and the Graham quartette will sing a group of songs.

The men will assemble at the court house at 1:30, where patriotic exercises, including music by Desdunes' band and short addresses by Mayor Smith and the Rev. Francis X. McMenamy, president of Creighton university, will be held. The Liberty band and the Quartette of '61 will furnish music.

The march to the station will start at 2:15. A platoon of police followed by the band, soldiers and sailors farewell committee and Red Cross workers, will head the procession. The national army men will be followed by Boy Scouts, home guards and citizens.
