Bergeda-Blotcky Nuptials.

In a setting of pink and silver formed of masses of pink chrysanthemums, Russell roses and streamers of silver the wedding of Miss Tonnette Blotcky and Col. Aaron Bergeda of Nashville, Tenn., took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Blotcky.

The altar was banked with palms, ferns and chrysanthemums, with the crossed flags at the back, and the canopy of white satin was covered with the same flowers. Rabbi Morris N. Taxon officiated. The bride's sister, Miss Ann Blotcky, who was maid of honor, was gowned in white and carried a shower bouquet of Russell roses. Colonel Bergeda's niece, Miss Kate and Lily Bergeda of Nashville, Tenn., the bridesmaids, were gowned alike in pink chiffon over pink satin, with trimmings of silver. Picture hats of mairine and shower bouquets of Russell roses completed their costumes.

The bridegroom was of white satin made with an overdrapery of Duchess lace and trimmed with seed pearls. A long tulle veil caught with pearls was worn, and the bride's bouquet was of the white roses and swansonia.

Frank Blotcky, nephew of the bride, was dressed as a page, in a suit of white satin, and carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

Beautiful ostrich feather fans of pink were the gifts of the bride to her attendants.

Governor Thomas C. Rye of Tennessee and his staff, and Lou Blotcky, brother of the bride, acted as ushers, the dignitaries from the ship appearing in uniform. D. M. Bergeda, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Blackstone. Masses of palms and ferns and the gorgeous chrysanthemums in the different shades of pink were used at the hotel and about a hundred guests attended.

Toast

It seems almost an idle thing to talk about toast making, for "anybody can make toast," but I often marvel how some people make it so badly. How often burnt, or soggy, or cold pieces of near-toast masquerade as the real article! The advent of electric toasters has raised the toast standards of the country probably more than all the preaching could ever do; because when toast is made at the table it reaches you in a state of perfection that is impossible when several slices are brought in from the kitchen.

Since we cannot all depend on electric toasters, we must rely on devices for other kinds of apparatus. The wire toaster to be used over a bed of coals or wood in a range will also turn out a perfect product. For the oil or gas stove we have asbestos mats and various patent toasters. The asbestos mat is quite satisfactory, but not nearly so good as a square perforated piece of metal crossed with wire, and resting close to the metal. This toaster used to cost only 10 cents.

The Making of Toast.

Whatever the method used, the bread should be at least 24 hours old and should be cut about one-fourth inch thick; the toast should be watched constantly and kept in the slices should not be piled one on top of the other or the toast will be soggy. A toast rack will avoid sogginess. If the toast is used as a base for creamed foods, it is sometimes dipped quickly into boiling salted water just before using.

Special Kinds of Toast.

Ordinary toast may be glorified into a luncheon dish by adding a little flavor.

Cinnamon Toast—Spread hot toast with butter, then sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon. Cut into triangles and serve immediately.

Co-Operation

Miss Gross will be very glad to receive suggestions for the home economics column or to answer, as far as she is able, any questions that her readers may ask.

Peanut Butter Toast—Spread hot toast with peanut butter. Cut into slender fingers and serve at once.

Cream Toasts.

Some people differentiate between Milk Toast and Cream Toast. The former generally means toast with milk; while the latter means toast with cream sauce poured over it.

Milk Toast—Butter slices of hot toast, put two in a saucer on top of each other, and cover with hot milk that has been seasoned with salt and pepper.

Cream Toast—Make a sauce by melting 1 tablespoon of butter or substitute, stirring in 1 tablespoon of flour, and adding 1 cup of milk. Stir to boiling and season with salt and pepper. Serve over hot toast. Sufficient sauce for 6 slices.

Cheese Cream Toast.

Sprinkle grated cheese over toast and heat in the oven till cheese melts. Pour Cream Sauce over the slices and serve at once.

Tomato Cream Toast.

1/2 c. strained tomato, 2 T. flour, 1/2 c. scalded milk, 1/4 T. salt, 1 T. butter or 2 T. butter or 2 T. butter or 2 T. butter.

Melt fat, add flour and stir in gradually tomato, to which soda has been added. Add milk, season to taste. Dip the toast in the sauce and serve at once.

French Toast.

1 egg, 1/2 c. milk, 1/2 c. sugar, 1/4 T. butter or 2 T. butter or 2 T. butter or 2 T. butter.

Beat egg slightly, add milk, salt and sugar or syrup. Dip slices of bread into mixture, then dip the slices on a plate for five minutes. Brown the slices in fat in a skillet, and serve with jelly, syrup or a fruit sauce.

"Dreamland Adventures"

By DADDY—THE HARVEST CARNIVAL

(Peggy goes in the Birds Harvest Carnival disguised as a Parrot. There a handsome young flier warns her against the presence of spies.)

CHAPTER III.
Peggy Hears Strange Talk.

WHAT could the warning mean? Before Peggy could question the Rooster he slipped away in the crowd.

Why should there be spies in this peaceful gathering? It is true that the Birds were war workers—doing their share to grow food for gobbling up worms and bugs that would otherwise destroy the crops, but there was no secret about this work. The Birds had been at it openly all summer long.

Peggy wondered if the spies might be trying to learn about the Pigeons whom Billy Belgium had recruited for messenger service in the American army abroad. If they were, it wouldn't do them much good, for the Pigeons by this time were safely somewhere in Europe training for their war work.

But whatever the spies were after, Peggy determined to be on her guard. She would be alert to block any hostile plans she might discover. The carnival frolic was now in full swing. The Birds were cutting all sorts of capers, singing, dancing, doing acrobatic stunts and making merry in bits of comedy.

A cricket orchestra furnished music—a queer monotonous kind of music that was varied only as some of the musicians chirped fast or slow.

Judge Owl, who appeared to be very much smitten with Peggy, approached her with a grand bow.

"Oh, dance with me, Witch of the Night! Come, fill my heart with rare delight. I feel I've got to shake a toe. And give these Birds a jolly show."

Peggy couldn't resist his plea, and danced a funny, happy jig with Judge Owl, while the other Birds gathered around and applauded.

Their jig livened up the whole carnival, and soon everyone was jigging. Peggy got tired, but the judge kept right on dancing. A beautiful Pheasant stopped beside her and began to chat pleasantly. Peggy was so busy laughing at Judge Owl's antics that she didn't listen very attentively, although she answered politely. Presently she realized with a jerk that there was something peculiar about what the Pheasant was saying.

"Isn't it a shame that we can't have fun like this all the time, instead of wasting our time helping the farmers," the Pheasant remarked. "I, for one, am growing mighty tired of work. A Bird is born for play, not for toil."

Peggy turned to the Pheasant with questioning eyes.

"Why, how queer you talk," she said.

Loomis left Tuesday evening for the east to be gone until the latter part of October. When they return they will have an apartment at the Blackstone.

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2. and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of a few known "ready-made" cough remedies you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any drugist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Taste pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives most immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A doctor who will usually overcome the ordinary cough and bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated syrup, of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your drugist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.
