MANNING SAYS CAR WINDOWS MUST BE OPEN

All Meetings of Over Twelve People Prohibited; Stores Urged to Close Before Rush Hour.

City Health Commissioner Manning, after a conference with a representative of the State Board of Health, made the following interpretation of the state-wide closing order for the control of the Spanish influenza epidemic, the regulations being specifically made for the guidance of Omaha people:

"All public gatherings, both indoors and outdoors, are prohibited until at least November 2. A public gathering is interpreted to include any assembly over 12. This includes picture shows, theaters, churches, lodges, schools, both public and private, commercial, dental and medical colleges. Attendance at funerals must be limited to the relatives, with no church services. All political meetings, both indoors and outdoors, are also prohibited.

"Crowds on street cars must be limited, so far as possible. To accomplish this it is urged that persons who can use the cars at other than rush hours, do so, thereby distributing the traffic over a longer period. It is further advised that downtown stores agree to a closing hour, possibly 4 or 4:30 o'clock, which will enable their employees to use the cars before the general rush begins at 5 o'clock.

Keep Windows Open.

"Windows in street cars must be kept open regardless of the weather. Street car conductors will be required to enforce this rule.

"No matter if the weather gets quite cold it is of extreme importance that the street car windows be kept open," said Dr. Manning. "People dressed warmly enough for the street can sit in a street car with the windows open for a few minutes without discomfort. It is better to do that than to catch the influenza.

"Stores must keep windows open and do everything to keep air circulating. People who do not have to travel on the street cars should keep them open," said Dr. Manning.

JEFFERIS MAN FOR CONGRESS SAYS BLOOM

Urges Citizens of Swedish Origin to Support Man Who Will Support President as Patriotic Duty.

Speaking of the congressional situation in this district, Alfred Bloom, president of The Alfred Bloom company, said to The Bee reporter:

"It is my firm belief that every American citizen of Swedish birth or Swedish origin owes a patriotic duty to this country to vote for Albert W. Jefferis for congress. We do not by any means perform our full duty when we subscribe for Liberty bonds or contribute to the various war funds.

"We are equally performing an obligation of patriotism when we select men of ability to represent us in our great national legislature, which not only spends the money that we subscribe and contribute, but which assists the president in the conduct of the war, and which will also assist him in solving the great problems that will come with the reconstruction period following the war. In my judgment, we have never had a more able man than Albert W. Jefferis running for congress from this district, and if we do full justice to ourselves and to our common country, he will be elected without any real contest.

"Those few unthinking persons who talk about returning our present congressman because he is a democrat and because he will support the president, should remember that he voted against the president on the McLemore resolution, for which the president ordered several sothern democrats to stay at home. They should also remember that the 210 republican members of the lower house of congress have been absolutely and at all times loyal to the president, and if that is not sufficient, they should also remember that General John J. Pershing, commander of the two million American troops in France, is a republican, and that he is standing by the president, and that his loyalty can not possibly be exceeded even by that of the president himself.

Betz of Lincoln, who when she saw the conditions of the boys at the wireless school at Lincoln who were suffering from influenza, threw her large twelve room farm home open to them as a hospital, and saw to it that the boys had both proper care and food. About 20 of the men, mostly from Omaha, at the school were ill with the disease when she had them brought in for care. She was unable to get help and telephoned to her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Alger of Omaha and asked if she would not come down and take care of the boys. Mrs. Alger did not need the second invitation. She went immediately and passed nearly two weeks with her mother

INCREASED RATE FOR PHONES ON LINCOLN LINES

State Railway Commission Grants Request Affecting Sixty-six Exchanges in Nebraska.

From a Staff Correspondent. Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 22.—(Special.)—The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company was granted permission today by the State Railway commission to boost its rates to "standard" in 66 of the 106 exchanges; to raise its tolls 25 per cent and to extend the day toll rates from 6 to 9 p. m., when the half-rate for service becomes effective.

The commission's order goes into effect November 1 and will continue until May 1, 1919. Before this time expires the company is required to make a detailed report on the reasonableness of the rates at each particular exchange.

Build Up Reserve.

In the meantime the company must build up a depreciation reserve equal to 9 per cent of its capital, which is $7,201,138, before any dividends are to be paid or any stock. Dividends are then to be limited to 7 per cent on common stock; 5 per cent on preferred and the regular interest on bonds. After this the surplus is to be set aside in such a shape as the commission can direct the disposition of it.

The commission found, according to the order written by Commissioner Wilson, that the company had used its depreciation for consolidation purposes, there being actually no funds available to be applied on depreciation.

Additional revenue amounting to $300,000 was needed, the commission concluded, because the 1,206 employees were in need of higher wages and to allow the firm to employ from 100 to 200 more persons.

The need of $100,000 more revenue was found necessary because material had increased 50 per cent.

In Lincoln business phones are unaffected by the increase. Residence two-party phones are raised from $1.75 to $2, affecting 5,083 subscribers and residence one-party lines are raised from $2.25 to $2.50, affecting 3,208 subscribers.

No Decision for Omaha.

No decision has been rendered in the case of the Nebraska Telephone company, a parallel organization operating all exchanges in the state north of the Platte river, including Omaha, which filed a request for a 2 per cent increase, but it is anticipated that the request of the Nebraska company will be granted as conditions are practically similar throughout the state.
