SOCIETY

WHEN will the ban be lifted? It seems to be the burning question of the hour, for the novelty of having "no place to go but home" is beginning to get a bit wearisome. However, even this time of sickness and sorrow has its silver lining, for those fortunate mortals who escaped the deadly "flu" have had a lovely time, and renewing the long forgotten custom of calling is being revived.

With the hurry and bustle of twentieth century life the art of calling was completely obsolete and one's friends seldom came except by special invitation. We are hearing these fall days of delightful Sunday evenings when a few friends, only a very few (Dr. Manning please note) are having cozy supper parties to-gether. Afternoon calls enlivened by a cup of tea are becoming quite the vogue and we are wondering if this enjoyable custom of the golden days before the war will survive after we are allowed to come and go as we please. The eastern visitors are lingering and the younger girls are finding another glint of silver in the dull gray epidemic clouds. Two of these lovely girls are very popular.

Teas, luncheons and informal dinners have marked nearly every day of Miss Katherine Baum's stay and still more are being planned. Miss Pauline Hayward, . too, has been feted extensively and she will remain for some time longer at the Weller home.

Mrs. Anthony French Merrill has found it necessary to postpone her opening lecture, much to the disappointment of her many friends, for these lectures are among the most interesting of the winter season. As erous affairs planned for her.
