Maj. Bridges Censors Omaha Lad's Letters in Mid-Atlantic

Mrs. George A. Squires, living in the Blackstone, received a distinct surprise last week when she finished reading a letter from her son, Sergt. Judson Squires, to note that the letter, which was written on board ship crossing the Atlantic, had been censored by Maj. E. L. Bridges, also of Omaha. Major Bridges is the brother of Dr. W. O. Bridges, who has been the Squires family physician for years.

Sergeant Squires was reporting for duty from Scott Field to an aviation camp in northeastern England and the major, with a large party of Omahans with whom the young sergeant was acquainted, was going over with the Nebraska base hospital unit, No. 49, to whom was assigned censorship duties.

Another son, Clarence Squires, familiarly known as "Jack," is serving on a submarine chaser, which for the most part, has been in Mediterranean waters. The young Omaha has touched shore at Gibraltar, the Azores and points in Greece.

Letter from France

Millard P. Durkee, well-known amateur athlete now in France, writes of Red Cross service to the boys in France in a letter to F. W. Judson, state director:

"Dropped in at the American Red Cross canteen and secured this stationery free of charge. Also had a lemonade, a sandwich and one regular doughnut. The Red Cross canteen is indeed a popular place with the boys and all of them invariably speak well of and swear by the Red Cross, and outside of the service and accommodations it does an American boy a lot of good to see a regular American lady behind the counter. Every call for funds would be away over-subscribed if the folks at home could only see the results over here."

Women Approve Films

Movie programs, sponsored by the better films committee of the Omaha Woman's club for this evening include: "Cupid by Proxy," Maryland, Montague Love in "The Cross Bearers," Apollo, Charles Ray in "The Claws of the Hun," Rohlif, Irene Castle in "First Law," Lohrop, Tom Mix in "Ace High," Grand, Corinne Griffith in "Clutch of Circumstances," and Orpheum, Howard Goodman in "Blue Blood."

SOCIETY

For Bride Elect

Miss Florence Rahm, whose marriage to Lt. Robert Loomis will take place Tuesday evening, has been forced to make her wedding plans so hurriedly that she has decided to refuse all pre-nuptial affairs. However, this charming girl has too many friends to carry out her plan completely, and one or two affairs have been planned in her honor. Miss Margaretha Grimmel, who will be one of Miss Rahm's bridesmaids, will entertain at a shower at her home Saturday afternoon, when the intimate friends of the bride-to-be will shower her with lovely things for the trousseau.

Army Ball

Myriads of silk flags of the allied colors, fluttering among the twinkling lights of the ball room at the Blackstone, will form the patriotic setting for the army reception and ball to be given this evening. Lt. Col. and Mrs. Jacob W. S. Wuest and the retiring commandant of Fort Omaha, Lt. Col. H. B. Hersey, will be the honor guests and 400 of the army set and society folk will attend the affair.

The young girls will wear their loveliest evening gowns, and with the setting of khaki, this promises to be one of the most brilliant gatherings of the year. Those in the receiving line will include Col. and Mrs. Jacob W. S. Wuest, Col. and Mrs. H. B. Hersey, Messrs. and Mesdames Luther Kountze, C. C. George and Ed P. Smith, Maj. and Mrs. T. R. Crawford and Maj. and Mrs. E. W. Crockett.

Mrs. Baxter Entertains

A luncheon party is being arranged by Mrs. W. H. Baxter in honor of the young women who will take part in the dance revue to be given Monday under the auspices of the Smith College club. The affair will be given Saturday at the University club and covers will be laid for 16 guests. The out-of-town girls who are to take part will arrive Saturday morning.

Organize Publicity for War Fund Drive

T. P. Redmond was made chairman of the publicity bureau and Charles Goss of the speakers' bureau at a meeting of the state executive committee of the United War Work campaign, called at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday. Included in the publicity bureau are H. M. Thomas, A. C. Thomas, J. B. Henderson, Frank C. Buitta and Mrs. Thomas R. Rutledge. A state publicity director will be named Monday.

In the absence of State Chairman George Corcoran of York, Leo Rosenthal presided. Others of the state executive committee present were L. C. Oberlies, Charles Docherty, Mrs. Grace F. Gholson, W. C. Frasier, Dean Ringer and Charles A. Musselman, who represented Charles Strader of Lincoln, state director.

Expert Fashion Notes from Orkin Store

Recently arrived is R. C. Bradley, who has been employed by Orkin Bros., to choose up-to-date suits and coats for the women of Omaha. Mr. Bradley is connected with the New York office, but will spend some time each season in the Omaha and branch stores.

"Few realize," said Mr. Bradley, "what opportunities are open to the women of the west these days to keep up with the Paris styles. Yes, we will have 1413 styles, for the designers have the U-boats to cross the ocean still, knowing that not even the terrors of war can take from that brave city the leadership in the designing of women gowns. Wonderfully competent and artistic designers have also been developed in this country. Most of the large stores have men in New York who keep in touch with these designers and know the very latest modes as soon as they are announced. In this way the New York woman does not get the styles three months or so earlier than her western sister, as was the case in former years, but the latest styles are flashed all over the country simultaneously."

Mr. Bradley will remain in Omaha for about two weeks.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Westerfield have received word that their son, James, who is with the Omaha ambulance company, has arrived overseas.

Prof. and Mrs. C. Thornton have received word that their son, Sergt. Harry W. Thornton, has arrived safely in France. Sergeant Thornton is in the department of the Union Pacific railroad and was organist and choir master at the First Baptist church. He went overseas as a member of Ambulance corps No. 335. Prof. Thornton, who has recently come to Omaha from Colorado Springs, will be organist at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Council Bluffs.

Women Welcomed in Industry

Three methods of training workers for war jobs in England are financed exclusively or in part by the ministry of munitions—training in technical schools, training in instructional factories, and training in instructional bays of industrial factories. The last two methods are used in teaching women mechanical processes.

The training and dilution service of the United States department of Labor is profiting by the experience of the British in working out methods and practices. One thing that is emphasized in Great Britain is the necessity for making the difficult transition from household occupations to mechanical work as easy as possible for women. To accomplish this a warm welcome from the skilled men already at work in their trades counts

"September Turns the Forest Brown"

The foliage everywhere has taken on autumn's colorings; soon the winds of October will strip the trees and then comes the first month of winter.

Nature gives fair warning to all of us; every changing line sounds the note of warning—"PREPARE."

This advertisement contains a warning also—telling of things that were, that are, and that soon will be no more.

On Saturday at 8:30 A. M. at Kilpatrick's SENSATIONAL SILK SALE STARTS

Silks that were prime favorites—silks that are perfect—silk prices that will be no more when these are gone.

At $1.19

Choice styles, plaids and stripes; autumn styles which, if we were to go into the market today to buy, we couldn't touch so as to sell at this price.

At $1.69

Nothing less than 36 inches in width. A varied assortment, for dresses, waists. And a lot of extra fine Tub Silks that will wash like cotton cloth and keep the color. Silks that look good enough to eat—almost. Just the thing for morning wear in the home, so bright, clean and cheery as to give joy to wearer and the rest of the household.

We are not going to burden you with market quotations, but will suggest there is a possibility that the manufacture of silks may be very much restricted in the near future.

If we were to say: Sale of Women's Hats Saturday Morning

At $10.00 each

That bare announcement would crowd the department.

Our Millinery Sale Saturday merits more than that. The manager of the department says: "No better values have ever been presented from the Millinery Section." We investigated, and can supplement her words with the statement that—"In point of timeliness, quality of materials and value—rarely, if ever, have we equalled this collection."

Beautiful ostrich trimmed. Others tailored for street wear. Some two-toned. Black hats with colored facings; browns, taupes, navies and other desirable colors.

So meritorious the lot, that we felt compelled to include from our regular stock about 50 hats which were very much higher priced—all to be offered at $10.00 each.

It is our guess that long before closing time they will all be gone.

We would not be doing justice to either you or ourselves if we failed to invite you to take a look at our marvelous showing for autumn and winter of wearables in our Women's, Children's and Junior Sections.
