AT THE THEATERS

"WHY MARRY?" a comedy by Jesse Lynch Williams, with Nat Goodwin in the leading role, is to be the opening offering at the Boyd today, with a matinee and evening performance. Mr. Goodwin is supported by a remarkable cast, in which are Edmund Brees, Ernest Lawford, Leonard Mudie, Lotus Robb, Louise Randolph and Annie Morgan. The production is the one used in New York, where the play ran all last season at the Astor theater. The two performances today will comprise the local engagement.

The big "Hearts of the World" production, with its symphony orchestra and complete effects, will at last be revealed to the public, when it opens a nine days' engagement at the Brandeis theater today. If you love children you will love D. W. Griffith's latest triumph, for there are several of the cleverest children in the cast that have been seen on the screen. Little Benny Alexander in "Hearts of the World," though only five years old is a veritable star and shares honors with Lillian Gish and Robert Harron. It is worth spending an evening with Mr. Griffith's entertainment to see this little fellow alone.

For the bill opening Sunday at the Orpheum the headline attraction will be Sarah Padden in "The Eternal Barrier." Her offering, by Tom Barry, is an emotional drama with but a single character. Miss Padden's portrayal of the war widow is the most powerful delineation she has ever given to the stage. A feature act will be presented by the musical comedy favorites, the Courtney Sisters. George Le Maire and Clay Crouch are to offer a humorous skit as another feature. The show is perhaps the most entertaining of any booked at the Orpheum this season.

With the "flu" ban now lifted, the Empress theater is offering a new show today as well as a brand new show tomorrow. Included on the bill for today are Mr. and Mrs. Colton, old timers in Omaha, having played in the old Academy of Music 38 years ago as their first venture in the show business. Mr. Colton's real name is Frank Fritwell, being the son of D. S. M. Fritwell of this city. Their offering is a musical comedy sketch.

Omaha's matinee-goers will have their first opportunity in a month to be sheltered by the Gayety this afternoon, the first regularly scheduled performance of Fred Irwin's "Majestics." Florence Bennett is the leading woman, and the comedy is in the capable hands of La Pine, Aills and Dell. Sunday's matinee starts at 3.

Roy Bullard Discharged in Police Court Friday
Roy Bullard, 1108 Jackson street, arrested Wednesday at Fifteenth and Chicago streets, charged with illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was released in police court Friday. Officers testified that they found Bullard drinking from a bottle and Bullard testified that he had no liquor in his possession at the time of his arrest.

OMAHAN TELLS OF FUNERAL FOR BOCHE OFFICER

Jack Austin Says Rainbow Symbol Appears After Hun Colonel Is Buried.

Jack Austin, son of Mrs. John W. Austin, 4238 Larimore avenue, who is office assistant to Maj. J. W. Patton and Captain Potts of the Nebraska base hospital No. 49, "Somewhere in France," in a recent letter to his mother gave an interesting description of the burial of a German officer. Young Austin is a son of the late John W. Austin, well known in Union Pacific circles, and has a sister, Mary, who is principal of the Columbian school. "One day there was a funeral of a German lieutenant colonel," he wrote. "According to military courtesy, it was necessary to bury a man of so high a rank, with full military honors. It was quite impressive, with the attending cavalcade of American soldiers, officers of rank as attendants and pallbearers, and a band. The firing squad was composed of 24 men. The chaplain in charge started out with an excerpt from President Wilson's speech on the declaration of the war. This funeral was the first and probably the last that I attended without being sorrowful. Just at the end of the service it began to sprinkle; it stopped soon, though, and back of this gathered assembly was a most wonderful rainbow. To me it seemed almost symbolical of what we are going to do over here and what it will mean."

Chevrolet and Ford in Crash; Both Are Damaged

A Ford car driven by Joe Batt, and a Chevrolet car belonging to the Hayward Cameron Motor company, driven by L. T. Morris, collided at Eighteenth street and St. Mr.'s avenue Friday afternoon. The running board, front fender and front wheels of the Chevrolet were demolished and the front end of the Ford was damaged. The occupants of the cars were not injured.

Autos Crash on Bridge But Damage Is Slight

A. F. Woodward of Shenandoah, Ia., driving a new Buick sedan, collided with a taxicab belonging to the Central Taxi company and driven by Ralph Gilson, on the Douglas street bridge Friday afternoon. The cars were not greatly damaged and no one was injured.

"THE GREAT LOVE," a D. W. Griffith production coming for a return engagement by request of many of the patrons of the Rialto will be the opening bill here. The play is a stirring romance of a young American who enlists in the Canadian army and finds love and adventure in England in service. There are to be seen in the play many of the noted noblewomen of England, who have consented to be in the picture in the interests of the war work in which they are interested.

Van Sant School of Business Re-opens Monday, Nov. 4

To make up the four weeks lost through being closed by city orders, this school will be conducted from now until February 18th as a six-day school, and without the usual week's vacation at Christmas. Students entering now will be given the advantage of this extra study time and thus be enabled to complete their course in about one month less time. The time of trained workers means much just now. Therefore we shall adjust the loss as above.

Roll Call on War Record of George W. Norris

And How He Supports ?
The War, Our Soldiers, The President

He Voted Against
Declaration of War. As also did LaFollette, Gronna and Vardaman (democrat) and two senators who have since died. Vardaman was defeated in his home state for reelection. Norris said we are about to place the dollar sign on the American flag.

He Voted Against
The Seizing of Enemy Ships and authorizing their use by our government for transporting troops and supplies.

He Voted Against
$10,000 Maximum Soldiers' Insurance by supporting an amendment reducing the amount to $7,500.

He Voted Against
Revenue Bills and Appropriations to pay soldiers.

He Voted Against
A Bill designed to prevent trading with the enemy.

He Voted With LaFollette
on practically every roll call and stood shoulder to shoulder with him on every measure. The Wisconsin legislature passed a resolution of censure for LaFollette's actions.

He Opposed
Arming Merchant Ships to protect themselves against submarines and pirates.

WAS HE RIGHT?
ANSWER: NO.

Mr. Norris has done much to brand this state as disloyal to the cause. And last, but not least, he voted against a bill that would stop the use of the mails for seditious and treasonable matter.
DO YOU AGREE WITH MR. NORRIS IN THESE THINGS?
DOES HE DESERVE YOUR VOTE? NO.

DO YOU WANT TO SUPPORT THE WAR AND WOODROW WILSON? YES. THEN VOTE FOR
John H. Morehead for U.S. Senator
