Announcement that the railway grain Germany was actually double-crossthe hands of rough German force. | people have been noticed to visit Germany, however, did not dis-card the bolshevik leaders, recognizing their further use in the German world campaign for internal disorganization in the nation with which it wars but confined them to the limited inland province which Great Russia proper has now be-

Russia Betrayed.

Lenin, according to statements made public as soon as Trotsky's spectacular device of "No peace-No war" failed, always was for peace on any German terms. He dominated the situation thereafter and conceded everything that Germany asked. Nor did Trotsky cease to continue to obey the German orders delivered to him both by General Hoffman, at Brest-Litovsk and at Petrograd, directly by the Russian division of the German general staff, which was seated in Petrograd itself from November, and which was still there in full operation when I left, Monday, March 4, the day that Petrograd received notification that peace had been signed at Brestdelegations.

Litovsk by the Russian and German Trotsky, therefore, rests rightly under the accusation of having staged his theatrical scene as a climax to the Russian disorganization desired by Germany. The actual order he gave was for the immediate demobilization of the Russian army, leaving the German army unopposed. The actual effect of the work of the bolshevik leaders, moreover, was to enable Germany to combine its former army of the Russian front with its western army for the aunching of its March offensive in France. Such has been the fruition of Russia's German-directed bolshevikism.

The following documents tell the story of the betrayal of Russia to a shameful and ruinous peace:
