Sergeant Baldwin, War Hero, Speaks at Central High

Sergt. Harold Baldwin, wounded Canadian soldier, who helped stay the German hordes when the great war began, spoke yesterday afternoon to students of the Central High school.

Sergeant Baldwin told of one instance of German humor. His regiment being demounted cavalry they were constantly the butt for jokes.

As soon as they took over a front line trench a German hailed them, "Hello, Canadians, where are your horses?" A toy wooden horse was then elevated to the edge of the trench. Two neat shots disposed of it. A moment later it reappeared swathed in bandages.

"If there's one thing I hate worse than a German, it's a blooming bagpipe," burst out the speaker at one point in his speech. "The way we marched would have made the heart of a real soldier bleed. A lot of dignitaries were reviewing us and the bagpipes started playing. A Scotchman in a hospital once got hold of some pipes and blew them while the nurse was away. When she returned the Englishmen in the beds around were dead."

"I wish they'd quit ringing the gas alarm," exploded the speaker, when the electric bells rang announcing the end of a period.

Sergeant Baldwin was wounded in action and has lost one leg by amputation.

Christie Sues for $10,000 for Injuries From Fall

Claiming that Nebraska's workmen's compensation law is not applicable on government property, Burr Wright-Christie filed suit for $10,000 damages in district court against Edward A. Wickham, contractor.

Mr. Christie alleges that while employed by Wickham in painting a building at Fort Omaha on September 22, 1917, a defective scaffold on which he was working broke, precipitating him to the ground. He alleges he was permanently injured by the fall.

It is asserted by Mr. Christie that under section 8, article 1, of the Constitution of the United States, the laws of Nebraska have no application to government property, but are governed by the common law, and that congress has the exclusive right to legislate on such property. AT THE THEATERS

"WAR, this terrible war" Madame Bernhardt exclaimed yesterday. "I know well the meaning of it. Twice I have seen its ghastliness. First it was the Franco-Prussian war, and now it is this world disaster. The horrors of 1870 and 1871 were nothing as compared with the present outrage upon civilization." In the one-act play she is presenting for the first half of the week at the Orpheum, she portrays the role of a wounded soldier of France.

Jean Bedini and his popular company are at the Gayety this week offering "Puss Puss," which abounds in features and novelties. Performances are given twice daily.

Jack Norworth's "Odds and Ends of 1917" will be seen at the Boyd theater for three nights, commencing Thursday, September 12, with matinee Saturday. This is said to be one of the most novel offerings on the musical comedy stage and has for its background brilliant and original scenes, catchy songs, pretty girls and the original New York and Chicago cast, including Harry Watson, Jr., Bettie Parker, Sue Creighton, Mary Jayne, Jack Coogan, Jay Dillon, Joseph Herbert, Jr., and many others. It comes direct from a 16-week run at the Garrick theatre, where capacity houses have prevailed.

The most spectacular Shakespearean production that has graced our stage in many seasons will be seen here when John E. Kellard and his organization appears at the Brandeis this season in a repertoire, including "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," "Macbeth," and "Much Ado About Nothing." The scenery was especially designed for the organization and is said to be complete in every detail. A feature of the production is the music which has been composed by Jose Van Den Berg.

With its primary colors of beauty, vivacity, youth, unflinching humor and musical charm, "The Rainbow Girl," after a run of almost a year in New York, is flashing a radiant arch in Chicago, where it has just opened a 10-week engagement. It comes to the Brandeis immediately after the close of the Chicago engagement.

Gus Hill's latest effort, "The Lady Bountiful Minstrels," an all girl show with a Lady Hussar band and lady stage hands will be a Brandeis offering this fall.

Wireless Greeting To Gen. Pershing on Birthday Proposed

A wireless birthday greeting to General Pershing may be a feature of the celebration of the general's birthday in Omaha, which is being planned by the committee.

Whether it can be carried out or not remains to be seen. It is said the message can be sent direct from Washington to the shores of France. But the government may decree that birthday messages are not of sufficient importance to take up the time and "juice" of a high-powered wireless station in these strenuous days.

The committee is going to find out, anyway, and send the message from the metropolis of General Pershing's state, if possible.

Endres Cuts Expense $26; Asks $94 for Chicago Trip

City Commissioner Ure reported to city council committee of the whole that Treasurer Endres amended a recent claim against the city from $120 to $94 for a trip he made to Chicago with $400,000 in Omaha sewer bonds which had been sold.

"I told Mr. Endres that if he would make out a statement of his actual expense of the trip this council would approve his claim and I also told him that he could not expect to make a profit on the trip," Mr. Ure explained.

The treasurer originally claimed $120, which would have been the charge if the bonds had been shipped by express at the rate of 30 cents per thousand. He now claims that his actual expenses were $94.

Declares She Now Feels Fifteen Years Younger—Suffered Seven Years.

"Positively, I feel all of fifteen years younger since taking Tanlac, and I have actually gained twenty-five pounds," said Mrs. Sarah E. Minck, who lives at 1413 N. street, Lincoln, the other day.

"About seven years ago," she continued, "when my health first began to fail I lost my appetite, and what little I forced down disagreed with me so and caused me so much agony that I would just eat enough to keep me alive. My liver was out of order and I hurt all over like I had been beaten with sticks. I fell off all of twenty-five pounds in weight, had a tired, draggy feeling all the time, in fact, I was all run-down, had no ambition, could hardly do my housework and was little more than a nervous wreck. I doctored and tried all kinds of medicines and prescriptions, but got worse if anything and almost despaired of ever getting well again."

"I had been reading about Tanlac and heard so many people praising it that I finally decided to try it. I have wished many a time since that I had got hold of Tanlac years ago. I'd have saved many a dollar and got my health back sooner if I had. Well, sir, before I had used up half my first bottle my appetite commenced to improve. I began to pick up. I felt better and rested better at night. In a couple of weeks my appetite was great and I could eat anything I wanted and all I wanted without having a bit of trouble afterwards. It wasn't long before I had regained all my lost weight—twenty-five pounds—and I am still gaining. I never have a pain or an ache about me. I sleep like a child all night and feel better in every way than I have in seven years. In fact, I am in such good condition that I can attend to all my household duties without the least bit of trouble and still have time to do some sewing for others on the side. Tanlac made me a well woman after everything else I had taken failed to do me any good and I am praising it all the time to everybody I know."

Tanlac is sold in Omaha by Sherman & McConnell Drug Co., corner 16th and Dodge streets; 16th and Harney streets; Owl Drug Co., 16th and Farnam streets; Harvard Pharmacy, 24th and Farnam streets; northeast corner 19th and Farnam streets; West End Pharmacy, 49th and Dodge streets, under the personal direction of a Special Tanlac Representative, and in South Omaha by Forrest & Meany Drug Co.—Advertisement.

How About Your Danger Zone?

YOU'VE got it—every human being is born with it—your large intestine, or colon. It is a large tube—a reservoir or sewer—intended to collect waste matter and remove it from the body.

Plug it up with waste, neglect it, and you're sick on your feet. The waste matter stagnates, undergoes decay, fermentation and germ action. Dangerous poisons are produced, that can easily be absorbed and carried all over the body.

Allow constipation to become established, and you are liable to become definitely and miserably sick—and not on your feet either. You have broken Nature's laws.

Better be kind to her. Keep the danger zone clean, with a regular bowel movement, and Nature will thank you, and pay you back in gold coin—health, good nature, and a feeling of eagerness for your daily task.

A large proportion of almost every form of sickness is caused or made worse by the poisons produced as a result of constipation.

Nujol has the approval of established medical practice, because it does not upset the system as do pills, castor oil and purgative mineral waters, salts, etc. It softens the contents of the colon, making them easy for the intestinal muscles to move at regular hours. Don't fight Nature. Help her. Nujol is health insurance for tens of thousands of American families today. Sold at drug stores everywhere.

Warning: NUJOL is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.
