

GOVERNOR ASKS M'ADOO TO LIFT GRAIN EMBARGO

"Embargo Has Placed Producers at Mercy of Grain Speculators," Says Governor in Telegram.

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—Protest against W. G. McAdoo, director general of railroads, against the embargo on grain shipments, with particular reference to the Omaha market, Governor Keith Neville declares that "Nebraska producers are at the mercy of grain speculators."

The governor asks that the embargo be lifted in order that temporary relief may be had in Nebraska. His telegram to Director General McAdoo and Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, is as follows:

"Oct. 23, 1918. As a result of the embargo recently placed upon grain shipments to primary markets, the price of No. 3 yellow corn in Omaha has fallen off 53 cents per bushel in 21 days.

"As an indirect result of the embargo, the price of hogs has fallen off until the price of the food administration, that the relative price of hogs and corn would be maintained at the ratio of 13 to 1, cannot be fulfilled. Hogs marketed at the present prices will be in the ratio of approximately 9 to 1 to the corn fed. A correct price for hogs cannot be determined by using basic corn value of the month in which the hog is marketed.

Hampers Feeders.
"This embargo has eliminated a free market for independent elevators. It has placed our producers at the mercy of grain speculators. With an estimated shortage of approximately 500,000 bushels, the price of corn in Chicago on October 1, 1918, was 61 cents per bushel less than the price of corn on October 1, 1917, in that city.

"The injustice worked upon Nebraska stock feeders last winter because of the fact that after being encouraged to increase beef production, no market for heavy beef was created; the injustice of the original order of the food administration affecting the grading of potatoes; the most serious situation that now confronts the farmers of Nebraska because of the embargo on grain shipments leads to the conclusion that the Federal food administration is not fully informed as to conditions in the middle west.

"I believe that the present supply of cars warrants that temporary relief be provided through the lifting of the embargo; that if the embargo should again become necessary, the price of corn should be stabilized and that the price of hogs should be stabilized in accordance with the promise made by the Federal Food administration on November 3, 1917."

30,721 Cases of "Flu" Reported in the State Up to Wednesday Night

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—The influenza epidemic in Nebraska took a turn for the worse Wednesday, reports reaching the state health department Thursday indicated. A total of 5,081 new cases were reported, compared with 2,190 cases reported the previous day. This brings the total to date to 30,721.

Recently it was found that the $50,000 issue which was voted last spring was not sufficient to cover the extension of the school building. A $50,000 issue was voted upon last evening. An element of uncertainty caused by the possibility that the state defense council may turn down the permit had considerable effect.

WORLD-HERALD PLAYED FOR USE OF A NICKNAME

Dr. Gettys Says Use of Name "Crook Neck" in Reference to Taylor Is Cowardly Act.

From a Staff Correspondent.
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 24.—(Special.)—Dr. J. R. Gettys of University Place, makes a good job of calling the Omaha official organ of the Hitchcock-Neville-Mullen machine for endeavoring in its desperation over the probable defeat of the democratic machine and its candidates, for attacking a man politically by referring to his physical deformity.

Dr. Gettys believes that it is mighty poor politics to refer to a man who is opposing the machine as "Crook Neck," simply because that paper and the machine cannot control the politics of the gentleman. Dr. Gettys says:

"I notice the Omaha World-Herald in its column editorializing against Mr. Taylor of Custer county, as 'Crookneck' Taylor. It seems that he has in some way offended the World-Herald politically, and now its editorial writer endeavors to knock him out by this nasty reference to a physical defect. I am not personally acquainted with Mr. Taylor, but in view of the above heartless attack upon any man who is powerless to change his own physical form, I believe it is time for every decent, every fair-minded, every free and self-respecting citizen of Nebraska to speak and record such slurs, and brand the author as a beastly coward and unprincipled wretch. I have never seen in any newspaper anything so dastardly and mean, so venomous and inhuman."

"Mr. Taylor is one of the pioneer citizens of Nebraska and has done much in building up this state. His ability and integrity are unquestioned by the people who know him best. Yet, following the ruthless dagger stroke above referred to, the World-Herald has the boldness to hide behind President Wilson, whom we all love to honor and support, and the effrontery to call upon republicans and democrats alike to back the political candidates of said paper. In resenting this brutal and unjustifiable gibe, I am simply speaking in the name of right-thinking men on behalf of civilized political warfare and human decency."

Medical Corps Receives Ridiculous "Flu" Cures

Chicago, Oct. 24.—Place an onion at the bedside, draw out the fever of Spanish influenza, point the index finger of the left hand at the moon and make a wish. Then go to work as usual the next day.

This and scores of equally ridiculous remedies have been swamping health authorities and physicians of the middle west during the last few days. They come from correspondents in all walks of life and are based on home treatment, witchcraft and voodooism.

Lieutenant-Commander Owen J. Mink, medical corps, senior medical officer at the Great Lakes naval training station, has been "tipped" many times to the great secret. Some correspondents guarantee to stop the epidemic in ten minutes; others in three days. The water in a certain well, one writer informed Lieutenant Mink, would bring instant cure. Another writer told him that Indian tobacco, sprinkled on the victim's breast through a perforated baking powder can was a sure cure.

Health authorities in some districts have been told of the famous negro voodooism cures, not only for influenza, but for all ailments. For instance, under the negro practice, night sweats can be cured by placing a rusty ax edge under the bed.

Italians Flee From German Prison Camp And Gain U. S. Lines

With the American Army North-west of Verdun, Oct. 24.—Two Italian soldiers who escaped from a German prison camp reached the American lines early today after having been under shell fire for three days and nights. They passed through the fire of both the American and German guns as they came southward. The Italians had had nothing to eat but raw potatoes for five days.

The soldiers escaped from the building where they slept by digging a tunnel under the wall. They worked on the tunnel for a week in the hours in which they were supposed to sleep. There were four in the party which escaped from the camp, but they became separated, and only two have reached the American lines.

The Italians were captured near Rheims July 15, and since then have been working in German lumber camps and on railroad and road work.

WILSON'S REPLY IS WELCOMED BY BRITISH PUBLIC

People Pleased as Further Proceedings Will Be in the Hands of All Governments Interested.

London, Oct. 24.—The popular comment on the president's note here is that it contains the strongest language ever addressed by the head of one great nation to another in modern times. The note is welcomed, first, because it brings matters to a new state; further proceedings, if there are to be further proceedings, will be in the hands of all the governments interested. Hitherto, so far as the public knows, the nations associated with the United States and which have more at stake, perhaps, than have the United States, have been on-lookers to the correspondence.

The note is welcomed secondly, because it promises to bring the season of discussion to an end and settle one way or the other. No one sees how the German chancellor, Prince Maximilian, can fail either to accept President Wilson's platform or reject it. Acceptance will be taken to mean that the Germans regard their position as hopeless and that disaster is imminent.

The general opinion is that Germany's military position is not so bad, but that her leaders will fight on, only with the hope of creating divisions among the allies, which has been Germany's reliance of late.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that any fear that the president's "deliberate method of dealing with the German overtures betokened a mitigation of the allies' demands and the foregoing of their complete victory, will be banished by the concise and inflexible terms of his crowning rejoinder."

Certainly never for an hour do I cease to think of the day when I shall be able to enter Brussels and again hoist the Belgian flag there. But we are still 40 or 50 miles away from it and there is the Scheldt river to be crossed."
